BOMB U. S. WARSHIP FROM AIR

8,000,000 MEN READY FOR WAR, IL DUCE WARNS

Tells Italy 'Strength' Is Watchword.

[Copyright: 1936: By the Associated Press.]

AVELLINO, Italy, Aug. 30.—Italy's Benito Mussolini warned a rearming world tonight he could mobilize eight million soldiers "in the course of a few hours and after a simple order."

Speaking from this heart of mimic war to his fighting men and his people, the dictator "rejected" what he called "the absurdity of eternal peace," declared his army was sharpened by its African victory, and proclaimed:

"We must be strong! We must be always stronger! We must be so strong that we can face any eventualities and look directly in the eye whatever may befall!"

Predicts Arms Race.

Il Duce stressed that Italy desired to live in peace and pledged "our lasting, concrete contribution to the project of collaboration among peoples."

But he told the thousands who cheered him to the echo in Avellino's municipal square that the world is in the throes of an "irresistible" rearmament race.

He did not mention the six weeks' civil war in Spain between a Socialist government and a revolting Fascist army.

But he did, just after declaring Italy must reject the idea of "eternal" peace—"foreign to our creed and to our temperament"—speak of "certain political situations which now are in the course of uncertain developments."

"Strength" Is Watchword.

Consequently, he told the hushed throng, Italy's watchword must be "strength."

The armed forces of Italy [estimated by foreign experts recently at 1,250,000 men] are more efficient than ever "not despite the African war, but as a consequence of the African war," Il Duce declared.

Hence, he said, the 60,000 and more men who just had ended annual military maneuvers "of the first year of Fascist empire" made up but "a modest and almost insignificant" part of Italy's actual war strength.

In the maneuvers, the dictator said, the troops were supported by 200 tanks, "400 mighty cannon," 400 mortars, 3,000 machine guns, and 2,800 armored cars.

This equipment, too, he added, was but a small portion of that which Italy could command.

Hails Rebirth of Empire.

As for Italy's momentous past twelve months, embracing the conquest of Africa's last independent kingdom and the rebirth of Italian empire, Il Duce said:

"The conquest of empire was not obtained by compromises on the table of diplomacy.

"It was obtained by fine, glorious, and victorious battle, fought with the spirit which has bent enormous material difficulties and an almost universal coalition of nations.

"It is the spirit of the Black Shirt revolution, the spirit of this Italy, the spirit of this populous Italy, warlike and vigilant on sea, on land, and in the heavens.

"It is the spirit which I have seen shining in the eyes of the soldiers who have maneuvered in these past days, the spirit we shall see shine when king and country shall call them.

"Year Rich in Events."

"Since the maneuvers last year twelve months have passed; twelve months only—but how many events, how much history, has passed in these twelve months.

"They have been rich in events, the influence of which is felt today, but which will be felt still more in the course of time."

Ending his speech, Mussolini asked the throng:

"I ask you: were old accounts settled?"

"Si! Si!" the crowd roared back.

"Have we marched straight ahead up to now?"

"Si! Si!"

"I tell you, I promise you, we shall do likewise tomorrow and always!" Il Duce shouted.

Thousands were packed into the municipal square as Mussolini, in his usual uniform of a Fascist corporal, spoke from the city hall.

Near him stood his young son-in-law and foreign minister, Count Galeazzo Ciano, and Marshal Pietro Badoglio, conqueror of Addis Ababa.

ARE YOU PAYING LIFE INSURANCE PREMIUMS?

Probably more than 25 million Americans are. You expect the beneficiaries under your policies to be paid in dollars which will buy about as much as dollars do now. Will they? In the past this was a dependable expectation. Every dollar was exchangeable into a fixed quantity of gold, and gold is a stable commodity. But thanks to Mr. Roosevelt, dollars now are not exchangeable into gold or into anything else that is tangible.

Three years ago the government took over for its own purposes the gold which had been held to insure the constant value of American money. Now there isn't anything to insure the value of money beyond the government's own name. And a name, even a government's, isn't much good when the owner of it is a spendthrift.

Under Mr. Roosevelt the treasury has been managed with a recklessness equaled only in hyper-inflation in Germany, Russia, Austria, and France, where money became worthless or all but worthless.

Under Mr. Roosevelt the government is spending twice as much as it is taking in. By the end of his term next January Mr. Roosevelt will have spent 15 billion dollars more than he collected as revenue. The balance was borrowed, almost entirely from banks. This is how men can be paid generously to lean on shovels. This is how $20,000 per family could be given away to families in South Dakota; $10,000 per family to families in West Virginia; this is how a hundred million could be squandered here and 200 millions there.

Spending is so pleasant when the money is borrowed that Mr. Roosevelt last July asked people to send him ideas about spending money, as he and the brain trust couldn't think of enough ways themselves.

If the credit of the United States government can stand up under that kind of punishment life insurance policyholders have nothing to worry about the purchasing power their beneficiaries will receive. But it is common sense to believe that no nation's credit, and in particular this nation's, can stand such abuse without collapsing. And if this nation's credit goes the way of the German mark life insurance benefits will go to zero as German life insurance benefits did.

Mr. Roosevelt stands on his record. Mr. Landon stands for the reduction of government expenditures to make the credit and the money of the United States unquestioned. Life insurance policyholders are numerous enough to determine for themselves whether they want beneficiaries to receive undiminished by inflation the benefits for which they have been paying premiums through the years.

Brain Truster Bolsters Faith in His Truffles

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Reminding skeptics that Rome wasn't built in a day, agriculture department officials scoffed today at the thought that imported French truffles might be a lost cause.

"Truffle raising," said Dr. E. A. Lambert, "is a long range proposition—taking from five to eight years, perhaps. It's nothing to become alarmed about because some one hasn't found one after two years."

The apprehensive note came from Knoxville—scene of one of the department's truffle experiments—where plant pathologists reported that trees used in the project had died.

Trees, Yes; but Not Truffles.

"The trees were brought from France along with some earth," explained the capital expert, "because truffles generally flourish beneath a certain type of English oak growing in France. The trees may be dead, but that doesn't mean the truffles are."

It also was pointed out that the Knoxville authorities have not tried the only three proven truffle hunting methods:

1. By dogs.
2. By pigs.
3. By flies.

The French, who have raised truffles for generations, long ago gave up any other system of finding the potato shaped fungi which flourish from two to eight inches beneath the soil surface.

Bright Future for a Good One.

"Of course," said Dr. W. W. Diehl, of the bureau of plant industry, "there may be other ways to locate truffles. A man wrote in from California saying he could smell them out."

Dr. Diehl said that if the Californian could prove his talents to the satisfaction of the French, he could probably hire out at considerable profit.

"There may be people," he asserted, "who have this strong sense of smell, but let's come to them after we get the truffles up."

VANDALS SMASH 4 BIG WINDOWS IN ART INSTITUTE

Four large windows in the south wall of the Art Institute of Chicago, at Michigan avenue and Adams street, were smashed early today by vandals who used stones left in Grant park after completion of a paving project. Police blamed vagrants, angered because they have been driven from their usual haunts in the park.

BOY CONFESSES SLAYING WOMAN WITH A HAMMER

Killed to Get Cash to See Shows.

Roland Munroe, 15 years old, confessed yesterday that he beat to death a woman of 65 who had befriended him. Then slept peacefully many hours in a detective bureau cell, apparently untroubled by conscience.

Munroe, a newspaper delivery boy, who says he sometimes sings in a church choir, and who is a first year student at Senn High school, lives at 4521 North Racine avenue. He admitted slaying Mrs. Agnes Roffeis, an invalid, in her home at 1265 Winona avenue, Saturday evening.

The youth, an avid reader of detective fiction, said he thought he had committed "the perfect crime" when he killed the woman by beating her with a hammer and with her own cane and then twisted a wire around her neck.

Murder—for "Show Money."

His motive was robbery. He took a few pieces of old jewelry that might have netted him $10 or $15 which, he said, he didn't need for anything except "shows and things."

Mrs. Roffeis had been a widow for two years. An injury to her hip made the use of a cane necessary and she was unable to leave her home. In her loneliness she liked to talk with tradesmen and others who called at her home on business. Young Munroe delivered an afternoon paper to her each weekday.

At about 5 p. m. Munroe called on Mrs. Roffeis to make his weekly collection. Because she didn't have any change she told him to come back again and he did so about 7 p. m. She invited the youth into her home and discussed with him the proposed sale of some jewelry—a watch, two rings, a pin and seven or eight Catholic medals.

Weapons Found Near Body.

The crime was discovered by Mrs. Anna Bailey, 75 years old, a roomer in Mrs. Roffeis' home, which is an old type two flat building of frame construction. Mrs. Bailey, who occupied one of the rooms on the lower floor, where Mrs. Roffeis also had her living quarters, had been out shopping Saturday evening.

On her return home she found the body on the floor. The hammer, with a broken handle, and the blood smeared cane were near by.

Mrs. Bailey told police that when she left home the Munroe boy was there talking with Mrs. Roffeis. A grocery delivery man, Charles Reifenburg, 3930 North Francisco avenue, told police the newsboy was there when he took groceries there about 7:30 p. m.

Two other young men soon came forward and police, after hearing their stories, realized that the two had witnessed the actual slaying. The men, Roy Hallihan, 5512 Glenwood avenue, and Carl James Rodi, 1144 Winona avenue, told of passing the Roffeis home shortly after 7:30 p. m.

Hear Victim's Screams.

Through one of the few windows not screened by trees, they saw a youth resembling Munroe, who appeared to be swinging a cane at something on the floor. They heard a woman scream.

Hallihan and Rodi explained to the police that they thought they were witnessing a family fight and therefore decided not to interfere or make any report of what they had seen. When news of the murder spread, however, they told their stories.

The descriptions they gave were so nearly like that of Munroe that Capt. Martin McCormick of the Summerdale station ordered a search for him at once. Munroe's address was traced during the early morning hours. He was awakened from an apparently sound slumber and taken to the police station.

Father's Doubts of Son.

The youth's father, Roland Munroe Sr., a dealer in old coins, described his son as "peculiar." His first wife, the mother of Roland, died insane the father stated. He has since remarried and the stepmother recently became suspicious of Ro-

CHAPTER II.

June Jellico, with half closed eyes, was regarding the nurse who leaned solicitously over the hospital bed. The Hon. Jason Jellico, the celebrated oratorical trumpet of the New Deal, the eloquent pleader for the division of property and for the leveling of all things that stood too high, now was become only the distracted father of a beautiful daughter whose life was in danger. He bent a worried and attentive ear.

"It is appendicitis," said the nurse, gravely.

"Yes, of course," said Jellico. He wrung his hands in a kind of desperation. "And, of course, that means an operation, doesn't it? Has anything been done about a surgeon? Who is the best surgeon in the city? I want that man, whoever he is."

Before the nurse could reply, Frank Furter, the learned youth who, second to his flair for intellectuality, was concerned for the lovely June, stirred from a geometrical abstraction in which he was engaged upon the back of an envelope. Indeed, Mr. Furter's odd moments were always likely to be occupied with some alluring excogitation. In his college days he had even speculated upon the possibility of reducing basketball games to absolute equality by sawing the legs off the tall players. He was tireless and profound in his pursuit of equality.

"I don't understand what is meant by the best surgeon," he interposed, with a smile at June. "If we are to have equal opportunities in life, and by that I mean the New Deal, shouldn't we consider all men as being of even ability? All doctors have stethoscopes hanging around their necks and it seems to me they all smell of iodoform."

The Hon. Jellico stared blankly at the classic youth who aspired to be his son-in-law. "Young man," said he, "do you intend by that suggestion to insinuate that one surgeon may not be more capable than another?"

"Well," said Mr. Furter, "I suppose some surgeons have greater reputations than others. But I am only making the gentle suggestion that here is an opportunity for the Hon. Jason Jellico to show his courage and his zeal for his doctrin by striking down these overlords of industry and professional life. Don't you think, Mr. Jellico, that you would be rendering a great public service by putting June in the care of just any surgeon? You would be practicing what you . . ."

It is conceivable that the Hon. Jellico might have exploded at this precise moment had it not been that the pleasantly diplomatic nurse interrupted by saying: "Dr. John Work is regarded as one of the leading surgeons. He is highly regarded in appendectomy. Naturally, I can't recommend a particular surgeon, but I do know of Dr. Work's reputation."

"So do I," the Hon. Jellico broke in. "I have heard a great deal of him. An old practitioner, isn't he?"

"Rather a young man, on the contrary," said the nurse.

Mr. Furter started slightly when he noticed that June Jellico seemed interested in this last scrap of information. He turned earnestly to the Hon. Jellico. As he did so June slyly beckoned to the nurse. "A young man, did you say?" she whispered.

"And good looking," said the nurse, with a smile. "But, first of all, a surgeon." She almost instantly retreated to a sweet gravity. "There ought not to be any further delay, though. A surgeon should be called at once."

The Hon. Jellico caught the last phrase as he turned in some annoyance from Mr. Furter. "You are right," he said. "Can you call Dr. Work?"

"He is in the hospital. He may be on this floor," said the nurse. She hurried into the corridor.

"I suppose," said Jellico, with a sigh, "that our young friend Furter thinks that if a man were to lose his only daughter there are enough daughters in other families so that a redistribution would leave him even again."

A tap on the door was followed by the entrance of the nurse. She was followed by a man of thirty. Clear blue eyes, graying temples, a good jaw, and a sure manner.

"This is Dr. Work," said the nurse.

"And I'll bet he does work," Jellico muttered to himself. Furter strolled to the window and stared vacantly out.

Dr. Work laid a cool hand on June Jellico's hot forehead. With the other he sensed her pulse. Some soothing hypnosis seemed to envelop the girl. She relaxed as does a child when fear flees and safety stands at hand. The surgeon swiftly appraised the brief history chart. Two interns entered. Dr. Work whispered a direction which was followed by the swift, practiced, and silent movements of his assistants. The Hon. Jellico's eyes darted a shower of questions. Dr. Work was quick to respond.

"It's an emergency. She must go to the operating room instantly," he said. "There is a possibility that the delay has been too great."

The rolling cot with the form of his daughter upon it glided smoothly out and the door was silently closed. The Hon. Jellico thrust his clenched fist against his trembling lips.

Ruth B. Owen Quits Post as U. S. Minister

Rapid City, S. D., Aug. 30.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt today announced the resignation of Mrs. Ruth Bryan Owen Rohde, as United States minister to Denmark. Recently married to a Danish officer, Mrs. Rohde gave as her reason for resigning her desire to campaign actively as a private citizen for the President's reëlection.

The President made no comment upon the resignation. A simple announcement said: "The following exchange of telegrams is self-explanatory."

Content of Telegrams.

The first telegram read:

"The President:

"Desiring to take an active part in the campaign for your reëlection and believing that I can be of more service if I campaign as a private citizen and not as a holder of public office, I beg to hand you my resignation as United States minister to Denmark.

"'RUTH BRYAN OWEN.'"

The President's reply, telegraphed to Port Washington, N. Y., was:

"Hon. Ruth Bryan Owen:

"While I am very loath to have you discontinue the very fine services you have been rendering as United States minister to Denmark, I appreciate your reasons for wanting to resign and the motives that prompt you. I therefore reluctantly accept your resignation.

"FRANKLIN D. ROOSEVELT.'

Twice in Congress.

Mrs. Rohde, daughter of William Jennings Bryan, "the Great Commoner," has had a long career of public service. Before entering the diplomatic service she served in the Seventy-first and Seventy-second congresses, 1929 to 1933, from Florida.

Her marriage on July 11 to Capt. Boerge Rohde of the Danish king's royal life guards was one of the social events of the year in diplomatic circles.

Mrs. Owen, who is 50 years old, has been married twice before. She divorced her first husband, William Homer Leavitt. She entered politics after the death of her second husband, Maj. Reginald Owen of the British Royal Engineers.

WOMAN KILLED AS PLANE CRASHES AMID PICNICKERS

New York, Aug. 30.—(AP)—A private plane crashed in flames in the midst of a group of picnickers today at Ferris Point, Long Island sound, killing one woman and injuring three other persons. The plane was destroyed by fire, but two occupants escaped injury.

Sylvia Salmi, 29, was killed and Olivi Holm, 29; Helen Salmi, 36, and Henry Salmi, 36, were injured.

In the plane were Herbert S. Ross, a commercial pilot, and Robert Bequist of 239 Ocean avenue, The Bronx, student flyer. The plane appeared to develop motor trouble as it swung over the beach and flames spread back toward the occupants of the ship as it swooped into eight picnickers on the beach.

Roscoe Turner Injured; Plane Is Demolished

Gallup, N. M., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Col. Roscoe Turner, speed pilot, was injured and his racing plane virtually demolished when he cracked up on the Zuni reservation, 65 miles south of here, about 9 o'clock this morning.

Turner, found resting at a Gallup hotel, said he was returning to Los Angeles by train later tonight.

The racing pilot said his throttle broke, cutting out the engine and forcing him down in rough country.

Speaking from his hotel room, he said he did not know just how badly he is injured, but that he believes he has "some busted ribs."

Asked how badly his plane was damaged, he said, "Bad enough that I'll just take the motor out and leave the rest of it there."

Indians Lend Him a Horse.

Turner said Zuni Indians, who saw him crash, came to his aid and gave him a horse, which he rode about 18 miles to Zuni, where he secured an automobile.

Turner had left Union Air terminal, Los Angles, at 5:32 a. m. [8:32 a. m. Chicago time] on the first leg of a flight that was to take him to Floyd Bennet field, New York, starting point of the annual Bendix trophy speed race, in which he was favored entrant as the defender of his east west record of 11 hours 30 minutes.

Derby Flyers Land Safely.

Hot Springs, Ark., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Landing safely here shortly before dark, thirty-three contestants in the Ruth Chatterton air Derby attended a banquet and dance tonight at which lap winners were to be announced.

The first plane flew in from Memphis at 4:55 p. m. Miss Chatterton, tour sponsor, landed 35 minutes later. All planes were reported in good condition.

Cleveland, O., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Amelia Earhart Putnam landed her "flying laboratory" plane at Cleveland airport today at 7:30 p. m. She was en route to New York from Los Angeles on a transcontinental flight.

IRUN, Spain, Aug. 31 (Monday).—Rebel bombardment of Irun began today when a Fascist plane circled the city and dropped several large bombs into the streets. The beginning of the attack, which the Fascists had threatened would "reduce Irun to ashes," was signalled by the shrieking of sirens and tolling of church bells. As the heavily laden tri-motored plane appeared over the city, throngs of refugees were still fleeing toward France and safety.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30.—The state department announced tonight that an unidentified airplane flew over the United States destroyer Kane in Spanish waters in the vicinity of Cadiz today and dropped a total of six bombs, all of which exploded near the warship but did no damage. The destroyer replied with anti-aircraft gun, firing nine rounds in the direction of the airplane.

Upon being apprised of the incident by the commanding officer of the destroyer, Secretary of State Cordell Hull immediately communicated with President Roosevelt, under whose instructions protests were sent to both the leftist government authorities in Madrid and to Gen. Francisco Franco, commander of the rebel armies.

President Reveals Incident.

Mr. Roosevelt made first announcement of the bombing incident while at Rapid City, S. D., late today. He remained in telephonic contact with Secretary Hull and ordered the sending of formal representations. Secretary Hull began at once tonight to phrase the text of the protests.

The destroyer Kane, according to the state department announcement, left Gibraltar at 8:12 a. m. today en route to Bilbao on the northern Spanish coast, to assist in the evacuation of American nationals.

The commanding officer, Lieutenant Commander J. D. Alvis, reported that while proceeding about 38 miles off the Spanish coast at 4:10 p. m. an unidentified, tri-motored, low winged monoplane flew over the Kane and dropped two bombs.

Flag in Plain View.

"The Kane, which was flying the American flag at her foremasthead and in addition had an American ensign horizontal on top of the wall deck awning, increased her speed to maneuver away from the plane" the official announcement said.

"At 4:25 the plane again flew over the Kane and dropped a third bomb. At 4:26 the Kane's anti-aircraft gun fired two rounds in the direction of the plane. At 4:32 the plane again flew over the Kane and dropped three more bombs, making a total of six, none of which struck the Kane nor caused any damage to her. The Kane's anti-aircraft gun fired nine rounds in the direction of the plane during its approach and retreat."

Believes Identity Mistaken.

The state department announcement reiterated the "complete impartiality" of its attitude in the Spanish conflict and assumed that since both the government and opposing forces had made every effort to prevent injury to American nationals and American property, the attack on the Kane was due to her identity having been mistaken by a plane of one faction for a vessel of the other.

"Because of this friendly attitude and the absence of any motive whatsoever to attack an American vessel, it is not conceivable that either a Spanish government plane or an insurgent plane would knowingly make attack upon an American naval vessel" the announcement said.

Must Avoid Repetition.

"The secretary of state, at the direction of the President immediately brought this incident to the attention of the Spanish government, through the American embassy at Madrid, and to Gen. Franco, informally through the American consul at Sevilla, with the request that both sides issue instructions in the strongest terms, as the American government feels confident they will desire to do, to prevent another incident of this character, it being well known in every quarter that the sole purpose of the presence of American naval vessels about the Spanish coast is to afford facilities for the removal of American nationals from Spain."

President's Announcement.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rapid City, S. D., Aug. 30.—President Roosevelt announced aboard his special train today that he had ordered "representations" to be made to the Spanish government and the revolutionary army concerning the bombing today of the United States destroyer Kane off the Spanish coast.

Marvin H. McIntyre, secretary to the President made the following announcement;

"The President has received dispatches relating to the dropping of bombs in the vicinity of the U. S. S. Kane about thirty-eight miles off the Spanish coast by an unidentified plane. He has talked with the secretary of state and representations will be made immediately to the Spanish government and the Spanish rebels. Any further information will be given out by the secretary of state. The President is in constant contact with Washington."

Recently Sent to Duty.

New York, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The United States destroyer Kane, was sent speeding to Spanish waters from Brooklyn navy yard only Aug. 17 under surprise orders from the navy department.

It was one of two destroyers, the other the Hatfield, which left here that day to relieve the battleship Oklahoma in rendering aid to Americans in the war zone, enabling the battleship to join the American fleet on the Pacific coast.

The Kane carries a complement of 122 men and officers and was commanded by Lieutentant Commander J. D. Alvis of New Orleans.

The Kane, with a displacement of 1,190 tons, was launched Dec. 8, 1919. It is capable of 35 knots and carries four five inch guns and one three inch gun.

Five American vessels are now in Spanish waters evacuating American citizens from that war torn country. They are the destroyers Kane and Hatfield, the battleship Oklahoma, the cruiser Quincy and the coast guard cutter Cayuga.

Shells Whiz at Gibraltar.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

GIBRALTAR, Aug. 30. — Neutral shipping in the Straits of Gibraltar was endangered this afternoon as the heavy Spanish rebel guns near Cueta, Spanish Morocco, opened fire on the Spanish government warship Libertad while the ship was pouring broadsides onto Carnero Point, near Algeciras, on the Spanish side of the straits. Rebels recently had mounted heavy guns at Carnero Point.

Shells from the heavy Moroccan guns landed in the sea off the Rock of Gibraltar and it was said that British officials ordered an investigation as to whether any landed within British waters. The Libertad fled, accompanied by another loyalist ship, the Almirante Valdez, but later returned and patroled the straits again.

During the bombardment the Libertad passed close to a merchantman which was proceeding westward toward Gibraltar. As the merchantman neared Gibraltar harbor, the Carnero battery, whose gunners apparently had been taking a siesta while the cannonade was proceeding, opened fire, one shell passing near the merchant craft.

U. S. GIVES YANKS A 'LAST CHANCE' TO QUIT SPAIN

MADRID, Aug. 30. — (AP) — A new warning that citizens of the United States have one more chance to leave Spain, or remain only at their own risk, was issued tonight by the American embassy. It was expected a considerable number of the 150 United States nationals still in the capital would depart on an American warship expected at Alicante this week. Clerical employés of the commercial attaché's office are going to the port.

"The embassy and the consulate have brought to the attention of all American citizens in Madrid on several occasions, both in writing and orally, the advisability of leaving for safety. The government of the United States at considerable expense has made available American naval and commercial vessels to evacuate nationals," the embassy's note said.

"It is desired again to make it very clear that all Americans who remain in Spain do so at their own risk and upon their own responsibility. The government cannot continue to have naval vessels available indefinitly. It is therefore possible this may be the last opportunity to leave on an American boat."

FOREIGN ENVOYS BID MADRID TO 'HUMANIZE' WAR

HENDAYE, France, Aug. 31 [Monday].—(AP)—A conference of foreign envoys accredited to Madrid sent a note to the Spanish government early today calling on it to "humanize" the civil war.

No note was sent to the Fascist rebels, as the diplomats considered a message to them would be tantamount to recognition, but a communique expressed hope that "both parties" would make the conflict more humane.

The note protested against the shooting of hostages and other noncombatants and asked that art treasures be guarded for the benefit of civilization. It requested that "nondefended cities" not be bombarded.

The message to Madrid was signed by representatives of France, Great Britain, Italy, Argentina, Czechoslovakia, the Netherlands, Norway, Sweden, Finland, and Belgium. The United States and Japanese representatives here abstained from signing it. The German ambassador, it was announced, was in Madrid.

Moscow Bans Export of War Materials to Spain

MOSCOW, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The commissariat of foreign trade issued tonight an order prohibiting the shipment of munitions to Spain.

MADRID FORCES LOSE BATTLE AT STRATEGIC TOWN

Rebel Legionnaires Push Nearer Capital.

BULLETIN.

LONDON, Aug. 31 (Monday).—(AP)—Reliable advices reaching London today disclosed the Spanish rebel army drove closer to Madrid over the week-end. The insurgents in Toledo province, south of Madrid, advanced to Talavera de la Reina from Oropes. Talavera is about 75 miles from the capital.

[Copyright: 1936: By the Associated Press.]

MADRID, Aug. 30.—With an aerial fleet on constant patrol against new rebel bomb raids on Madrid, official government sources tonight admitted an "important reverse" in a decisive battle at Oropesa, 100 miles southwest of the capital.

The defeat, which official circles described as the most important since the Fascist insurgents took Merida in their march from Badajoz toward Toledo and Madrid, was said by Julio Alvarez del Vayo, Socialist leader, to have driven the government forces back to Talavera on the road to Toledo. Recapture of the lost ground was expected at any time, Alvarez del Vayo insisted.

Prepare Public Executions.

In Madrid itself, hit by air bombs 48 hours before, anarchist and syndicalist leaders spoke out to halt "monstrous" acts by zealots witthin their own ranks.

The extreme leftist workers' groups, loyal to the Socialist government, stated they were ready to "execute publicly" any rebels condemned by the special tribunals set up to try them, but warned they would "also regard as rebels" the perpetrators of individual atrocities.

All day long government planes dipped and wheeled over the city to prevent a repetition of Friday night's air raids in which rebel bombs, blasting the capital itself for the first time, left many wounded and tore gaping holes in historic soil.

Rebels Lose Planes.

The government contended the damage was slight, and asserted that in each of two attempts to bombard the capital the enemy lost one of its planes.

Powerful searchlights were mounted on the ministry of war building, near the scene of one of Friday night's explosions. Nervous families slept in subway stations. Anti-aircraft guns and machine guns were mounted at airdromes and on the roofs of several of the highest buildings.

There was no further news today from Lozoya, about 42 miles north of Madrid, where government forces Saturday were reported to have driven back rebels after several hours of fighting. Lozoya controls Madrid's water supply.

Government artillery bombarded Teruel, important eastern city, with "efficiency," officials said. Another artillery duel continued in the Guadarrama mountains north of the capital. Loyalists claimed an advance of ten miles from Siguenza toward the town of Barbatona.

Red Envoy Confers with Prieto.

The new soviet ambassador, Marcel Rosenberg, conferred twice, apparently on Russo-Spanish relations, with Indalecio Prieto, Spain's Socialist strong man. Prieto, in a newspaper article, again complained about the "erroneous and unjust formula for neutrality" adopted by France.

Prieto contends France has broken her word by refusing to furnish arms to Madrid and that the Fascist rebels are being heavily armed by Germany, Italy, and Portugal.

As for diplomatic attempts to "humanize" the civil fighting, government officials generally declined to comment.

Toledo's Alcazar Crumbles Under Shelling by Big Guns

[At the scene of action, a member of the Associated Press foreign staff has written this graphic story of the weeks-long siege of the famous Alcazar, which crowns the heights of Toledo.]

BY ALEXANDER H. UHL.

[Copyright: 1936: By the Associated Press.]

TOLEDO, Spain, Aug. 30.—The crumbling northern wall of Toledo's famous Alcazar, once the fortified residence of Moorish and Castilian monarchs, bore stark evidence today of the desperate strength of nearly 2,000 rebels entrenched inside.

Day after day two powerful fieldpieces have been driving more than 600 6 inch shells into the northern face of the building, smashing it slowly to dust. But for 38 days the government troops have been unable to dislodge the rebels.

Huddle in Dark Passages.

Now the inner wall has been pierced. The structure appears doomed. The rebels have taken refuge in underground passages. Only occasionally, during the shelling, do angry spats of bullets give evidence of vicious sniping from the side of the besieged.

The government militia's siege of the Alcazar presents one of the most amazing shooting galleries in the world. The big guns replace the usual .22 caliber rifles. The Alcazar, with its human garrison, substitutes for the clay pipes and floating ducks.

From a window high up in the city of Toledo the correspondent could peer through a window crack and see the shells land with a deadly crunch against the Alcazar's thick inner walls.

From the slope of a hillside leading to the target, barely 200 yards away from it, he could watch the flash of the distant guns and hear the dull roar of the explosion; the whirring whine of the shell as it hurtled toward its goal.

Ten minutes later, on the surrounding plains, the correspondent stood behind those same guns and watched them being pointed, peering at the mutilated Alcazar through the range-finding apparatus of the cannoneers.

From this vantage spot the scene of the bombardment spread out in a bizarre panorama.

Across the rolling farm land the serpentine River Tagus, the shells—like black and angry insects—could be seen arching through the air, then exploding a black cloud of smoke, splitting the stonework of the inner walls, slowly wearing them away, turning the building visited by thousands of tourists every year into a mass of ruins.

Two wings of the building, with their pairs of twin towers, are as yet untouched, but the nearby government forces are beginning to attack them. Even now, shells are beginning to plunge into the central courtyard.

Menace to City Itself.

The government aim must be accurate, for the slightest miscalculation in range or direction would plump the shells into the city of Toledo itself, where the government infantrymen are on guard day and night behind emplacements of sandbags and barbed wire, near every exit of the building.

One artillery officer who dropped nine shells into the government arms factory nearby received a summary court martial which cut short his career.

Back on the hills scores of government militia and spectators watch the course of every shell and cheer with delight when a bull's-eye is scored. In the city itself the citizens have become so certain of the battery's marksmanship that they watch the shelling every afternoon as though at an exposition.

Alongside the Alcazar, the Hotel Imperial is smashed by the aerial bombardment, which the government now has halted, because of the danger to the loyal civilian population.

3,000 CIVILIANS FLEE

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HENDAYE, France, Aug. 30.—Virtually the whole civilian population of Irun, Spain—more than 3,000 women, children, and invalids—were evacuated across the French frontier tonight in expectation of a Spanish rebel bombardment which the loyalists believe will begin at 5 a. m. tomorrow. A total of 2,000 more refugees are expected to arrive before dawn.

Irun has already been bombarded heavily in the last few days, but this time the Popular Front [government] war committee is convinced that Gen. Emilio Mola, rebel leader, will make good his threat to blow the town off the map.

Loyalist spies this afternoon brought in reports that the roads leading to the front are clogged with long trains of artillery bringing up the greatest concentration of big guns yet seen in the Spanish civil war. At the same time twenty rebel planes were reported mobilized for a bombardment.

Planned with French.

It was no spontaneous exodus of a panic stricken population which occurred this evening, but a carefully planned evacuation arranged in advance with French authorities. Police and Red Cross officials here were swamped by the sudden influx of refugees who were streaming across the international bridge carrying mattresses and other personal belongings on their backs.

Hendaye and Behobie are nervous over the prospect of the bombardment of Irun from which they are separated only by the narrow Bidassoa river.

Four French citizens living on this side of the frontier already have been seriously wounded by stray bullets in the fighting of the last few days and a number of shells have fallen in French territory.

During a visit to the Carlist [royalist] capital, Pamplona, today I got the impression that the bitterness of the insurgents against France has attained a really dangerous pitch. In addition to the familiar accusations that France has been supplying the loyalists with munitions and supplies, charges are openly made that French spies working for the loyalists have been signalling rebel gun positions to Irun.

DUTCH 'GUN' GIRL CALLED HEROINE BY BARCELONA

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, Aug. 30.—(AP)—A young Dutch girl, said reports published here today, lies in Castillo del Monjuich hospital at Barcelona boasting she mowed down "dozens of rebels" with her machine gun on the Aragon front. The girl, Fernanda Schoonhert, newest heroine of the Catalan government forces, was recuperating after sixteen days of fighting.

"I killed dozens of rebels with my own machine gun and took two prisoners myself in my first battle in Aragon," dispatches to the Frente Popular here quoted her as saying. "I was the captain of a girls' machine gun corps which fought ten hours without a break."

Waving a black cigar, the blue-eyed girl said she left her Rotterdam home "because my family did not approve my communist ideas. I went to Barcelona at the outbreak of the civil war and enlisted in the machine gun corps. A few girls stayed in the rear ranks, but most of us went up to the front line, for we wanted to show the men we were with them. They needed our machine guns, too."

LINER RUNS PAST SPANISH REBEL BLOCKADE IN FOG

SAN SEBASTIAN, Spain, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The wandering Spanish ocean liner, Cristobal Colon, reached a safe and friendly port today—under the very noses of Spanish rebel warships. Dispatches to the newspaper Frente Popular said the vessel, ending six weeks of aimless voyaging off the coast of France and Spain, had arrived at Santander after running a rebel naval blockade in a fog.

The ship entered the harbor amid cheers of thousands of government supporters lining the docks and a welcoming din from sirens and automobile horns. Members of the liner's crew carried their leaders ashore on their shoulders. The Cristobal Colon has been under control of a leftist crew committee.

SURVIVORS HERE TELL TERRORS OF SPANISH REVOLT

Couple Escapes Granada in German Plane.

The story of 28 perilous days spent with 20 other beleaguered Americans in Granada, Spanish rebel stronghold, was told yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Everett Tolman of Mundelein. They returned last Saturday to their 200 acre estate on the Wauconda road three miles west of Mundelein. Mr. Tolman is a retired insurance broker.

Although loyalist airplanes bombed the city daily, none of them struck the Alhambra Palace, the hotel in which the Tolmans were staying, but the Washington Irving hotel next door to the Alhambra, was shattered with the loss of several lives.

Arriving in Granada from Madrid by train on the eve of the revolt, they heard bombing and firing throughout the night. The hotel help fled with the exception of the director, a head waiter, and a bellboy.

Beleaguered Guests Ill.

"But for five days the only nourishment we required was tea because we were suffering from Granada dysentery and even the fighting seemed relatively unimportant," said Mrs. Tolman.

"We witnessed no bloodshed, but daily we heard musketry in a nearby cemetery and were told loyalist prisoners were being executed. I felt the bomb which struck the Washington Irving hotel and thought it was our own hotel. I rushed down to the lobby expecting to see injured victims whom I might help.

"American acquaintances in the Irving told us that almost every bit of glass in the hotel was broken, the wife of the proprietor, an expectant mother, was wounded, and a doctor delivered her of twins there in the hotel lobby."

Cartridge Delays Departure.

Mr. Tolman is a big game hunter. In Madrid a rifle cartridge fell from one of his pockets and Mrs. Tolman tossed it into a traveling case which was sent with their other baggage in a hired car to Granada. Their hired chauffeur, a British subject, was detained several hours en route by civil guards because of the cartridge.

Mrs. Tolman gave credit to John Jardain of the Socony Vacuum company of Barcelona for their rescue from Granada. Jardain left Granada in a rebel military plane at his own risk and went to Seville where he told of the plight of the Americans.

The refugees were transported in a German plane from the Granada airport, where Fascist aviators gave them dugout protection from bombs for 12 hours. Reaching Seville by air they traveled by bus to Cadiz where the boarded the liner Conte di Savoia.

Cashier in Court Frauds Offers to Pay Back $1,000

John A. Dicks, 48 years old, 3453 Bosworth avenue, who was ousted as acting cashier in the office of the clerk of the Circuit court after he confessed participating in the series of escrow fund swindles, made an offer last night to repay $1,000, his share of the loot in one of the frauds. The offer was made on condition that he receive leniency. Dicks received $1,000 as his share of $9,451 fraudulently taken from the clerk's office by members of the ring who posed as litigants in the case of Weir Williams, finance company executive who committed suicide a year ago.

Two gunmen, one of whom wore smoked glasses, were the winners in card games yesterday at the Garfield Park Athletic club, 3352 Lake street. They held up eleven players, including Clarence McLaughlin, 3425 Walnut street, president of the club, and escaped with $145 and McLaughlin's watch.

ARMY PAYS WELL, DISCIPLINE GAINS, MADRID ASSERTS

Estimates 500,000 in Loyal Service.

MADRID, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The pay is good in Spain's workers' army. And the discipline is getting better.

Nearly 90 per cent of the estimated 500,000 men and women who make up the forces defending the Socialist government are volunteer militia units. The rest are regular soldiers who remained loyal [most of the regular army is on the side of the rebels], and civil and assault guards.

Some 5,000 women, most of them young girls, are fighting side by side with the men to resist the Fascist insurgents.

Pay Dependants in Scrip.

The militia is one of the highest paid military forces in the world. Each man and woman gets ten pesetas [nominally $1.36] a day. Back home their dependants are receiving scrip to buy food and other necessities. If soldiers are killed or wounded lump sums ranging from 250 to 1,000 pesetas [$33 to $136] will be paid to their families.

At the beginning of the civil war, now in its seventh week, the militia—for the most part organized from Syndicalist, Socialist, and Left Republican groups—was untrained and undisciplined, without knowledge of battle. Armed only with rifles, enthusiastic units frequently disobeyed their officers and charged strong enemy positions.

Submit to Training.

Now, however, government authorities assert, the militia is submitting to training and is working in harmony with the regular military forces. The result has been a sharp drop in government casualties.

Blue denim overalls predominate as a uniform, although some columns prefer light brown garb while provincial peasants' units have gone to the front dressed in work clothes and in their shirtsleeves.

Natty blue doughboy caps, trimmed with red are seen everywhere.

"Alparagatas," or rope-soled and canvas-topped slippers, are the standard footwear.

Gary Boy, 13, Rides Under Crossing Gates; Killed

Robert Martin, 13 years old, 1001 Elsworth place, Gary, was killed yesterday when he rode his bicycle into the path of a west bound passenger train at the Grant street crossing of the Pennsylvania railroad in Gary. Martin rode under the gates which had been lowered for passage of an east bound freight, and was hit by the west bound train.

QUEEN MARY BREAKS ATLANTIC RECORD; WINS BLUE RIBBON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 30.—Racing against a thickening fog, the Cunard-White Star liner Queen Mary tonight snatched the record for crossing the Atlantic from her French rival, the Normandie.

The Queen Mary passed Bishop's Rock, Scilly Isles, at 8:12 p. m. [2:12 p. m. Chicago time]. She had covered 2,939 miles from Ambrose Light, off New York, in 3 days 23 hours 57 minutes. This is 3 hours 31 minutes faster than the Normandie's best west-east crossing. The Queen Mary's average speed was estimated at 30.63 knots, compared with her rival's 30.31. The liner is due at Southampton at 1 p. m. tomorrow.

The Queen Mary's achievement, which secures the blue ribbon of the Atlantic for Great Britain for the first time since the Mauretania lost it to the German liner Bremen in 1929, followed a record crossing to New York a week ago. On that voyage the Queen Mary averaged 30.01 knots against the Normandie's 29.64.

Maj. Bowes Sues Showboat Operator Over "Amateurs"

Evansville, Ind., Aug. 30.—[Special.]—Two suits have been filed in the Henderson county, Ky., Circuit court by Maj. Edward Bowes, of radio fame, against Capt. J. W. Menke, whose showboat, Goldenrod, finished a showing here this week and moved to Henderson, Ky. One suit asks that Capt. Menke be restrained from advertising that "Bowes' Amateurs" are appearing on the showboat. The other asks $10,000 damages for alleged "irreparable damage" suffered by Maj. Bowes through such advertising.

Sues Ship Master and Line Over Mistreatment

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 30.—[Special.]—Charging that she was mistreated by Capt. H. Vogt of the North German Lloyd steamship Elbe on a recent voyage from Bremen, Germany, Vilma Hertha Holenia, 21, Hungarian actress, has filed a damage suit here against the officer and the steamship line. Miss Holenia charges that Capt. Vogt insisted that she drink schnapps with him in his cabin and on one occasion attempted to drag her into his quarters, injuring her arms and legs.

4 KILLED, 6 HURT IN HEAD-ON AUTO CRASH AT CURVE

Two men and two women were killed and six other persons were seriously injured yesterday in a head-on automobile collision on a curve in U. S. route 20 seven miles east of Michigan City, Ind. Two of the persons killed and all of the injured were members of a party bound from Chicago to a summer cottage at Sagunay Lake, Ind.

The dead were O. W. Barrett, 43 years old, 1407 Kensington street, Fort Wayne, Ind., and his wife, Maud, 40 years old, who were driving in one of the cars to Chicago to attend the Cub baseball game; Ray Reiter, 25 years old, 6943 South Claremont avenue, driver of the other car, and Miss Sarabelle Boltz, 23 years old, 3040 Princeton avenue. Barrett was an official of the Wayne Tank company of Fort Wayne.

Taken to La Porte Hospital.

The injured, who were in Reiter's car and who were taken to the Fairview hospital in La Porte, Ind., are Mary O'Brien, 21 years old, 5705 South Halsted street, and her sister, Frances, 23 years old; Alice Kuhn, 22, of 5318 South Spaulding avenue; William Huizenga, 26, of 6405 South Hoyne avenue; John Anderson, 25, of 5948 South Maplewood avenue, and Edward Leenheer, 22, of 6946 South Paulina street.

Indiana state police said there was evidence of liquor in the wrecked Chicago car. Barrett, his wife, and Reiter were killed instantly. Miss Boltz died later in the hospital.

Dies in Auto-Truck Crash.

Mrs. Rebecca Wagner, 50 years old, 5244½ Drexel avenue, was killed, and three other persons were injured in a head-on collision last night between an automobile and a truck on U. S. route 45, two miles northwest of Libertyville, in Lake county.

Mrs. Wagner was riding in a car driven by Morris Hechtman, 46 years old, 5656 Bernard street, a hat manufacturer. According to witnesses Hechtman's car struck the truck when he turned out to pass another car. The truck's gasoline tank exploded, setting fire to both the truck and the automobile. Clarence Bowen, 25 years old, of Milwaukee, the truck driver, aided in rescuing the automobile passengers from the flames.

The injured, who were taken to the Condell Memorial hospital in Libertyville, are Hechtman and his wife Bessie, 45 years old, who are in a serious condition, and Mrs. Wagner's husband, Orville, 52 years old, a glove salesman.

Charged with Manslaughter.

Although in a critical condition at the Highland Park hospital, Thomas Kearney, 32 years old, 917 South St. Johns avenue, Highland Park, assistant golf professional at the Northmoor club, was formally charged with manslaughter yesterday.

In a collision between two automobiles, one of them driven by Kearney, at Prairie avenue and Waukegan road west of Highwood in Lake county Saturday night Edward Peterson, 38 years old, 5142 Huron street, was killed and eight persons were injured. Witnesses said Kearney sped past a stop sign at 70 miles an hour, crashing into Peterson's car.

Christ Hoenecke, 59 years old, 1525 North La Salle street, died last night in the Evangelical Deaconess hospital of injuries incurred Saturday when he was struck by a hit and run automobile in North Park avenue at North avenue.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 635 persons had been killed in automobile accidents in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 485 were killed in Chicago. In the same period 11,971 were injured in trafic accidents within the city.

RUSSIA SMASHES PASSIVE REVOLT AMONG TROOPS

MOSCOW, Aug. 30.—[Havas.]—A passive revolt among Red army troops who refused to obey their officers at Riazan today added to the unrest resulting from the government's ever-widening "purge" of anti-Stalin elements and persons formerly connected with Leon Trotzky, exiled commissar of war.

The disobedience movement was quickly "reduced" by army authorities, it was reported. Reports continued to reach Moscow, however, of open anti-government agitation by peasants in the Ukraine, where troops were said to have received "extremely severe" orders to stamp out the protests.

Riazan, about 200 miles from the capital, is a peat center where troops were rushed recently to fight fires in the peat fields. An unestimated number of victims was taken by the fires, which also caused considerable damage to property.

The government tonight continued its arrests of functionaries and civil workers in Moscow and the provinces as a result of the "Trotzky trial" at which sixteen persons were executed after being convicted of plotting to set up a "régime of terror" and to assassinate Dictator Stalin and his chief aides at Trotzky's instigation.

PALESTINE ARABS TO ACT ON BID TO HALT STRIKE

JERUSALEM, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The Arab higher committee decided today to call a nation-wide conference of local strike committees to consider possible termination of the long-drawn-out Arab general strike, which has been accompanied by widespread disorders.

The committee determined to ask the Palestine government to permit holding the conference in Jerusalem. Proposals submitted by Nuri Pasha Said, Iraq foreign minister, who has acted as a negotiator, would be discussed.

The government's defense forces were increased with the addition of a battalion of Scottish soldiers who reached Haifa from Malta. A British soldier was seriously wounded last night during an Arab attack on a military railway patrol near Lydda. Joseph Afner, a Jewish bus driver, was shot to death as he drove past Sarona, a German colony near Tel Aviv. At Ness Ziona, a Jewish colony, 12,000 trees were uprooted.

$50,000 LOSS IN GRAIN FIRE.

Glenwood, Minn., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Fire destroyed the Glenwood Farmers' elevator, with 25,000 bushels of grain, today. The loss was estimated at $50,000. Firemen, battling the flames for five hours, saved nearby buildings.

NORWAY DEFIES RUSSIAN DEMAND TO OUST TROTZKY

Principle of Asylum Will Stand, Official Says.

OSLO, Norway, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Norwegian officials gave strong indications tonight the government would disregard soviet Russia's demand for the expulsion of Leon Trotzky and permit the former communist leader to remain in Norway.

"It is beyond my comprehension how anybody could argue in the way Russia does," said Premier Johann Nygaardsvold. "We have treated the Trotzky problem according to our viewpoint of Norway's interest. There is nothing more to say about it."

"The principle of asylum will be maintained by the present government of Norway," Foreign Minister Halvdan Koht said a short time later. "We will not let ourselves be subdued in such matters by any one."

Trotzky Under Close Guard.

Trotzky, under close guard by the government, was secluded in his villa at Hoenefoss.

Responsible sources expressed the opinion the U. S. S. R. had sent its demand for his expulsion before the soviet government had learned Trotzky had been interned.

In these quarters the belief was voiced that Russia now would be content with the measures taken to curtail the admitted revolutionary activities of Trotzky, accused by the soviet régime of being the leader of a conspiracy for which sixteen men were executed in Moscow last Monday.

It was understood the Norwegian government knew, when Trotzky was admitted to the country, that he had not been given a return visa by France. Because of this situation, the question had been raised where he would go if forced to leave Norway.

Trotzky Secludes Self.

Meanwhile Trotzky, reported enraged by the government's action in transforming him from an honored guest into the country's most closely guarded prisoner, secluded himself in his villa, Wexhall, at Hoenefoss.

Reinforced guards kept a host of curious holiday makers at a distance. The sightseers would have been disappointed, anyway, since Trotzky had not been seen outside the house since Saturday, the day after the ministry of justice ordered him interned, with his wife.

Denmark Detains Aids.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Two secretaries to Leon Trotzky, who were expelled by the Norwegian government, were detained here tonight pending a decision on whether they will be allowed to remain in the country. The secretaries, Erwin Wolf and Jan van Heinhort, were taken to headquarters after police at first had announced they would be treated as ordinary tourists.

Reports "Suicide Epidemic."

PARIS, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The newspaper Le Matin declared today a "suicide epidemic" has broken out among soviet leaders in the wake of the execution of sixteen men accused of conspiring to overthrow the government of Dictator Josef Stalin.

The newspaper said the suicides were being fostered in many cases by the government itself. It said a large number of persons were being held at their residences and that arms were left in their possession, apparently so that they would kill themselves.

"Lominadze, former member of the presidium of the comintern and first cousin of Josef Stalin, Vassilieff, honorary general in the Red army and holder of the three highest soviet decorations, and the widow of Joffe, negotiator of the Riga treaty, have committed suicide," the newspaper said.

"Gen. Putna [Kasimirovitch Putna, soviet military attaché at London, who recently returned to Moscow and was arrested], and Grigori Sokolnikoff, member of the foreign affairs commissariat, attempted to end their lives."

Husband Kills Wife During Quarrel; Seized by Police

Mrs. Elsie Sykes, 48 years old, 2515 Adams street, was slain last evening by her husband, Edward, 50 years old, during a quarrel in their two room basement flat. Neighbors heard the couple quarreling and called the Warren avenue police, who seized Sykes. He said he struck his wife with his fists, and her head struck a stove. Police said Sykes was discharged recently from a WPA job.

Berry Sending Out False Statements, Charge.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30.—[Special.]—The Chamber of Commerce of the United States today charged that Maj. George L. Berry, President Roosevelt's coördinator for industrial coöperation, is using his official frank to send out distorted figures and warnings of dire consequences to business men unless wage earners receive a larger share of the national income.

Maj. Berry, otherwise known as "Three Job George," is president of the so-called "Labor's Nonpartisan league," the nonpartisanship of which is indicated by its avowed purpose to solidify the labor vote behind President Roosevelt. Besides this job and the industrial coördinatorship, Maj. Berry is president of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' union.

Aids Deny Dual Duties.

Federal employés under Maj. Berry say they do no political work, and political employés under him say they do no federal work, but Maj. Berry certainly does both.

The chamber of commerce calls attention to the widespread practice, followed by unofficial organizations with special axes to grind, of distorting department of commerce figures so that the figure for the earnings of wage earners in selected industries is, without any notice to the readers, placed against the receipts of "property owners" from all sources, and not merely from those selected industries.

"All of the distortion of official figures cannot be laid at the door of unofficial agencies," says the chamber of commerce statement. "There is distortion of the same sort in material going to business men's organizations through the mails under official frank from the coördinator for industrial coöperation.

Only Wages Are Considered.

"This material is accompanied by much portentous language about the consequences to the public welfare to come from manufacturing industries failing to contribute 'to the support of the consuming market in proportion to the increase in their production.'

"The only measure of this contribution recognized in the tabulations is the amount of wage payments, other disbursements apparently being assumed to have no influence whatever upon the consuming market.

"Although the fluctuations in the purchasing power of the dollar have become fairly well known, the dollar is dealt with in these tabulations as a fixed and unvarying quantity, and the year obviously selected as most nearly representing ideal economic conditions is 1919.

"As a consequence, the statement presents figures which apparently show an average productivity per wage earner in all these fields rising from $2,873 in 1919 to $3,718 in 1929, with only a 'trifling increase' in average annual wages from $1,450 to $1,568.

"Even a glance at the census data for blast furnaces and steel mills will disclose that between 1909 and 1919 the average productivity per wage earner increased 8 per cent, whereas the average earnings for wage earners increased 23 per cent, if the changes in the purchasing power of the dollar are taken into account.

"In the ten years following 1919 the average productivity per worker rose from $2,175 to $3,873. Meanwhile average earnings of wage earners rose from $1,709 to $1,744, the latter amount having 48 per cent more purchasing power than the amount received in 1919."

RED CANDIDATE SEES ROOSEVELT TAKING HIS VOTES

Admits Communists Have No Chance.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Earl Browder, communist party candidate for President, told interviewers here yesterday that his party showing in November will not be as strong as it would be if there were a different type of contest between the two old parties. He said that some of the votes that under other circumstances would go to the communist ticket will go to President Roosevelt.

During the course of the interview in the Morrison hotel Browder admitted he does not expect to carry a single state or see the communists elect a single congressman. He characterized the communist election activities as mere preparation for future elections. Asked for a date when he and his associates expect to accomplish something definite, he smiled meaningly and mentioned 1940. None of his listeners thought he meant it seriously.

Expects to Lead Lemke.

Browder said he expected the communist national ticket to be on the ballots in "thirty-eight or forty" states. But he predicted that the Union party ticket headed by Congressman William Lemke would do only about half as well as the communists. He said Lemke's name will be on the ballot in only twenty states.

Browder read extracts from an article written by him which was recently published in the official journal of the communist Third Internationale in Moscow. He read from his original text in English which was sent to Moscow and there translated into Russian. He criticised interpretations placed on his statements after they were translated back into English.

Assails The Tribune.

Browder also assailed THE TRIBUNE for the recent publication of extracts from the official journal which he said were not contained in his English manuscript. But, under questioning, he admitted that he had no personal knowledge of the other articles in the journal which were printed in Russian.

Browder spoke at a communist picnic in Riverview park late in the afternoon, was the guest at a dinner in a downtown restaurant, and delivered a radio broadcast almost entirely the same as others he has delivered recently. He will speak in Topeka today.

Reviews Landon's Tour.

John Hamilton, Republican national chairman, spent yesterday reviewing the effect of Gov. Landon's swing into the east. He said that headquarters was pleased with the reactions as shown by thousands of letters, telegrams and telephone calls.

"Everywhere," said Chairman Hamilton, "Gov. Landon's sincerity and frank and candid manner carried a most impressive appeal to the men and women who saw and heard him. It was the same reaction which came in the wake of the governor's speech of acceptance in Topeka in July. There was no endeavor on the part of the governor to pose as a superman or to offer a panacea for our existing ills.

"He approached these problems earnestly, sincerely and with the clear mind and logic of a man talking with his neighbors or with members of his family. It was this genuine candor that won public confidence and gave weight to his words."

HORNER PRAISES CCC IN DEDICATION SPEECH AT GRANT CITY PARK

Carbondale, Ill., Aug. 30.—[Special.]—With nearly 20,000 persons present, Gov. Henry Horner today made the principal address at the dedication of Giant City State Park lodge, a beautiful native wood and stone structure built by members of a CCC camp here. Speaking from the north balcony of the lodge, Gov. Horner paid tribute to the work of the CCC.

"I feel that the project to recruit young men who otherwise would be out of work, give them useful and instructive employment, house them decently and comfortably, and direct their labors to constructions dedicated to public use and advantage, deserves our gratitude and applause," the governor said.

After pointing out the recreational values of the park and lodge, the governor concluded his address with the hope that "this park be a sanctified spot where our people will meet happiness and recreation and instructive interest. To that end it was created and to that purpose I dedicate it."

Other speakers included Congressman Kent E. Keller of the Twenty-fifth Illinois district, who acted as chairman, and representatives of the national park service and the CCC.

Roosevelt Certain to Win, Says Farley, 'Explaining' How

New York, Aug. 30.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt's reëlection is "an assured fact," and "if the present trend continues he should win by a landslide surpassing that of 1932," James A. Farley, Democratic national committeeman, asserted today in a statement issued from party headquarters.

The statement purported to summarize reports of national committeemen and committee women from 41 states with whom Farley has been conferring during the last few weeks.

In it Farley claimed every state west of the Mississippi for Roosevelt, predicted that Illinois, Michigan, Ohio, and Indiana "are going to turn in Democratic majorities on Nov. 3," asserted that New York and Pennsylvania would go Democratic, and said the farm belt leaders have given "renewed assurances of united support."

New England a "Battle Ground."

Only New England and Delaware were given a chance of going for Gov. Alf M. Landon, the Republican nominee.

As for New England, the Democratic chairman conceded that it might be "considered a battle ground," while in the case of Delaware he ventured the opinion that it might "go for President Roosevelt if the Republican majorities in Wilmington can be whittled down."

Farley, the administration "job master," insisted that Gov. Landon's campaign "has left the great mass of voters unimpressed," while "President Roosevelt's firm, understanding grasp of world and domestic problems is giving the effect of an onrushing sweep that nothing can prevent."

Still Plans Campaign.

Finally, Farley said he felt that, although the result was assured, "our state organizations will function in exceptionally efficient fashion during the rest of the campaign."

The Democratic chairman claimed the south for Roosevelt, declaring: "We have read the story of the primaries in South Carolina and Mississippi last week and they indicate far reaching and productive enthusiasm in November." Reports from North Carolina, he continued, "indicate clearly" that there will be a larger turnout on election day than there was in 1932.

The border states likewise are for Roosevelt, Farley said, declaring he "did not think this statement calls for any proof from me."

Expects Bigger Victory.

"California and all of the Pacific coast are becoming rock-ribbed Democratic territory," he said, "and I wouldn't be surprised to see a 10 per cent larger majority than in the last national election."

As for the mountain states, he said, "every indication" points to an increase in the majority of approximately 300,000 votes which Roosevelt received there four years ago.

A similar sweep from the farm belt is envisioned by the Democratic chairman. "Through state leaders who have visited us," he said, "we have had renewed assurances of united support. Kansas leaders who came in Thursday assured us we would carry Gov. Landon's home state." This, Farley said, was "not surprising" to him; he "had felt it all along."

"The decisive and forthright manner in which the administration has tackled the pressing problem of the drouth," he continued, "is added proof that the farmer's problems are getting at last the sympathetic consideration they long have deserved at the hands of the national government."

More than 1,100 members of the Cleaners, Dyers and Pressers' union at a meeting in Plasterers' hall yesterday voted to strike in two weeks unless the employers comply with the union demands. The cleaners and pressers ask for a 40 hour week instead of the present 44 hour week. B. A. Albert, president of the union, was appointed head of a committee to meet with the plant owners tomorrow.

ROOSEVELT SEES NEW MEMORIAL TO JEFFERSON

Watches Unveiling of Face on Mountain.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rapid City, S. D., Aug. 30.—[Special.]—A gigantic American flag attached to a long boom swung slowly away from near the summit of Mount Rushmore this afternoon and disclosed to a watching throng the majestic features of Thomas Jefferson, third President of the United States, carved in imperishable granite.

The thirty-first President, Franklin D. Roosevelt, was one of the onlookers. Many in the crowd watched him curiously, reflecting that the chief executive they saw has been accused by thousands of members of his party styling themselves "Jeffersonian Democrats," with deserting the principles of the third President, who is claimed as a party hero.

Silent on Jefferson.

The President made no reference to Jefferson in an informal talk following the dedication. He paid tribute to the magnitude and beauty of the memorial and said he hoped it would be a symbol of the "continuance of a Democratic-Republican form of government, not only in our own country but, we hope, throughout the world."

The unveiling of the face of Jefferson made the great work being conducted under the supervision of Gutzon Borglum two-thirds complete. The serene countenance of George Washington for six years has surveyed the purple hills and shadowy valleys of the region. Taking shape in the granite mountain side are the sad features of the third great President, Abraham Lincoln, to be immortalized in stone. Scarcely had the flag swung away when five blasts of dynamite startled the spectators. A mass of rock detached itself slowly from the mountainside and thundered into the valley below. This bit of theater, planned by Borglum, had made secret service men fearful and a large area at the base of the mountain was roped off.

Views Ceremony from Car.

Lincoln Borglum, son of the architect, admitted that the spectacular blasting was dangerous but said that elaborate precautions had been taken to avoid the possibility of harm coming to any person.

President Roosevelt viewed the unveiling ceremony from his automobile at the Borglum studio at the base of the mountain. In order that his view might be unobstructed, Borglum had ordered the topping of Black Hills pines at the monument base. Simultaneously with the blasting the flags of two nations, France and Spain, were lowered from a staf at the summit of the mountain and the flag of the United States during Jefferson's administration was raised. It bore fifteen stars and fifteen stripes, symbolic of the states in the Union during Jefferson's period in office.

The French flag of the Bourbon dynasty, the sculptor said, symbolized the discovery of the Louisiana territory by a French explorer in 1738. The Spanish flag of the Hapsburgs symbolized Spain's one time ownership of the territory which Jefferson bought from Napoleon in 1803, six months after the French emperor had acquired it from Spain.

Flags Dropped from Plane.

Another feature of the ceremony was the dropping, from an airplane, of eighty small parachutes, each bearing a miniature American flag and a tiny piece of granite chipped from the blocks ripped off in the sculpturing of Jefferson.

Mr. Roosevelt attended Emanuel Episcopal church here this morning with his two sons, John and Franklin Jr., and his daughter-in-law, Mrs. James Roosevelt. The Rev. E. Jerome Pipes made no reference to the President, but preached the parable of the master who gave to one servant one talent and to another five talents, later upbraiding the servant who made no use of his talent.

The President entrained late today for Salt Lake City, where on Tuesday he will attend funeral rites of Secretary of War George H. Dern.

MEDICAL JOURNAL RAPS 'UNDERHANDED' WAYS OF NEW DEAL

New York, Aug. 30.—[Special.]—The effect of New Deal policies on American medical practice is criticized in an article appearing today in the American Interne, a nonpartisan medical journal, the Republican national committee announced from its headquarters here.

"Until the advent of the New Deal, politics and medicine had little in common," the article is quoted. "Now, however, with the injection of broad social questions into the medical field, medical men have cause to wonder what the future holds for them professionally.

"The open advocacy of so-called 'socialized' medicine virtually has delivered the future of the medical profession into the hands of politicians."

The article contrasts the "underhanded" attempts of the New Deal with Gov. Alf Landon's declaration that the medical profession will not submit to regimentation or be made the servile instrument of politicians or the instrument of domineering burocracy."

Sylvia Pankhurst Injured as Fascists Stone Parade

LONDON, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Sylvia Pankhurst, author and feminist leader, was slightly injured today during a stone barrage by black shirted British Fascists. Social Insurance Decreed for All Workers in Peru

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

LIMA, Peru, Aug. 30.—President Oscar R. Benavides today decreed a compulsory social insurance law which had been drawn up by a special committee named by congress. The terms of the measure cover many risks arising from illness, maternity, incapacity to work, old age and death. It is obligatory for members of both sexes under 60 years of age whose earnings do not exceed $750 annually.

Chicago's great system of parks and such buildings as the Field museum were among the sights offered yesterday to sixteen school boys from Eton, England's great public school, who are making a tour of the United States. They arrived Saturday with the Rev. R. D. Hudson, headmaster of the school, and are staying at the Knickerbocker hotel. They will leave tomorrow for Detroit.

ROOSEVELT ADDS A NEW PARLEY TO DROUTH PROGRAM

Invites Wisconsin and Minnesota Officials.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Rapid City, S. D., Aug. 30.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt announced today that he had invited the governors of Minnesota and Wisconsin and the four senators representing those two states to meet him in Des Moines, Ia., Sept. 3 and confer with him on drouth problems.

Because of the trip to Salt Lake City to attend funeral services for Secretary of War George H. Dern, scheduled visits to Minneapolis and La Crosse, Wis., have been eliminated from the President's program. By summoning representatives of the two states to Des Moines the President hopes to obtain sufficient data to replace information he might have gathered on a personal trip, he said.

Those invited are Gov. Philip La Follette and Acting Governor Hjalmar Peterson, Senators Robert M. La Follette, F. Ryan Duffy, Henrik Shipstead, and Elmer Benson.

Des Moines Plans Gala Day.

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Des Moines prepared today to entertain the largest crowd in its history here Thursday when President Roosevelt is scheduled to confer at the statehouse with Gov. Alf M. Landon of Kansas and four other drouth state executives.

Although both the President and the Republican nominee have made it clear they will make no "public appearances" in connection with the conference, officials in charge of arrangements estimated 200,000 people will line the streets seeking a glimpse of the President and his political opponent.

Crowds to Line Route.

Opportunities for viewing Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Landon, however, will be limited. Mr. Roosevelt's special train is scheduled to arrive here at noon from Salt Lake City, Utah, where the President will attend the funeral of Secretary of War George H. Dern on Tuesday. His route from the train to the statehouse has been announced and the crowd will gather along the way.

Gov. Landon probably will arrive earlier by automobile, but he is expected to take the same route to the state house.

After the conference the President, Gov. Landon, Gov. Guy B. Park of Missouri, Gov. Roy L. Cochran of Nebraska, Gov. E. W. Marland of Oklahoma and Gov. Clyde Herring of Iowa will go to the President's special train for dinner.

PROPOSE TARIF FOR ALL FOREIGN FARM PRODUCTS

Expert Outlines Plan to Aid U. S. Agriculture.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Despite the passage of a long list of federal and state laws and the spending of billions of dollars to aid the farmer, America still has acute agricultural problems left unsolved.

Diagnosticians are at work continually trying to locate the trouble, with the hope that some solution can be found that will help those who feed the nation. H. M. Conway, a Chicago authority on agricultural economics, predicts that the next national program for agriculture will be focused upon an attempt to correct the farmers' problems resulting from three basic difficulties.

Handicap of High Costs.

First, farmers are working under the handicap of increasing costs of distributing agricultural products which began back in 1920. Second, increasing competition of foreign imports has recently added to the farmers' burdens. Third, increases in the cost of manufactured products that farmers must buy has added to their production costs, according to Mr. Conway.

The expert declared that the increase in the costs of distributing food products that come from the farm is shown in government figures indicating that the tendency in recent years has been for farmers to receive less and less of the consumers' food dollars. For instance, the farmer has been getting only from 33 to 42 cents of the dollar paid by consumers for food during the five year period from 1931 to 1935 inclusive. From 1913 to 1930 inclusive the farmer received from 44 to 60 cents of the consumer's food dollar.

Paid in "Smaller Dollars."

Mr. Conway says that in more recent years the farmer not only has received a small proportion of the consumer dollar but has been paid in "smaller dollars." It takes more dollars to buy the things farmers need today than it did from 1913 up to within the last few years.

Not only has there been a lack of protection against the importation of foreign agricultural products but competition from abroad has been encouraged in recent years through the lowering of tarif duties, the signing of reciprocal trade agreements and liberal international trade policies.

"Agriculture's troubles cannot be corrected by continuing to encourage the importation of foreign farm products," said Mr. Conway. "Our farmers can produce economically a surplus of such products as wheat, corn, cotton, pork, tobacco and rice for sale abroad. Such duty free products as coffee, tea, bananas, rubber, silk, furs, and many forest products can be produced more economically in other countries."

Proposes a Blanket Tarif.

Mr. Conway proposes that this country consider the advisability of placing a tarif on all foreign agricultural products imported into this country. Under the proposed plan the tarif money collected could be used to create a profitable foreign outlet for our surplus agricultural products. This, Mr. Conway believes, would be justified on the basis that every country should make the best use of its natural resources. The level of protection to be maintained in each country would be left to the various nations, he explained.

It is this authority's opinion that a duty on all foreign farm products, including those now coming in free, would increase the buying power of farmers in this country and make them bigger buyers of products manufactured in the United States.

FORMULA TO COMBAT COMMUNISM IS TOLD BY FATHER COUGHLIN

Milwaukee, Wis., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Father Charles E. Coughlin asserted today that communism can be combated only by removing what he termed the tumors growing upon the body of "modern capitalism."

Addressing a state-wide rally of the National Union for Social Justice at the Wisconsin state fair grounds here, he called for abolition of "the private coinage and regulation of money" and urged that the increased production of modern machinery be reflected in an equivalent increase in the wages of labor.

"Modern capitalism has other frailties," he said. "But they are negligible. Only two things are necessary to cure modern capitalism and bring to a decisive death this growth of modern communism."

He asserted he was "unalterably opposed to inflation in every name, shape, and form," denounced the New Deal for criticizing Supreme court opinions and, he said, for passing "must legislation" based upon patronage.

Father Coughlin added that he was opposed to "the government entering into the business of private citizens." The government, he said, "exists to safeguard the rights of private citizens, not to invade the rights of private citizens."

Uses Parachute to Tell World He's for Landon

Believing that every man, regardless of his occupation, should do something to save American principles in government, E. Verne Stewart of Elgin put his belief into practice. Mr. Stewart is the instructor in parachute jumping at Curtiss-Reynolds airport and has made 308 jumps. With his wife Florence, who is a pilot, he sewed three foot black silk letters on the inside of a parachute. Yesterday afternoon he leaped from a plane over the airport and more than a thousand spectators saw the letters on the unfolding parachute spell out "Landon, Knox, Brooks."

WOMEN LEADERS OF VOLUNTEERS PLAN ACTIVITIES

Illinois G. O. P. League to Enlist Members.

Women leaders of THE VOLUNTEERS, organized to bring about the election of Gov. Alf M. Landon, will be busy this week carrying forward their patriotic activities at meetings in Chicago and downstate.

Recruiting of VOLUNTEERS will have an important part tomorrow evening at the meeting of the Illinois League of Republican Women in the English room of the Morrison hotel. Two VOLUNTEERS, Ambrose J. Wyrick, tenor, and Betty Washington, dancer and fifth great-niece of George Washington, will entertain members of the league.

The speaker is to be Mrs. Benjamin Franklin of Kansas. Mrs. Walter Scudder Hart, one of the leaders in THE VOLUNTEER movement, will preside.

Organize in Grundy County.

At the invitation of Mrs. Belle Root, Republican chairwoman of Grundy county, Mrs. John K. Russell, another VOLUNTEER leader, will go to Coal City tomorrow evening to organize a VOLUNTEER club there.

A meeting of women VOLUNTEERS of the 37th ward is scheduled for Wednesday afternoon at 458 North Parkside avenue. Mrs. A. H. Johnson, VOLUNTEER chairman in the ward and assistant director for other west side wards, will discuss activities of the organization.

A program of songs and community singing will be led by Miss Jeane Peace, Cook county winner in THE TRIBUNE Chicagoland Music Festival in 1935. Mrs. Anna Schramm, who heads the regular women's organization in the ward, has given enthusiastic endorsement to THE VOLUNTEERS.

Mrs. Baur to Speak.

Mrs. Bertha Baur, Republican national committeewoman, will speak at another VOLUNTEER rally at 2 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at 2147 Lincoln avenue. Mrs. Martha H. Auw, who has enrolled several hundred VOLUNTEERS in her community, will preside.

On Thursday afternoon members of the State Republican Women's Club of Illinois will hear about THE VOLUNTEERS at a 12 o'clock breakfast at the Hamilton club. Mrs. David H. Jackson will preside.

Hundreds Enlist at Picnics.

Hundreds of new VOLUNTEERS were enrolled yesterday at a number of picnics sponsored by Republican ward organizations. Among them was the Ninth ward and Thornton township picnic in the Glenwood forest preserve at 183d street and Indiana avenue. In charge of THE VOLUNTEERS booth were Mrs. Elizabeth A. Newport, 750 East 103 place, and Mrs. Mae Van Laningham, 15541 Lexington avenue, Harvey, committeewoman of Thornton township.

Another picnic where VOLUNTEERS were enlisted was the rally of the Woman's National Republican Club of Chicago at the home of Mr and Mrs. William H. Stuart, one-half mile north of the Illinois state line on Lake Michigan. Mrs. Martin Strand of Chicago Heights was in charge of THE VOLUNTEERS booth

32d Ward Has Outing.

The 32d Ward Regular Republican organization held a picnic at the Avenue Inn grove in Niles. Miss Helen Narut directed THE VOLUNTEER recruiting. Mr. and Mrs. Henry Acker, 9234 Colfax avenue, were in charge of THE VOLUNTEERS booth at the picnic of the 10th ward organization at Lundgren's grove, Ridge road and Stony Island avenue.

JEFFERSONIAN GROUP WILL START MAINE CAMPAIGN THURSDAY

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 30.—[Special.]—The National Jeffersonian Democrats will open their speaking campaign in Maine this week. At the request of a committee of the organization, speakers will be sent into that state for meetings, the first of which will be Thursday at Portland. The Maine state election is Sept. 14.

Among speakers will be James A. Reed, former senator from Missouri; former Gov. Joseph B. Ely of Massachusetts, Dr. Gus W. Dyer, professor of economics and sociology at Vanderbilt university, and Daniel J. Gallagher of Boston, assistant attorney general in President Wilson's administration.

The invitation to Maine was signed by Frank H. Haskell of Portland, William R. Pattangall and Thomas C. Ingraham of Augusta, James B. Perkins of Booth Bay Harbor, and James J. Curran of Lewiston.

RETIRED ENGINEER DIES.

Thomas M. Webb, 78 years old, a retired stationary engineer, died yesterday of a heart ailment at the home of a sister, Mrs. William Raffen, 931 Wesley street.

REPORT SMITH PLANNING FIGHT ON NEW DEALERS

Topeka, Kas., Aug. 30.—[Special.]—Word has been received here that former Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, who is known to be opposed to the reëlection of President Roosevelt, will enter the campaign in October, perhaps not in direct support of Gov. Alf M. Landon, but in opposition to the continuation of the New Deal.

The report here is that Mr. Smith will make at least three speeches, one in Massachusetts, one in Ohio, and one in a place not yet definitly determined, but presumably in New York.

Mr. Smith, it was said, will not speak under Republican auspices nor is it believed that he will speak under auspices of the American Liberty league.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

WE CAN DO IT

By CALEB

A FEW of our very old customers remember Marshall Field. Some of our present employes worked with him. These people all know the Field tradition.

We want you to know it and to be served in consistent accord with it.

One element of it is this: No task in merchandising is too difficult for us to undertake. No assignment in merchandise is too complex for us to execute. No request in our broad field is too out-of-the-way for us to handle at reasonable cost for the service rendered.

This tradition is one we would have live. Newer employes, becoming gradually acquainted with all this store stands for, may sometimes fall short of understanding our aims. They may sometimes fail to sense your wish immediately. They may sometimes fail to start the procedure necessary to satisfying it.

It is not because we don't want them to. It is because they have not yet learned how staunchly we seek to adhere to this aim.

A gentleman was leaving our store some time ago. He looked troubled. A floor manager stopped him. "Have you been served satisfactorily?" he asked. "No. Truth is, I am looking for a big stuffed lamb. My little girl wanted me to bring her a live lamb, but I know I couldn't get that. So I looked for a stuffed one. They're too small. I hate to fail that little girl." And the visitor shook his head gravely.

"Do you want a live lamb?" our floor man asked.

The customer's face lightened. "Do I? I certainly do. That's what she asked for. Can you sell me a live lamb?"

"When must you have it?"

"I leave for Oklahoma in four hours."

"Very good, sir. You come here thirty minutes before train time and you'll have your lamb."

Then the floor man got busy. While the live lamb was being secured, a crate was being made in our packing room, and a suitable ribbon and bow were prepared elsewhere.

On the dot, a lively, be-ribboned, clean little lamb was ready in an easy-to-carry crate, and a happy father was off to satisfy the demands of his little girl.

There are many Field stories like this to be told. We are here to provide you what you want. Please help us do it by letting us know if we disappoint you.

BOY CONFESSES SLAYING WOMAN, 65, WITH HAMMER

Killed to Get Money for Shows, He Says.

land's actions, so it was decided to have him examined by a psychiatrist.

Last Friday she took him to the Institute for Juvenile Research, 905 South Lincoln street, where he was given mental tests, the result of which has not yet been reported. She said his progress in school was not what it should have been and that he had not been getting along well with his father. She wanted a character analysis as well as mental tests, she said, and an idea as to what vocation he should follow.

The Munroe boy, when first questioned by Assistant State's Attorney Richard Devine, said he was a regular attendant at the Sunday school of the People's church of Chicago, 941 Lawrence avenue, and sang alto in the junior choir there. He said he had completed his freshman year at the Senn High school last June and expected to go back for the next semester.

Expect Criminal Court Trial.

The problem of prosecution and punishment will be taken up after the inquest is held today. Prosecutor Devine declared that under a recent Supreme court decision there is no doubt of the jurisdiction of the Criminal court to try him for murder and impose the death penalty. In cases involving other juvenile slayers, there had been contention that only the Juvenile court had jurisdiction, and the sentences of the Juvenile court are only to correctional institutions.

Pending the results of psychiatric examinations of Roland, the plan is to go before the grand jury and obtain an indictment. If necessary to try him as to his sanity, that will be done, according to the assistant state's attorney. His expectation is, however, that the sanity question will be disposed of before the trial, and it is possible a jury will inflict the death penalty.

Avid Detective Story Reader.

When first questioned he admitted having been in Mrs. Roffeis' home and talking with her, saying she had made some orangeade for him. While being questioned, prior to his confession, he revealed his interest in detective stories and detective methods and to many of the questions he would respond "what do you want to know that for?" or "is that what you found out?"

Finally after being tripped up on his own statements regarding finger prints, Roland said:

"Well, I'll tell you, she died partly by accident, and I killed her because I didn't want her to suffer."

Then came the murder confession.

Finds Hammer in Basement.

The youth calmly told the police how he went to the basement at Mrs. Roffeis' request and found a small hammer which he used to straighten a key for her. Mrs. Roffeis then brought out the jewelry she had talked about. While walking with it she stumbled and fell, the prisoner stated.

"Just while she lay there the thought entered my mind that if I knocked her out I could get all the jewelry and have the money for myself," came the boy's startling statement.

"I grabbed the hammer and hit her twice on the head. The third time I missed and the hammer hit the floor and the handle broke. Then I took her cane and hit her five or six times with the crooked part. I used both hands in swinging it.

Puts Wire Around Neck.

"She didn't move, but I didn't think she was dead, so I got the wire and intended to tie her hands so she couldn't use the telephone. I put some of the wire around her neck."

He took the jewelry and medals to the home of Clarence Miller, 836 Wilson avenue, a dealer in old gold, intending to sell his loot, but, he said, Miller was in bed, so he left the articles with Mrs. Miller, intending to return later and sell them. The articles were recovered by police.

Mrs. Mary Roffeis, widow of John P. Roffeis, once mayor of Watertown, Wis., arrived in Chicago late yesterday afternoon. Her husband was a brother of Mrs. Agnes Roffeis' late husband. Accompanied by relatives and friends she visited the Summerdale police station, and after conferring with authorities stated she would remain for the inquest today.

Mrs. Roffeis' husband, Frank, a steamfitter, died two years ago. He left her the home, which is heavily mortgaged, and little else. They had no children.

Mrs. Roffeis had two sisters who are nuns of the Order of Notre Dame. One, Sister Clarissa, is stationed at St. Alphonsus convent in Chicago, and the other, Sister Conradine, is in Kenosha, Wis. Another sister lives in Milwaukee.

The prisoner will be taken to the inquest this afternoon at Piser's undertaking parlors, 5206 Broadway, Capt. McCormick said.

DECATUR, ILL., BANK TELLER CONFESSES TO $12,700 DEFALCATION

Decatur, Ill., Aug. 30.—[Special.]—Harold L. Craig, 28 years old, teller and bookkeeper at the National Bank of Decatur, confessed to bank officials last night that he had embezzled $12,700 of the bank's funds during the last five years to gamble.

H. R. Gregory, president of the bank, told authorities that Craig made a voluntary confession when he feared he no longer could conceal the defalcations on the bank's books. He was arrested by Sheriff Emery Thornell and held in the Macon county jail under $15,000 bond.

Craif, former Decatur and Argenta basketball star, had been employed by the bank for ten years as bookkeeper. He also served as relief teller at the savings account window and had access to bank funds while serving in this capacity.

The loss was fully covered by insurance, bank officials stated. Craig is married and father of a 3 month old infant.

2 FIRES CAUSE $100,000 DAMAGE ON SOUTH SIDE

Two fires within a few blocks of each other which caused damage estimated at $100,000 yesterday morning were being investigated by the authorities last night. The first fire, which was discovered at 4 a. m. destroyed a one story garage at 1619 South State street and damaged 35 large interurban buses within the place, causing a loss of $75,000.

The second fire, which was discovered three hours later, attacked a two story building at 1426 South Michigan avenue, housing the American Tire and Rubber company. Dense clouds of smoke from the burning rubber hampered firemen in efforts to extinguish it and enveloped St. Luke's hospital across the street.

The damage was estimated at $25,000. Two firemen were injured by flying glass. They are William Mallon, 27 years old, 3542 South Western avenue, of truck company No. 54, and Joseph T. Andersen, 36 years old, 2029 North Le Clair avenue, of engine company No. 13.

Firemen fighting the earlier garage fire were hindered by numerous explosions of the bus gasoline tanks. Nearly one-third of the south side fire apparatus was summoned before the blaze was brought under control.

Boy Is Killed as Auto Is Backed Into Garage

New York, Aug. 30.—[Special.]—A 17 months old baby was killed today as an automobile backed into one of four private garages owned by the child's father at the rear of their home in the Bronx. The child, Richard Marinelli, was playing in front of the garages and was crushed by the rear wheel of the automobile. The driver of the car, Salvatore Borielli was ordered by detectives to report to Assistant District Attorney Nicholas Delagi of the Bronx, for questioning.

U. S.-Moscow Flyers Land at Town in Siberian River

MOSCOW, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Sigismund Levanensky and Victor Levchenko, the soviet Russian California-Moscow flyers, landed tonight at Bulun near the mouth of the Lena river in north-central Siberia. They had remained weather-bound in Ambarchix bay near the Lena river for some time. The airmen left San Pedro, Cal., Aug. 5.

FT. WAYNE 'SEES DOUBLE' AS HOST TO 1,500 TWINS

Fort Wayne, Ind., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Prosaic singletons literally saw double today, gazing wide eyed at a varied assortment of "look alikes" assembled in an amusement park for the fifth annual convention of the National Twins association.

Notes of mutual interest were exchanged by approximately 1,500 twins as they mingled confusedly with doting parents and thousands of somewhat bewildered onlookers.

It was just an informal prelude to the business of comparative statistics.

Edward M. Clink, who five years ago at Warsaw, Ind., started it all by enrolling a dozen sets of twins, grinned expansively as he looked over his flock and predicted even more followers next year.

Oldest Twin Comes Alone.

Mrs. F. M. Cawby of North Judson, Ind., who at 80 shares with her sister the distinction of being the oldest twin enrolled, was disappointed. Her counterpart by birth, Mrs. H. S. Billings of Los Angeles, was unable to attend.

"We looked so much alike when we were school girls our teachers called us 'Which' and 'T'other,'" she recollected wistfully.

Just what a problem marriage to a twin presents was revealed by Mrs. William F. Whitmore of Fort Wayne, who is married to one.

"I never was quite sure which was my husband," she said. "It was exasperating, but finally I was able to identify my beau by the appearance of his clothing. Then, too, if one of them laughed I knew it wasn't him."

Franklin Delano and Frances Arlene Shanyfelt are the youngest duplicates at the convention. They are aged 2, and the babies of Fort Wayne's endowment of 300 twins.

The Liimakka brothers, twins themselves and associated with the University of Chicago, are here delving into the family history of delegates.

Honors for having come the longest distance were garnered tentatively by Harold and Arthur Flynn of Colorado Springs.

The award of most attractive twins went to 16 year old Jeanette and Genevieve Dumas of Chicago.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Clark of Zanesville, Ind., brought their four sets of identical twins to the convention.

Three surviving quadruplets were among those at the reunion. They were Med, M. H., and H. G. Murray of Bluffton, O. Med Murray is the father of two sets of twins and has four other children.

Discussing multiple births, Med Murray said, "It used to be hard, but now since they've got incubators there's nothing to it."

MOB SEARCHES CANYON FOR 2 TRIPLE SLAYERS

Lynching Feared; Killers Flee to Wilds.

Yreka, Cal., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Two law enforcement officers and a maritime pilot were shot to death today at Horse Creek, an isolated mining settlement near here, in a battle with two prospectors. The slayers fled before a rapidly growing mob which apparently was bent on lynching them.

Deputy Sherif Martin Lange, Constable Joe Clark and Capt. Fred Seaborn, 50, a civilian pilot at the Mare Island navy yard, were shot as they attempted to arrest John H. Bright, 35, and Coke T. Bright, 30, brothers.

The Brights vanished in the wilds of Horse Creek canyon, 35 miles out of Yreka, as a posse of officers reinforced by angry citizens started after them.

Town Almost Deserted.

Yreka, scene of the lynching a year ago of Clyde Johnson, a robber, was virtually deserted as many of its 2,200 residents deployed over the mountain wilds in the man hunt.

Posse members said the Brights were armed with two rifles and still were in a "killing mood." Boulders and buckbrush along the canyon made ideal hiding places for them, and the posse moved carefully, seeking to cut off their avenue of escape into Oregon.

Charles Baker, friend of Seaborn and the sole survivor of the gun battle, said the trouble started when he and the three victims attempted to take the Brights into custody on an assault charge.

Survivor Describes Battle.

"We came upon the Brights as they slept beside Horse creek," said Baker. "Lange threw back the covers on John Bright, showed his star, and told him he was under arrest.

"John Bright started struggling and Lange hit him on the head with his night stick.

"Coke Bright then leaped from his bed with a rifle and shot Constable Clark through the back as Clark started to aid Lange.

"One of the brothers then hit Lange on the head with a rifle and shot him twice. Then Seaborn, who was not mixing in the battle, was shot down."

Tells Start of Trouble.

Baker said the trouble started last night when he and Seaborn, on a vacation trip, tethered Seaborn's horse in a pasture near where the Brights were camping.

"We went to get the horse and the Brights cursed us," Baker told Sherif Chandler. "One of the brothers struck at Seaborn and I was knocked down.

"We came back to Yreka and swore out a warant for the Brights' arrest. Lange and Clark were assigned to the job and we went with them."

A little more than a year ago Police Chief Frank Daw of Dunsmuir, 70 miles south of here, was shot and killed as he attempted to arrest Johnson and a confederate, Robert Miller, as robbery suspects. Johnson was captured and brought to the Yreka jail, from which he was taken and lynched.

LOCKED BUILDING BALKS INQUIRY ON STOLEN CARS

Lieut. John Kelly of the stolen automobile detail said yesterday police here and at Fort Wayne, Ind., were hampered in their investigation of an interstate ring of automobile thieves by their inability to get into a building in Fort Wayne. It is suspected, he said, that a number of stolen cars are hidden in the building.

On Saturday Lieut. Kelly announced the arrest of four Chicagoans and four men of Fort Wayne who, he said, were responsible for the theft of at least 200 automobiles.

"The Fort Wayne police said we couldn't get into that building because the owner refused consent," Lieut. Kelly declared. "Well, tomorrow we will get into it through a court order if necessary."

Lieut. Kelly said three buildings in Chicago were used by the thieves. These were at 2531, 2533 and 2535 South State street. The Levin Auto Parts company at 2015 South State street was in no way involved, Lieut. Kelly said. Because of similarity of names and addresses the Levin Auto Parts company was subjected to embarrassment, he declared.

HOLD TOLERANCE IS KEY TO A FREE U. S. DEMOCRACY

Bill of Rights Is Praised at Appleton Parley.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Appleton, Wis., Aug. 30.—[Special.]—The first institute of human relations to be held in the central west opened here tonight at Lawrence college under auspices of the Chicago Round Table of the National Conference of Jews and Christians. The conference is patterned after that held annually at Williamstown, Mass., but deferred this year in favor of the conference here.

The conference opened with praise for the bill of rights in the constitution. The Rev. Dr. James M. Yard, former religious director of Northwestern university and present executive of the Chicago Round Table of Jews and Christians, declared that by constant, day by day reiteration, the people of America must be educated to prize the first amendment of the constitution which guarantees freedom of exchange of religion and freedom of speech and press.

Mixed Races Creates Problem.

This is necessary, said he, because of the mixtures of religions and nationalities and races in America life.

"If any people ever had reason to practice tolerance, it is the American people," said Dr. Yard. "We often refer to 'the average American.' What is the average American? What statistical or biological expert can find the average American? We, or our ancestors, not so far back, came from Holland, or England, or Germany, or Spain, or Italy, or Armenia, or Persia, or Hungary, or Africa.

"How do you compute the average between Methodists and Catholics and Presbyterians and Jews and Episcopalians and Disciples and Congregationalists?"

Speaks up for Propaganda.

Dr. Yard declared the purpose of the conference of human relations to be propaganda for tolerance.

Propaganda, Dr. Yard explained, is a good word and should be used in full force for good objectives. It is no more than the conscious attempt, he said, to give currency to an idea by finding the common denominator between the idea and the public interest, and stating it.

Dr. Yard explained that in a democracy, life is a conflict, a competition of symbols for the good will of the public with methods of propaganda readily available to all forces in society that wish to bring about change or to keep things as they are.

Chicagoans Among Leaders.

Leaders of the conference which will continue throughout the week, include Wilfred S. Reynolds, executive director of the Chicago Council of Social Agencies; Philip L. Seeman of the Jewish Peoples' institute, Chicago; the Rev. Father Michael J. Ahearn; Rabbi Louis L. Mann of Sinai Congregation, Chicago; the Rev. Everett R. Clinchy of Washington, head of the National Conference of Jews and Christians; Rabbi A. L. Sachar of Champaign, Ill., and Clifford P. Morehouse, editor of the Living Church, Episcopal journal, Milwaukee, Wis.

LONG'S FOLLOWERS BOW ON BIRTHDAY OF SLAIN DICTATOR

Baton Rouge, La., Aug. 30.—(AP)—On the anniversary of his birth today, Huey P. Long commanded from the grave the respect of Louisianians whom he led before a bullet cut short his life eleven days less than a year ago.

His political followers, who still rule Louisiana, and private citizens remembered that he was born 43 years ago in a log house on an upstate cotton farm and heard Gov. Richard W. Leche's plea to "pay just homage to their benefactor."

Two days were marked for observance of Long's birthday, today and Monday, because the anniversary fell on Sunday.

INTERIOR BUREAU SOON TO OCCUPY PALATIAL OFFICE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Replete with escalators, a radio broadcasting room, an automobile parking basement, and a penthouse office for the secretary of the interior, the new $10,500,000 Interior Department building today neared completion despite labor trouble.

Officials said they were not much concerned about a strike of plasterers, adding they expect them to go back to work in time to permit occupancy around Jan. 1, as scheduled.

The new building has a long eight-story center from which six wings, each six stories high, project on either side.

The penthouse offices of the interior secretary are located on the top floor of the wing nearest the Potomac. French windows open to a terrace on which grass and shrubbery are to be planted.

The escalators—the only ones in government buildings here—will carry employés from the cafeteria and 330 car parking garage in the basement to the second floor. They are intended to relieve any congestion that might hit the 20 high speed elevators.

SLAYER AWAITS CHAIR 2 YEARS; MAY SAVE LIFE

Eddyville, Ky., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Sylvester Warner, 26, remained confident today that he will cheat the death which forgot him during nearly two years of the 30 months he has spent in condemned row in Kentucky's Western State penitentiary here.

"Who is Sylvester Warner?" asked acting Gov. Keen Johnson and other officials in the capitol when asked what they were going to do with the man whose last official word from the commonwealth came the night of Oct. 26, 1934. Told who Warner is, Johnson said he would leave the case for Gov. A. B. Chandler.

Warner sat in his cell, with death for a double murder awaiting him at midnight. Just a few hours before the end Gov. Ruby Laffoon commuted to life imprisonment the sentence of Huston Jeffries, convicted with Warner. The governor said Warner's execution would be stayed until his application for clemency had been studied.

After more than a year Laffoon retired, his study uncompleted. Gov. Chandler has had authority to order Warner to death for nearly a year.

Now that his case has been brought to light, his guards hope he will be given life. W. A. Coffey of Columbia who prosecuted him says Warner is more entitled to mercy than Jeffries.

Chiappe Elected Deputy; Defeats Paris Socialist

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

PARIS, Aug. 30.—Jean Chiappe, former Paris chief of police, whose election as a deputy for Corsica was invalidated last June by a hostile parliament for irregularities, was elected to the chamber today at a special poll in the aristocratic Paris district of Passy. He received 4,618 votes to 755 for his nearest rival, a Socialist. Chiappe was made one of the scapegoats for the Paris riots over the Stavisky scandal in 1934.

CROP INSURANCE.

As usually happens in a period of drouth, there is renewed discussion this year of crop insurance.

Drouth is probably an insurable risk. The weather bureau has compiled figures over a long period showing average rainfalls for various sections of the country. It should therefore be possible within limits to determine the risk for any given locality and set the premium accordingly.

The likelihood of damage from insect and other pests is more difficult to determine, but it might be possible to approximate it.

The trouble with the insurance proposals is that they generally call for insurance by the government. Politics being what it is, that would mean that a farmer in central Illinois, where drouth is rare, would have to pay the same premium charged the farmer in western Nebraska, where plentiful rainfall is exceptional. The result would be that the Illinois farmer would not go into the scheme because his premium would be too high, while the Nebraskans, South Dakotans, etc., would all join and by doing so would bankrupt the fund within a few years.

Otherwise there is much to be said for crop insurance. If the premiums were properly adjusted to rainfall history they would be so high in the western part of the Mississippi and Missouri valleys that grain growing in that region would be advertised as the extremely risky business it is. Farmers who engaged in it would be faced with the choice of paying an extremely high insurance premium or carrying the risk themselves. The existence of an insurance scheme might, therefore, prevent a good deal of unwise land use.

Crop insurance soundly organized might prove a very useful aid to the farmer, but political crop insurance would be worse than useless. It would encourage agricultural development in sections which should be allowed to revert to grazing land as quickly as possible.

THE NEW TERROR IN RUSSIA.

Quotations from the communist party organ, the Moscow Pravda, help to visualize conditions under the bolshevik despotism. Another purge is under way and terrorist methods as drastic, it is reported, as those of the early stage of the bolshevik revolution have returned. The trial of Zinoviev, Kamenev, and less prominent members of the old guard of bolshevism is the most sensational event of the new purge, but it seems apparent that a plot to do away with Stalin and set up a régime expressing the ideas of Trotzky and his allies was menacing enough to compel extreme measures.

Was the conspiracy ascribed to Trotzky and allies in Russia an effort to forestall the adoption of the constitution lately announced by the Stalin government and to be passed upon in September? It seems likely. The constitution would dispose of the worst rigors of the bolshevik system and lay the foundations of a more democratic system. No such movement, however slight, could be acceptable to the more fanatic doctrinaires, to say nothing of what it might seem to offer as an excuse for the seizure of rule by ambitious politicians. The commissariat of agriculture charges widely extended sabotage of crops, dams, and irrigation works, and the official held largely responsible for the failure of the ambitious cotton plan has been executed.

Meanwhile the Pravda, urging on the new terror, calls upon sons to spy upon their fathers and every worker to spy upon his neighbor. "Unceasing vigilance is necessary in order to wipe out opposition to Josef Stalin. The communist party will continue this cruel class war as a dire necessity until all our enemies are either dead or exiled."

As a class war this one seems in need of explanation. Trotzky, Zinoviev, Kamenev, and others suspected of the present conspiracy are all orthodox Marxian communists and as proletarian as Stalin or Lenin. They were all up to their necks in the blood of the mensheviks, who were also orthodox Marxians and advocates of the dictatorship of the proletariat. The early terror, like the present one, was not exclusively a war of classes but a combat for power among the leaders of the proletarian class. Its methods were and are hideous to any humane civilized mind, but they are inevitable products of the communism which has developed in Russia and which has not only its blatant representatives in the lunatic fringe of American politics but also its half baked friends among the self-styled liberals of the New Deal. With the former it is easy to deal at the present stage of American development, but their day is being prepared for them by the latter. What we have seen in bolshevik Russia is the harvest of the seeds of class envy and hate being sown at this time in America. We know they cannot ripen if our democratic society survives, but that is being attacked by powerful forces under pretense of reforms, and the issue must be met now.

REGISTER NOW, IF POSSIBLE.

The voter who will register at the election board offices on the third floor of the city hall may be saving himself or herself a lot of trouble. With about two million voters to be registered there will be a rush at the precinct polling places on the two days provided for registration in the precincts, and the voter who thinks he is saving time or trouble by waiting to register in his neighborhood will in many cases be making a mistake. All who can register downtown should do so not only for their own comfort and convenience but for that of such of their neighbors as must register in the precinct or not at all. Every one who works in the loop should take time to register at the city hall offices of the board, where there is little delay. Women who go shopping in the loop should take time to register there and not wait for the local registration day.

With two million voters to register and only about fifty thousand registered to date there is certain to be bad overcrowding in many precincts and the wise voter will take a little trouble now to avoid more later.

AN ECHO FROM ABROAD.

So John Bull has produced a streamlined train that has smashed all British records by nudging a velocity of 113 miles per hour for a half mile stretch between dear old Essendine, Rutlandshire and Tallington, Lincolnshire! The dispatch is silent as to several important details, including information as to the direction of the wind. It is admitted, however, that the grade on this section of the line is only slightly downhill.

Great Britain has caught the spirit of Chicago's western lines. It may be interesting to them to learn that English managements are not so very far behind. It is also gratifying to THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE to note that its platform of yesteryear, "Speed Up Railway Passenger Service," has produced an echo from abroad.

FREE THE RAILWAYS FROM RED TAPE.

While the procedure might seem unusual, it is sometimes necessary to load a towboat on a railway flat car for overland movement. Therefore, according to the interstate commerce commission, the railways should maintain "just and reasonable" rates for the carriage of these competitor facilities. Some three years ago such a movement took place and involved the railways in a year long legal battle.

The shipment was made on Feb. 9, 1933, and regular rates charged and collected, but nearly two years later, on Nov. 7, 1934, to be exact, the owners of the boat suddenly discovered that they had been horribly gouged by the railways. After all, a towboat is merely an aquatic tractor, so why should the rate be any higher than that imposed on any other kind of a tractor? Clearly the railways were profiteering. It might have been added that Fitch's original steamboat was an amphibian and that tractors, called mules, actually tow vessels through the locks of the Panama canal—thus showing real as well as potential competition between marine and overland "towers." If this thing of assessing unreasonable railway rates on boats should be allowed to persist tractors might at some time in the future dock the Queen Mary or Normandie to the destruction of the harbor towing industry, to say nothing of prejudice to towboat construction at Indianapolis, Ind.

The commission pondered long over the argument, but balked at the prospect of establishing rate relationship between farming implements and waterway facilities. It finally discovered that the towboat was worth about 24 cents a pound, which approximates the value of second hand wooden patterns, which move at freight rates lower than those applicable to towboats. The customary order directed the railways to see that in the future all of their rates on aquatic tractors bear proper relationship to those on "ex-patterns." The railways were further ordered to return to the shippers a matter of $200 with interest as a penalty for having failed to observe the striking similarity.

If the public had better access to the silly principles underlying the work of the interstate commerce commission they could better understand THE TRIBUNE platform, "Free the railways from red tape."

Editorial of the Day

"THE OLD DEAL."

[Illinois State Journal.]

"The objective of the nation has greatly changed in three years," President Roosevelt declared in a radio address on April 28, 1935. "Before that time individual self-interest and group selfishness were paramount in public thinking. The general good was at a discount."

It is by such misstatements that Mr. Roosevelt has endeavored to mislead the American people into supporting his New Deal. The studied technique of the President and his brain trusters has been to discredit all that happened prior to March 4, 1933, in an effort to establish a paternalistic government in free America.

But let the record of accomplishment speak for what New Deal orators refer to as "the old deal." The average automobile in 1921 sold for $1,785. The price has steadily decreased since then, and the quality has risen. Today the average automobile costs $903—despite Mr. Roosevelt's taxes on industry. Tungsten lamps cost 32 cents in 1921, 15 cents now. Coffee cost from 55 to 60 cents in 1920, now from 25 to 27 cents. Bathing suits—to take a timely subject—cost $10.09 in 1911. Now they sell for an average of $5.14.

Wages have risen. Taking 1840 as the base year and letting 100 equal the average hourly wage, the industrial wage index today is 650—six times as large as in 1840. Wages rose with the civil war in the sixties. For a time after the war they declined slightly. Then began a rise to a peak figure of 710 in 1920, followed by a decline of 50 points, with another peak in 1929, a decline until 1932 and a steady rise since.

All this is part of the American standard of living, which is exemplified by these facts:

In 1920, only one out of four persons between 16 and 20 years went to school; in 1930, one of three went.

In 1900, one of ten persons had a life insurance policy; in 1935, every other person had a policy.

In 1900, there were only 8,000 cars on the roads; last year approximately 20,000,000 out of 30,000,000 American families owned cars.

In 1900, there was one telephone to every seventy-five persons; today there is a telephone to every eight people.

In 1910, one of six persons had a savings account; last year, one out of every three had a savings account.

In 1900, one of seventeen owned securities; in 1932, one out of five owned securities.

HOMETOWN PURCHASED its first motorized fire engine over the earnest protest of Councilman Alcock. In registering his vote against the appropriation ordinance, he said: "I consider it flying in the face of Providence to buy a contraption like this, that can run out of town in any direction in half a minute." But the councilman's ideas changed after his house was struck by lightning and the engine got there in time to save everything but the kitchen and a litter of bird dogs trapped in it. He made amends with another speech. "Providence," he averred, "has taken the trouble to show me the error of my ways."

Soon will come a cool still night;
Perhaps the moon will furnish light,
For the moon is friendly with the fellow

Changes fruit from sour to sweet,
Makes squash and pumpkins ripe to eat.

Beautiful at once and tragic;
For while the leaves turn brown and red
His touch leaves flowers dry and dead;
Foretells that summer is departing,
And winter days will soon be starting.

PERSONAL REACTIONS TO DRUGS.

NOTHING emphasizes our individuality more strikingly than our varying reactions to drugs. While large groups of persons will behave alike, yet the degree of influence exerted by a particular compound will vary greatly.

L. J. Witts interprets this situation concretely by citing the case of a submarine crew during the war. Each member had been selected for exceptional physical soundness. All were exposed to the same proportion of arsenic liberated from the storage batteries. Nevertheless, the consequences were widely different. One was not affected at all, seven developed anemia and jaundice [bile pigment in the skin], and the remainder showed some symptoms of lack of oxygen in the blood; but no one of these was ill enough to require hospital treatment.

These same observations are illustrated in the administration of barbiturates, in which occasionally a very small quantity will be tolerated badly. There are many abnormal responses despite the general rule that a given amount of a drug will produce the same effect.

Amidopyrine is now in fairly common use. If too much is given drowsiness, stupor, rapid heart, sweating, and collapse may follow. Cases have been reported in which as little as one-twentieth of the so-called safe dose has brought about a chain of alarming symptoms. The susceptible person generally has a slight chill, followed by a rise in temperature and an abrupt drop in the number of white cells in the blood. Fortunately, such a catastrophe will occur in but a small percentage of those for whom the drug is prescribed. Nevertheless, we must gauge every chemical with an eye that is critical to its aftermath.

Apparently these peculiar phenomena may be compared to sensitivity to proteins such as characterize the onset of hay fever or asthma, and the medicine to which the patient has an idiosyncrasy should be shunned as positively as hay fever sufferers avoid ragweed. For our explanation we must recall that the bit of fur that irritates the skin of one person will not annoy another. In other words, something in the makeup of the patient resents and repels that particular substance.

We must remember also that even persons who are not sensitive to a small quantity may become notably so if the administration of the preparation is continued. Another curious feature is that sometimes poisoning will not exhibit itself until after exposure to the material has ceased. This has been observed frequently in the appearance of anemia among workers in benzol. The blood condition was not manifest until after the employé had been removed from contact with the chemical.

Witts believes that many of these poisons injure the bone marrow. Now and then stopping the drug will bring about the restoration of the marrow cells to normal. In other cases, however, damage remains and the newborn cells are not quite up to par; their ripening is imperfect and hence the blood becomes poor and "thin." This is especially true whenever the use of barbituric acid has led to the condition known as agranulocytosis.

The whole business calls to mind the folly of experimenting on oneself with any new drug unless it is started with very low dosages and not even then until laboratory research has pronounced the substance to be safe. The recent disastrous effects of dinitrophenol used for reducing weight are too fresh in our minds to warant our taking up with any miracle working formula. Cases of blindness have followed the employment of ethylhydrocuprerine in pneumonia, and acute yellow atrophy [destruction of the liver] the giving of cinchophen.

Organic chemistry is producing hundreds, if not thousands, of remedies each year. Thorough testing is necessary before these agents are marketed for general use.

ECZEMA.

Mrs. M. writes: What causes eczema in a baby? Will he outgrow it?

REPLY.

Eczema is a common disease of the skin in early life. A condition of hypersensitiveness, usually to foods, and the delicate character of the skin in infancy are two of the most important factors. Among the local causes of eczema may be mentioned excessive perspiration, cold dry air and winds, the use of hard water or of strong soaps in bathing, the irritation of clothing, etc. The scaly, weeping areas should not be bathed with soap and water; bran baths or oil should be used for cleansing. Scratching as a result of the severe itching should also be prevented. Try to find the substance that is responsible, such as house dust, fur of some animal, an article of diet, etc. Removing the cause will relieve the condition entirely. As the baby grows older he will develop greater resistance.

POISON IVY.

I. M. S. writes: I am in camp with a bunch of men and our chief problems are hay fever and poison ivy. What is a good home remedy for the latter? I understand that only those susceptible to goldenrod will get hay fever.

REPLY.

We have a leaflet giving directions for poison ivy treatment that you can get by sending a stamped, addressed envelope. Goldenrod is not an important plant, so far as hay fever is concerned. The principal offender is ragweed. The most successful method of treatment of hay fever is by vaccines. For good results this should be administered before the hay fever season begins.

HAVE EXAMINATION.

Mrs. L. B. writes: My 16 month old baby has two lumps on either side of her ears behind the lobes. What are they from? Can anything be done?

REPLY.

The condition you describe is unusual, and can be diagnosed correctly only after a careful examination. Enlargements may come from infected skin glands. These are not at all serious. Do not squeeze the lumps.

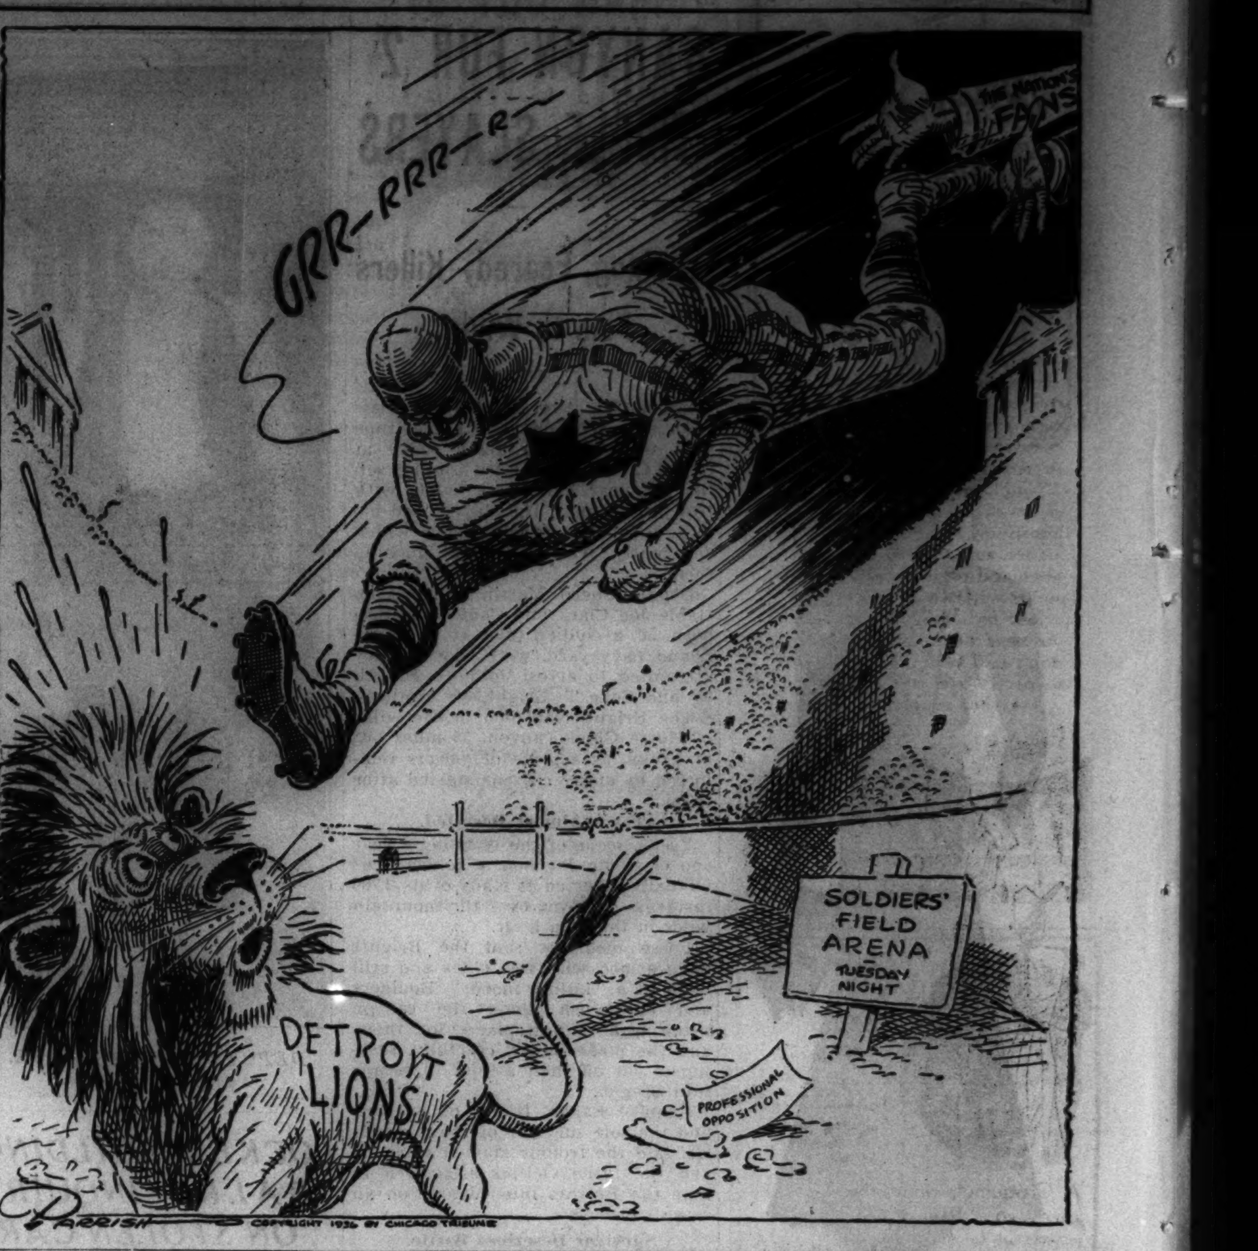
ARE THE SAME.

R. S. writes: Referring to your article on the liver diet for disseminated sclerosis, would this diet be helpful for multiple sclerosis?

REPLY.

Yes. Multiple sclerosis and disseminated sclerosis are the same. High vitamin feeding is also advised.

THROWING THE COLLEGIANS TO THE LIONS



DAY BY DAY IN THE MAKING OF THE CONSTITUTION

BY JAMES MADISON.

[Father of the Constitution and Fourth President of the United States.]

Dissatisfaction with the Convention's Work.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 31, 1787.—In convention. [The ratification of the constitution being considered.] Mr. Gouverneur Morris of Pennsylvania and Mr. Pinckney of South Carolina moved to amend the article so as to read: "This constitution shall be laid before the United States in congress assembled; and it is the opinion of this convention that it should afterwards be submitted to a convention chosen in each state in order to receive the ratification of such convention, to which end the several legislatures ought to provide for calling conventions within their respective states as speedily as circumstances will permit." Mr. Morris said his object was to impress in stronger terms the necessity of calling conventions in order to prevent enemies of the plan from giving it the go by. When it first appears with the sanction of this convention the people will be favorable to it. By degrees the state officers and those interested in the state government will intrigue and turn the popular current against it.

Mr. Luther Martin of Maryland believed Mr. Morris to be right; that after a while the people would be against it, but for a different reason from that alleged. He believed they would not ratify it unless hurried into it by surprise. Mr. Gerry of Massachusetts enlarged on the idea of Mr. Luther Martin in which he concurred, represented the system as full of vices and dwelt on the impropriety of destroying the existing confederation without the unanimous consent of the parties to it. [The motion of Mr. Morris and Mr. Pinckney defeated.] Mr. Gerry moved to postpone article XXII. [The method of ratifying the constitution.] Col. Mason of Virginia seconded the motion, declaring that he would sooner chop off his right hand than put it to the constitution as it now stands.

Mr. Gouverneur Morris was ready for a postponement. He had long wished for another convention that will have the firmness to provide a vigorous government which we are afraid to do. Mr. Randolph of Virginia stated his idea to be, in case the final form of the constitution should not permit him to assent to it, that the state conventions should be at liberty to propose amendments to be submitted to another general convention which may reject or incorporate them, as shall be judged proper. [The motion to postpone was defeated, New Jersey, Maryland, North Carolina, ay. The article was adopted, Maryland, no. Nine states having been inserted in the blank for the ratification of the constitution in article XXIII., the provision that the national legislature when organized should "choose the President of the United States and proceed to execute this constitution" was stricken out—"this point, of choosing, not being yet finally determined." Article XXIII., the last in the report from the committee on detail, as amended was agreed to without dissent and the convention turned to the reports of committees on deferred and referred provisions.]

THE TRAVELER RETURNED.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—I have recently returned to Chicago after a lapse of many years and my impressions are those of a stranger. Nevertheless, they are clothed with the warmth one feels for his native jungle.

I find Chicago good. I expect to be here a long time. As evidence of this I am reacquiring the habit of saying Chicawgo, as a native should, instead of Chicahgo.

But there is one matter about Chicago [or Chicawgo] that is a cause of perpetual shock to me. This is the so-called "Rapid Transit" system. The I. C. is O. K. The bus lines are good bus lines. It is not their fault that they are bus lines. But the "L"? Ouch! Far above the maddening crowds—yes. It gets you there—yes. But when does it get you there? Never have I seen anything more closely approximate zero motion and still keep inching along. The Paris Metro, long noted as the slowest means of mechanical transport known to man, is as Pegasus compared to a Howard street express. The street cars of the Boston Elevated railway, which run in the subways of that paradoxical spot, at least give an impression of speed. The gyrations produced by the roadbed of our south side elevated only faintly resemble it. [O, those brave 35 mile speed limit signs!]

Now I know that it is theoretically impractical and politically impossible to build a subway in Chicago. But that is no reason why the "L" should be permitted to cling to its gay nineties' traditions forever. Speed with safety could be achieved. And here's how:

1. Provide motors that do not act as if they had been purloined from abandoned street cars. [The North Shore line negotiates the elevated route with considerable celerity, despite the hazards of the many nonstop-hyper-super-express-shoppers'-special-elevated-limiteds, which are glued to the track at intervals between the loop and Wilmette.]

2. Take a few kinks out of the roadbed and double-deck the tracks around the loop, south to Roosevelt road, north to Chicago avenue. This would eliminate the worst bottle neck and expresses would have to make only one stop in the loop.

Of course no feat of mind or imagination can duplicate Chicago's own loop, but in New York, for example, triple decked subways and "L's" [e. g., in the Queensborough main station] are common and function smoothly. It just seems idiotic to me, a partial auslander, that it should take almost as long to go to Kenwood or Loyola from the Merchandise mart [during the rush hour] as it does to go to Lake Forest on the North Shore—with all the "L" hazards the latter puts up with. The "L" is not rapid transit, names to the contrary notwithstanding. It is hardly transit at all.

THE RAILROAD RENAISSANCE.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—The American railroads have made a great and successful effort to recapture a large percentage of their lost passenger revenue and for that effort are to be highly complimented by the traveling public. Air conditioning and increased speed and comfort along with the theory of operating trains for the convenience of the traveler and not the dispatcher are primarily responsible, I believe, for this increased business.

However, in talking to a number of people who are becoming train minded for the first time in six years, one receives the impression that the railroads are fast coming into their own, so fast in fact that both terminals and trains are being packed to capacity. This phase of transporting human beings is as important as air conditioning and speed, and if the railroad managements neglect to remedy overcrowding it won't take long for them to lose all the ground they have so nobly gained.

GAMBLING DEVICES.

Aurora, Ill., Aug. 13.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—As a member of several women's societies here in Aurora I should like to have you answer a question for me. 1. Are slot machines, horse machines, pin ball, and other gambling machines found in saloons, taverns, and road houses legal? 2. If they are legal, is there an age limit as to who can play them? 3. For instance, I have a 17 year old boy who has a small job who puts practically all of his earnings in these machines and I can't seem to do anything about it. I can't seem to get any coöperation from his father, as he has the same weakness. 4. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

VALID SEVEN YEARS.

Chicago, Aug. 20.—[Friend of the People.]—I would like information about the status of a person who, after taking out his declaration of intention [first paper] in 1907, neglected to get his final papers, but has lived in this country ever since.

Would he have to take out a first paper again in order to become a citizen or can he still get his final papers if proof of his first can be obtained?

C. A.

A declaration of intention is only valid for seven years. Therefore, a declaration of intention filed in 1907 is now invalid for all naturalization purposes and the subject, in order to become a citizen, should file a new one and, when the same is at least two and not over 7 years old, apply for final papers.

WOMAN CUT OFF IN AUNT'S WILL IS 'NOT INTERESTED'

Tells How Fling at Stage Cost Her a Fortune.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Mrs. Julia Elizabeth Parker-Brown has no intention of contesting the will of her aunt, Miss Julia Parker, which left her only $1,000 out of an estate valued at one and one-third million dollars, she announced today.

"I am not interested in the will nor in any court case, and do not intend to attend the hearing on the will," said the young matron whose short lived stage career ten years ago "infuriated" her aunt. "I think I'll go to Europe to spend the winter."

Miss Parker, 51 years old, died at her home here on Aug. 18. Her will was filed for probate Saturday and a hearing was set for Oct. 1. Her estate was valued at approximately $1,000,000 in real estate and $300,000 in personal property.

Nephews to Get Estate.

Aside from $28,000 in small bequests and the $1,000 left to Mrs. Parker-Brown, the remainder of the estate was bequeathed to three nephews of Miss Parker—Henry F. L. Parker and Edward C. Parker of Grosse Pointe Farms and Thomas M. Parker of Grosse Pointe, exclusive Detroit suburbs.

"I don't want to talk about it," said Mrs. Parker-Brown, but her mother, Mrs. John D. Morphy, interposed.

"This will is the work of an eccentric old woman," Mrs. Morphy interjected. "Julia doesn't care about it. She received plenty of money from her father."

Half Hose Angers Aunt.

"I remember my aunt being angry when I was just a tot because I had on half hose instead of stockings," Mrs. Parker-Brown related. "From that time on anything I did was distasteful to her."

Later, the young woman continued, she went to a dramatic school in New York. Her aunt, she said, "stormed all over and said that if I dragged the name of Parker behind the footlights she would disinherit me."

"I was to be in a musical show, 'Honeymoon Trail,' but with nothing more promising in view than a chorus girl's part I gave up the stage idea after two weeks of rehersals," she continued.

HOWARD URGES REFERENDUM IN LABOR WRANGLE

10 Unions Face Suspension for "Insurrection."

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30.—(AP)—A rank and file referendum in the American Federation of Labor's family quarrel was proposed today by Charles P. Howard, president of the International Typographical union.

Unless ten unions affiliated with the John L. Lewis committee for industrial organization make peace with the federation's executive council before Saturday they will be suspended for "insurrection."

These unions are promoting a drive to bring all the workers in each big industry into one big union. The federation is controled by a group which holds that all skilled craftsmen, as a rule, should belong to the union of their craft.

Lewis Committee Secretary.

Howard is secretary of the Lewis committee, although his union has not formally affiliated. When the A. F. of L. executive council voted to suspend the ten unions that had joined the committee it directed William Green, federation president, to ask Howard by what authority he had participated in the committee's work.

In his reply, made public today by the Lewis committee, Howard suggested the referendum.

At the same time the Lewis committee announced that an incomplete survey showed that three international unions, four state federations of labor, thirty central labor unions, and local unions "too numerous to list" had urged the executive council to recall the suspension order.

Union Assessment Voted.

New York, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The general executive board of the International Ladies Garment Workers' union today voted to assess members of the union $1 each to help finance the organizing campaign in the steel industry.

The garment workers, third largest union in the American Federation of Labor, yesterday notified President William Green of the federation that it would not withdraw from the committee for industrial organization "even under threat of suspension."

SWEETHEART KILLED IN CIVIL WAR; NEVER WED; NOW SHE'S 100

New Orleans, La., Aug. 30.—(AP)—A bright-eyed little woman who for three-quarters of a century has kept faith with a soldier killed in action sipped champagne before a huge birthday cake containing 100 candles today.

Miss Alice Fazende will be 100 years old Tuesday, but she held the birthday party today because more friends and relatives could attend.

Then, too, officers of the Washington artillery, famed civil war military unit, could be present.

While serving the confederacy as a member of the unit, Miss Alice's lover was killed 75 years ago.

His name remains her secret.

"We were betrothed," she said simply. "We loved each other very much. We pledged each other that if anything happened to one of us the other would never marry any one else."

Her snowy white hair was bundled atop her head with a chic black ribbon.

Champagne toasts were drunk to the guest of honor. Then Alice raised her own glass and softly murmured in French:

"Bientot, mon bien aimé!" ["Soon, my well-beloved."]

BEES IN BELFRY STOP METHODIST CALL TO CHURCH

Britton, Mich., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Because a swarm of bees have taken possession of the belfry the bell wasn't tolled for services at the Britton Methodist church today. Ben Beasely, a member of the congregation, said it was decided not to disturb the bees. The last time the bell was rung, he said, the bees buzzed down the belfry and into the auditorium.

JULY'S DEATH RATE BOOSTED BY HEAT WAVE

New York, Aug. 30.—[Special.]—How the health of the country suffered from the July heat wave is shown by Metropolitan Life Insurance company statisticians, who in a report today declared that the increase in mortality during that month was so marked that the death rate for the company's 17 million industrial policy holders reached the highest figure of any July in five years—8.2 per 1,000—and represented a rise of 5.2 per cent over the mortality rate of July, 1935.

In spite of the unfavorable developments of July, however, the statisticians reported that the health record of the policy holders for the year through July was excellent.

The year, they say, is making a record for low mortality from tuberculosis, diseases of the maternal state, measles, whooping cough, and diphtheria, while the cumulative death rate for all diseases combined was only 9-10 of 1 per cent higher for the first seven months of 1936 than for the corresponding period of 1935, when a record for low mortality was established among the policy holders.

The project calls for resurfacing four runways with a cement-mound macadam, drainage facilities, and the installation of two flood lights and sixteen border lights. The construction work is to last four months and 400 men will be employed. The airport, one mile south of Joliet, has been used only for emergency landings by airliners.

FAMED MORMON CHOIR WILL SING AT DERN FUNERAL

Equally Noted Organ to Be Heard at Rites.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Three hundred voices whose blended notes have been heard 'round the world will sing a requiem Tuesday for George Henry Dern, secretary of war.

The famed Mormon tabernacle choir will be supplemented by the temple's equally well known organ at funeral rites in the historic tabernacle here.

Most of the 300 men and women in the choir knew personally the tall, square shouldered man who served them as governor and who, stilled by death, will "come home" Tuesday morning. He was not a member of their Latter Day Saints church, however.

Will Sing His Favorite Hymn.

The choir, under the direction of J. Spencer Cornwall, will sing "Crossing the Bar," by Baus, and "Lead Kindly Light, by Van Dyke.

At the request of Mrs. Dern, Mrs. Irene Kelly Williams of Philadelphia, formerly of Salt Lake City, will sing the secretary's favorite hymn, "I Know My Redeemer Liveth," from Handel's "Messiah."

Frank W. Asper, organist, will play Chopin's Funeral March as a prelude and "The Dead March" from "Saul," by Handel, as a postlude.

Older than Tabernacle.

The unpaid choir, which has been in existence since before the tabernacle itself was completed in 1867, is one of the most widely known musical organizations in the world.

Its Sunday morning programs have been heard regularly for the last seven years over coast-to-coast radio networks.

FUNERAL TRAIN HERE.

The funeral train bearing the body of Secretary of War George H. Dern made a brief stop in Chicago yesterday en route to the Dern home in Salt Lake City, Utah. The train was met by Brig. Gen. Dana T. Merrill, acting commander of the 6th corps area and members of his staf, who paid their respects to Mrs. Dern and members of the late secretary's family.

JAMES R. TOOKEY, HERO OF CHICAGO FIRE, DIES AT 94

James R. Tookey, 94 years old, died yesterday in the home of his son-in-law, Policeman Carl O. Swanson, at 5757 Clifton avenue, with whom he made his home. Mr. Tookey was brought to Philadelphia from England by his parents at the age of 3, and his father, a teaming contractor, settled here 11 years later. Mr. Tookey often recalled that his father had a large garden patch at Wisconsin street near the cemetery which later made way for Lincoln park.

When the great fire of 1871 broke out Mr. Tookey, realizing that many persons were in danger in the downtown district, hitched two teams to drays and put them into rescue service. The drays were driven repeatedly into the fire zone, loaded up with men, women, and children, and driven to the lake shore to escape the flames. He was credited in this way with saving many lives.

Surviving him are five children, Mrs. Swanson, Mrs. Elsie Lloyd, Walter B., William J., and Lawrence G. Funeral services will be held tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock in the chapel at 932 Belmont avenue, with burial in Graceland cemetery.

W. F. WHITING, IN CABINET OF COOLIDGE, DIES

Holyoke, Mass., Aug. 31 [Monday].—(AP)—William F. Whiting, 72, successor to Herbert Hoover as secretary of commerce in the Coolidge administration, one of the country's leading paper manufacturers and confidant of the late Calvin Coolidge, died at his home here today.

Hold Funeral Today for Mrs. Clementina B. Reid

Reid, was a coal dealer for many years on the Chicago south side. Besides Mrs. Blackburn two other daughters and three sons survive her.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Pigs Go to Market.

August 30, 1936.

FIFTY-TWO head of the "Christmas" pigs, farrowed late last December on the Tribune's Yorkville experimental farm, recently were sold on the Chicago market. The entire shipment weighed 10,080 pounds and the hogs were sold in two groups of 26 each, according to weight.

The heavier hogs averaged 203½ pounds and weighed a total of 5,290 pounds. They brought $11.75 a hundredweight, or $621.57. The other group weighed 4,790 pounds, an average of 184¼, and sold at $11.30 a hundred, bringing $541.27 and making a total of $1,162.84 for the 52 head.

Total marketing costs were as follows:

Trucking	$15.12
Transportation insurance	4.16
Yardage	9.88
Corn [3 bushels]	5.25
Yardage insurance	.07
Inspection	.25
Commission	10.30
Total	$45.03

Delay Silo Filling.

Silo filling likely will not begin at the Yorkville farm until after the middle of September. Recent rains have kept the corn green and the farm manager wants it to make all the growth possible before it is cut. The practice normally followed on this farm is to put only well matured corn into the silos. Since the silage is used for fattening beef cattle, a high grain content is desirable. The men plan to leave the silage corn in the fields until what few ears there are have reached the dent stage.

Green corn now is being cut daily for the beef steers. The stalks are run through an ensilage cutter before being put into the feed troughs.

New Calf Crop.

A new calf crop has started at the Yorkville place. Two coal black Aberdeen Angus calves were born last week, the first of 10 expected within the next month. These calves are from the black cows that were bred two years ago, as hefers, to a snow white Shorthorn bull to produce the blue-gray calves being used in a special beef cattle test. According to present plans, a breeding herd of about 100 pure bred Aberdeen Angus cows is to be established on this farm.

The 10 blue-gray calves now are on full feed in a dry lot. They are being given both whole and ground oats, shelled corn, and alfalfa hay. The six steers will be finished for market. No decision has been reached as to what will be done with the four hefers. They may be kept for breeding.

Rains Are Heavy.

Rains were comparatively heavy at the Yorkville farm last week. Pastures and stubble fields were well soaked and water was standing in puddles all about the place Friday morning for the first time since May 17. More than 1½ inches of rain had fallen since Thursday noon.

Chicago Plane Owning Group Grows Rapidly

Conway H. Olmsteds Both Learn to Fly.

BY JUDITH CASS.

AIR-MINDED Chicagoans may not have gone quite so far as two New Yorkers who recently acquired two 12 passenger airplanes which they had converted into aerial club cars complete with bars and game tables. But there is an ever-increasing group which maintains planes for pleasure or to get about the country on business.

Learning to fly for the first time this summer are Mr. and Mrs. Conway H. Olmsted. Mr. Olmsted recently bought a Fairchild plane and already has progressed to the stage of solo flying. In another month he will be qualified to receive his amateur pilot's license. Mrs. Olmsted has been taking lessons for the last two weeks.

Mrs. Charles S. Dewey Jr. also has taken up flying this summer, and recently made her first solo flight. Mr. Dewey is a seasoned flyer, and uses his new Fairchild, a three passenger cabin plane, to commute between Lake Forest and South Bend, as well as on pleasure trips.

Barrett Scudder Nearly Ready for Solo Flying.

Barrett Scudder has been taking lessons for the last four weeks, and is on the point of making his first solo flight. Further advanced is George M. Silverthorne Jr., who has been flying for several months and is now piling up hours with his amateur pilot's license in mind.

Two of the youngest converts to flying are Edward Martin and Albert Mons of Winnetka. Since last fall young Mr. Martin, who attends the Asheville School for Boys, has been spending most of his vacations at the Pal-Waukee airport learning to fly. Mr. Mons has been making the same use of his vacations from Princeton, and will be ready this week to receive his amateur pilot's license.

At the Curtiss-Reynolds airport near Glenview, Watson Newhall has been flying regularly three times a week. He already has his amateur pilot's license and is well on his way toward acquiring his private pilot's license.

Miss Louise Brydon has begun lessons in flying recently at the Curtiss-Reynolds field, and Daniel Peterkin Jr. keeps his plane there, using it for business quite as much as for sport.

Two Flyers Take to Water for Summer.

Ralph N. Isham and Lloyd A. Laflin both are inveterate flyers and keep their planes at the Pal-Waukee airport, but their enthusiasm is divided between the air and the water. This summer the Ishams have been much occupied with their new cruiser, and the Laflins have been spending almost every week-end on the Ishams' old boat, which they bought when the Ishams acquired their new one.

Foster Hannaford Jr. and his plane have been missing from the airlanes hereabouts for the last six weeks. He flew west to Los Angeles to report for duty in the naval reserves and is due back in a few days.

Another seasoned pilot who is absent this summer is J. Leslie Younghusband. He and Mrs. Younghusband are spending several months abroad.

A. A. Sprague Jr. Takes Week-end Trips in Plane.

Albert A. Sprague Jr., who has been flying for several years, has taken several week-end trips in his plane this summer, and Dr. and Mrs. Eugene Cary have been using their plane to commute between town home and their summer home in Wisconsin.

Owen B. Jones is not flying this summer, having given up his plane for the time being at least. Duncan Hodges is another erstwhile pilot who is no longer flying.

Mrs. Jay Frederick Reeve, the former Josephine Patterson, has a transport pilot's license and flew her own plane for several years, but at present she is not flying.

Her sister, Mrs. Joseph Brooks, who was a pioneer woman pilot, still flies her own plane. Several years ago she, Mrs. Reeve, and Mrs. Louis F. Swift Jr. flew over Australia, the Malay peninsula, and India.

Distinctly air-minded were two recently married couples, the Hugh McBirney Johnstons and Mr. and Mrs. A. Watson Armour III., who

Victoria—
Suggestion—Presidents—

Local yokel.

SOME years ago, after a glimpse of the dressing table of Queen Marie of Rumania during her American visit, we expressed a comment as to what her grandmother, Queen Victoria, would have thought could she have seen the dressing table of her bobbed-haired granddaughter. It was covered with a frivolous litter that included a lipstick, a bottle of French perfume called, as we remember, "Ardent Flame," and a carton of cigarets, besides the boxes of creams and powders. Now comes Edith Sitwell's "Victoria of England," in which she says that Queen Victoria herself had 125 kinds of creams and perfume. Perhaps there was some connection between this weakness of the queen's and her attitude toward women's rights. A private letter quoted by Miss Sitwell says: "For 20 years the queen has been occupied in checking this mad, wicked folly of 'Women's Rights' . . . with all its attendant horrors, upon which her poor, feeble sex is bent, forgetting every sense of womanly feeling and propriety. . . . It is a subject that makes the queen so furious that she can hardly contain herself. God created men and women different . . . then let them remain each in their own position."

CARLETON college at Northfield, Minn., has its presidential traditions, too. Six members of Carleton's faculty are former college presidents. In addition, just recently it sent Carter Davidson, professor of English at Carleton, to Knox college at Galesburg, Ill., as Knox's new president. Previously three other members of the Carleton faculty were called to become presidents of other institutions.

PROGRAM note. A friend of Mrs. Archibald Freer had a peep at a yellowed program treasured by the Chicago composer and patroness of music. It is a pupils' program for a recital given by students at the school where Mrs. Freer studied voice in Paris when she was a very young woman, and the youngest member of Mme. Marchesi's school. On the program were listed songs by Mlle. Eames and Mlle. Melba, as well as by Mlle. Everest [Mrs. Freer]. Liszt sometimes played the accompaniment for the school recitals.

TIMES-haven't-changed-so-much-after-all note. A summer resident of a nearby village went to the postoffice to get her mail the other day. The boy in the combination village store and postoffice, looking about the counter and shelves, said, "There was something for you, I'll have to ask John when he comes back."

"I thought, perhaps, I'd have a postal card from Mrs. Blank, who is in Columbus now," volunteered the villager.

"O, yeah, that's what it was—a postal card from her," replied the postal clerk, visibly pleased that she had been able to jog his memory.

Kostelanetz Holds Concert Crowd in Rain

Makes Most of the Sparkle in Gershwin Number.

Tonight's Concert

The Chicago Federation of Musicians announces a change in the previously released schedule of Grant park concerts for this week. Tonight and tomorrow the Bachman band, Harold Bachman, conductor, will play the free lake front programs. Margery Maxwell, the announced soloist, will not appear tonight. Other announcements will follow.

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Andre Kostelanetz, famous musician of radio, received an unusual tribute last night when thousands of people stood in the cold autumnal rain before the stage of the Grant park band shell to watch him conduct the Chicago Civic Opera orchestra in Gershwin's "An American in Paris" and an excerpt from the Borodin "Prince Igor" dances.

It was his name and fame plus the good repute of the orchestra, Joseph Rafaelli and Mildred Gerber—which had drawn a huge audience to the lake front audience area in the earlier, milder hours of the evening. A few minutes before the guest director was to take the baton a downpour that could reasonably be expected to clear every seat in the park succeeded only in greatly diminishing, not completely dispersing, the people who had come to make holiday. Protected by a dozen different kinds of improvised hoods and rain capes, the diehards simply moved closer to the stage of the shell.

Kestelanetz took brave tempos in the Gershwin, making much of its sophisticated sparkle. The men responded superbly. "An American in Paris" took on dazzling color and movement, sprightly humor, roof-raising brilliance.

After the "Prince Igor" bit, Mr. Kostelanetz thanked the audience for the compliment it had paid him in remaining under such trying weather conditions, declared that the evening, for this reason, marked an important and always to be remembered experience in his life, and gave public praise to the men who had played under him. Later, in private, he developed this latter theme still further, commenting enthusiastically on the gusto, spirit, and versatility of the Chicago Civic Opera orchestra.

Up to the time when Mr. Kostelanetz and the rain made their almost simultaneous appearance, the program moved competently along through operatic music, an excerpt from the third Hadley symphony, and a transcription of Listz's Twelfth Rhapsody. Mr. Rafaelli is a conscientious director who works out his effects with honesty and skill, and is just as much interested in some subtle matter of pianissimo balance as he is in a fortissimo attack.

Mildred Gerber, Chicago coloratura, gave a successful performance of the "Una Voce Poco Fa" from "Il Barbiere."

BY ANNA NANGLE.

If the Palace management was looking for contrast—something decidedly different to follow "Mary of Scotland"—they certainly found it in the lightweight little number now on the screen.

It's a farce, giddy as they come, pleasantly cast, and nicely dressed up, but a bit tiresome at times.

Horace Bennett and his spoiled daughter are battling bitterly, as the film opens, over her selection of one Fred as her future husband. In order to bring him around Kit calls a truce, during which she cooks up a scheme for making papa O. K. her wedding. She hires Pete Quinlan to pose as a new suitor whom she's crazy about—giving him orders to behave so objectionably that her father will welcome her Fred with open arms after having a good dose of Pete as a fortune hunting French count. Three guesses as to what happens.

There are diverse complications, some of them funny, some of them pretty stupid.

Mr. Raymond handles his rôle well and Ann Sothern is sufficiently petulant and impudent as Kit. Most likable in the film are nice old Henry Stephenson as the father and Jessie Ralph as Evelyn Bennett, who is wise to her wily niece long before the fond father catches up with her.

The film features several tunes and Mr. Raymond and Miss Sothern both do some alleged singing. I like 'em both much better when they're not warbling. The settings in this film are attractive and much of the dialog is mildly amusing.

Fun is fun, and all that, but, personally, I found the last fifteen minutes of the film ridiculous to the point of boredom.

Harvard to Submit World Since 1636 to 72 Scholars' Scrutiny

Cambridge, Mass., Aug. 30.—[Special.]—The intellectual caravan converging at Harvard from all parts of the world for the opening here tomorrow of the celebration of the tercentenary of higher learning in America has been asked by the Havard faculty committee in charge of the tercentenary conference of arts and sciences to take part in a novel experiment on a gigantic scale never before attempted.

In this experiment the whole realm of man's progress during the last three centuries will be put under the close scrutiny of the combined intellects and learning of seventy-two of the world's outstanding scientists and scholars in all fields of intellectual endeavor. Modern civilization with all its vast and complex ramifications will serve as the "guinea pig."

The seventy-two outstanding intellects, including Einstein, Eddington, Adrian, Hopkins, Cartan, Carnap, Malinowski, Dewey, Janet, Millikan, Compton, Spemann, Shiga, Hu Shih, will become for the first time, important parts of a new "philosophical apparatus" never before put together. This "apparatus," for which a new name must be coined, may be styled the "macroscope," being the antithesis of the microscope.

The "macroscope" is fashioned of the combined living brains of three score and twelve modern "Olympians," who will, for once, merge into one vast brain for the examination of the factors determining the behavior, as an individual and as component of a group, of the most incomprehensible and incalculable of all animals—man.

Fall Weaves in Broadcloth Worth Seeing

New, Supple Materials Win Fashion World.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Hunting for the latest news on thin wool and the not so thin street outfits for fall is a satisfying expedition. The first news that broadcloth has been revived with a swanky emphasis was rather perturbing to some of us who thought of Grannie's stiff, thick broadcloth state occasion gowns. But there's no reason to fret—the 1936 version is as supple and suave as thick satin. And some of the dress parade broadcloth is almost as thin as a good heavy chiffon.

You'll praise the designers for using this sleek, inimitable black or colored fall broadcloth—it's superlatively smooth stuff—destined to fashion some of your best suits, a lot of stunning evening gowns, and picturesque afternoon dresses. And how you're going to go for the sable toned beauties, especially as the background for your pet silver fox furs or handsome fur capes.

Other attractions are the almost indescribable trick wools [we can't stop raving about them], from the nubby silky tufts that look like the tight curls of Persian lamb, in black or brown or gray colors, to the rich looking rib wools, alternating ribs or wales being fuzzy to contrast the dull texture of the other ribs.

Broadcloth also boasts of jacquard weaves and diamond shaped designs, as well as the wools that go in for nubs, tufts, thickened bunches of silk thread, and all the hairy mixtures, so soft and so easy to wear that every one buys them. But there is a deep dark gray wool with a weave called krimmer and it looks exactly what it's called. These fall woolens are so excitingly different, so handsome and so dress-parade, that the silk enthusiasts are wavering and, temporarily at least, go wool gathering while all the new bolts are on display.

Fashion photograph. . . . An original hat creation featuring ruby red soft velvet with imperial purple, a combine only an artist could achieve with such dash and distinction. At the back, the color is glowing ruby red, and deep, across the front headline comes the lovely purple. The smartly tied sharp bows are of the red color and the exceedingly high crown can be pulled and pushed to suit the owner. It is available in a collection of exciting new imports to be found in a Chicago store.

SYNOPSIS.

Shortly after the world war Roger Mallard, handsome young Englishman, is embittered by the loss of hearing in one ear from a war injury. Mal has been raised by his godfather, William Grimwold, an actor. At a New Year's eve party Mal meets lovely young Pamella Wyeth, though he forgets her on meeting Zelda Manners, whom he marries a month later. The marriage ends disastrously. In a rage at his failure to make a living on the stage, Zelda flings a mirror at Mal and unknowingly destroys the hearing in his other ear. Fourteen years later Mal, under Grimmy's tutelage, has become a great success in pictures, hiding his affliction from his public. Zelda has refused him a divorce. Pamella Wyeth has a home in Pasadena. David Barkley, son of an old friend, boards with her. David invites Ellen Greet, young law stenographer, to a New Year's eve party at the hotel where Mallard lives and asks Pamella along as chaperon. Mal is mourning the sudden death of Grimmy. David, as a joke, has a boy page Ellen with a message that Roger Mallard wants to meet her. Mal, skilful at lip reading, is sitting at the next table. Attracted by Pamella, Mal introduces himself and asks to join their party. David and Ellen desert Pamella. Mal takes her home. There Mal drops on her couch unconscious. Pamella calls Dr. Ware. He says Mal has collapsed from shock and worry. Mal's business friends arrange to have him stay at Pamella's to recuperate. David is jealous of Ellen's interest in Mal, though Mal is only interested in Pamella. The foursome drive for the day to La Quinta.

INSTALMENT XXXI.
BARRIERS.

Mal had a rough hewn Mexican table placed between two columns that gave on a wide, arched view of the desert. They sat in Mexican chairs painted yellow, red, purple and green, and ate an excellent luncheon as gayly as possible under a barrage of whispers and stares. Ellen was thrilled with pride to be thus seen. David sulked a trifle. Pam ate her luncheon as serenely as if she were alone on a mountaintop. And Mal, missing nothing that took place throughout the dining room, brought to the task such an array of skilled alertness that Pam began to understand something of the strain and effort his work cost him.

As they were leaving to wander out into the sunlight across the garden, he autographed menus for most of the people he passed, and was then approached by a brisk young man, bent on collecting an interview for his local paper. An unheard of thing! Mallard, the recluse, lunching with friends in a public place, and succumbing more than graciously to autograph hounds.

"Beg pardon," he coughed as he hurried after Mal, who neither stopped nor turned. "Can you give me a statement, Mr. Mallard, about the recent scare over your ——"

The reporter found himself confronted by a young woman with blazing blue eyes.

"Mr. Mallard's guests would appreciate it, if they were allowed to enjoy a desert outing in at least some privacy."

Pam swept by him, took Mal's arm and walked hurriedly forward in an effort to overtake Ellen and David, who had preceded them down one of the walks.

Then he felt a hand laid on his head.

"If you are made unhappy by coming out to this place," Pam said, "I'll never forgive myself ——"

"Pam, I could never be unhappy on a jaunt with you—even if I have to share you. . . . But to have the whole world ogling at and speculating about you, because of me—that would be intolerable to me! Miserably shackled as I am. Unable to be free—human ——" He walked on a few paces in silence. Then, vehemently: "Pam, I've got to talk to you. I thought I could wait. I can't. Let us steal off somewhere alone. Look at me. Are you ——"

"Mal—Ellen's calling you. Wants you to join her in the swing."

He flung away a cigaret as if he were flinging away his continually frustrated desires with it.

"Would it be a lie if I told her you called me first?"

"No, Mal, it wouldn't. I think I'm always calling you. I'll meet you later ——"

"Where?"

"Down by that gate—under the tamarack trees. . . . Don't forget that you made this a foursome," Pam added dryly.

"I haven't forgotten. But I overestimated my strength!"

Inwardly fuming, Mal followed Pamella across the lawn to join David and Ellen at a ring of chairs grouped about an iron table. Before he knew it, he found himself seated beside Ellen in a swing, very much the center of her attention. The afternoon drifted on in sun and haze and creeping violet shadows. Mal joined less and less in the talk, retiring at last behind a wall of silence. During an argument between Ellen and David about taking a walk, he got up abruptly and excused himself.

He hurried to the far outskirts of the La Quinta oasis where an open gateway gave on a path that led off across the desert. It was flanked by two curved cement seats over which drooped some branches of the tamarack trees growing along the garden wall.

Mal dropped down on one of the seats. It was here that he was to meet Pamella. Let her not be long! He sat at such an angle that he couldn't see her coming toward him over the desert path beyond the gate. And suddenly Pam made it impossible for him to see her from any angle, by slipping from sight on the other side of the wall separating them, to stand uncertain what to do among the smoky trees growing there.

Mal bowed forward, resting his head in his hands propped by his elbows on his knees. He felt his self-control crumbling and had some notion of trying to recapture it and get hold of himself in this moment of quiet and sunshine. He was mad with longing to take Pamella into his arms—this first woman he had ever known whose spirit faced his and responded to it without the difficulty of putting thoughts into words that had to be spoken and heard.

Then he felt a hand laid upon his head. He looked up, his thoughts blazing in his face along with a desperate hope. He saw Ellen leaning over him.

"This is nice," Mal said quickly and brushed a hand over his face as if to wipe out what was written there. "I thought you were off on a tramp with David."

"David! While he stopped to buy some cigarets, I slipped out—to find you—to be with you ——"

"That is good luck for me, my dear, but a little hard on David."

"How can you be so wonderful and so unselfish when you're so lonely?"

"O, but you're mistaken," Mal said lightly, while his eyes took on a wary look. "I'm neither wonderful, nor unselfish. How can I be lonely or forsaken—which—believe me, I certainly am not—when I've constantly so many agreeable things to think about." He made her a mocking little bow.

"Don't!" Ellen whispered. "Stop treating me like a child to be indulgently laughed at! You've just a notion that David's got a first claim on me. Why, I only knew him a few hours before I met you. He was just a sort of destiny that brought us together."

"Ellen, how old are you?"

"Now don't begin that!" Ellen replied, almost sobbing.

"It makes a good place to begin," Mal said so seriously that Ellen was silenced. "You're about twenty, aren't you? When you were a baby, I was going off to war and getting pretty unpleasantly battered up. Almost eighteen years older. When you're my age, I'll be a deaf old man, losing my teeth ——"

"Don't laugh at me!"

"Believe me, I don't feel in the least like laughing. Ellen, why did you want to lunch in the dining room today in the midst of everybody? And why did I hanker for a quiet corner where I could kick off my shoes? Because you're young and love dash and excitement. And I'm getting along to middle age and daily becoming more enamoured of inglenooks and carpet slippers."

"Don't be silly! Didn't I meet you in the liveliest New Year's Eve crowd in the city?"

"And do you know why I was there?"

"You were there because you'd lost your best friend and were so sick of grief and loneliness you couldn't stand seeing the New Year in alone with just your precious inglenooks and carpet slippers."

"Ellen," Mal reached over and took her hand, "you have surprised and touched and, yes, distressed me very greatly. You see, Ellen, I'm walled in by some insurmountable difficulties. These make it impossible for me to allow myself to care for any woman—no matter how much I might wish to."

Don't forget, when you're removing a spot from the living room rug or dry shampooing your hair, that cornmeal has other uses than these! If you haven't made cornmeal muffins or "Johnny cake" in a long time, perhaps you've forgotten how good these quick breads can be!

Cornmeal jelly muffins can be stirred up and popped into a hot oven in almost no time at all.

Cornmeal Jelly Muffins.

½ cup cornmeal
1 cup all-purpose flour
3 teaspoons baking powder.
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon salt
1 tablespoon melted butter or other fat
¾ cup milk
1 egg
jelly

Sift flour and mix and sift other dry ingredients with it. Beat the egg, add the milk and melted fat, and pour the liquid ingredients into the dry, stirring quickly, only enough to moisten the flour-cornmeal mixture. As with other muffins, don't mind the lumps. Fill greased and heated muffin tins a third full of batter, place a teaspoon of jelly or thick jam on top, and cover with additional batter, filling tins two-thirds full. Bake in a hot oven [425 degrees F.] for about 20 minutes.

Cornmeal cake or "Johnny cake," as it has been nicknamed, for some little cornbread lover, probably, is spread thinly in a hot, greased pan and baked in a sheet.

Johnny Cake.

¾ cup cornmeal
1 cup flour
1-3 cup sugar
5 teaspoons baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
1 cup milk
1 egg
2 tablespoons melted fat

Mix ingredients as for muffins, stirring until the mixture is barely smooth. Bake in a shallow pan for 20 minutes in a hot [425 degrees F.] oven.

Corn sticks may be made from the raw cornmeal or from cooked cornmeal. This recipe, using cooked cornmeal, makes delicate corn sticks.

Corn Sticks.

1 cup white cornmeal
1 tablespoon lard, margarine or butter
4 cups boiling water
1 teaspoon salt
4 egg whites

Rub the fat into the cornmeal and pour the boiling water over the mixture. Cook in the top of a double boiler for 30 minutes, stirring frequently. Cool. Whip egg whites stiff, adding a few grains of salt. Fold them lightly into the cooked cornmeal. Spread thinly in hot, greased pans and bake in a moderate oven [350 degrees F.] for 30 minutes. Cut in sticks and serve at once.

Veteran Stunt Man Reveals Scale of Pay

Auto Collisions with Upsets Start at $150.

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 30.—[Special.]—The $35 a day that a studio pays an ordinary Hollywood stunt man usually is merely a retainer fee. The detailed things the stunt man has to do are paid for on a rising scale of bonus money, according to the risk attached.

Falling down stairs is $75 every time a stunt man does it. Auto chases with bumps or skids, cost $75 to $100. Auto collisions with turnovers $150 and up. Fights in barrooms or other places where there is danger of broken glass, $75 a day. "Water stuff," falling out of boats or storms at sea, nets $75 because of the cold and exposure.

These are the "union" prices, according to Harvey Perry, survivor of countless falls, auto crashes and barroom fights, not to speak of near drownings and successfully dodged bullets. Perry at present is playing in "Thank You, Jeeves," at Twentieth Century-Fox.

Perry says, "the most I ever got for a stunt was wing walking and a parachute jump in a Jack Gilbert years ago. Got $1,500 for it. I suppose the studios can get fellows to jump out of planes in parachutes now for 15 or 25 dollars."

Perry said he remembered making one scene in which he was strapped tightly in a specially reinforced automobile which was to turn over four times in falling down an embankment. "Anything can happen at a time like that, I found out. When the turnover was completed I found myself out of the strap and the strap still tightly buckled."

Perry also tells the anecdote about a 1,500 pound horse which fell backward across the chest of Duke Green, one of his stunt man pals. "It knocked the wind out of Green but the horse never was the same afterward."

Otto Brower with an advance camera crew of four men has left for New Orleans to spend three weeks filming Mississippi river backgrounds for "Banjo on My Knee." A second technical crew of ten men leaves tomorrow.

Paramount has bought a story titled "American Plan" which is all about a woman newspaper editor and how she unifies and inspires her city into a winning warfare against racketeers.

Jimmy Cagney returned quietly to town and begins his film comeback within three weeks in "Great Guy" for the new Grand National company. Cagney walked out on a $4,500 a week Warner Studio contract in October, 1935, and won a prolonged court suit in which he charged violations by Warners. Prior to that he had been one of the first ten at the annual movie box office for several successive years.

Dorothy Arsener, who recently completed direction of the successful "Craig's Wife," has been assigned to direct John Beal and Ginger Rogers in "Mother Carey's Chickens" at RKO-Radio. Miss Arsener is the only woman currently directing.

Chicago Singer Wins a Year's Film Contract

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 30.—[Special.]—June Martel [Martha Irene Grief], blonde Chicago blues singer, has been signed to a one year straight contract with Paramount. A one year straight contract means the studio thinks its possessor has a lot of promise. The contracts which indicate the employer believes he is taking a gamble are three or six months affairs, with option renewal clauses. Miss Martel, who used to attend Lake View High school, had a previous start in films at Warner Studio, but went back to the stage and night club work in New York.

Divorcee Must Be Discreet in Picking Friend

BY DORIS BLAKE.

She's been married and divorced and is taking care of a small son without aid from her divorced mate.

"The divorced woman's position is a difficult one," she finds out. "Men take advantage of the so-called worldly knowledge that a woman who has been married is supposed to have gained. Even this man about whom I write, but the best of the lot to me, doubts me. He is a married man, I may as well tell, not happy in his marriage. He talks of getting a divorce some time in the future, but I cannot see that he is making any move in that direction. He shows great jealousy, however, if I look at another man. He tells me that even if he never can marry me he still can give me a greater love than any other man. He still is living with his wife on account of the children, he tells me."

If you like the back-street idea for your future position in life that's your affair, we suppose! That's what you are aiming for, from the appearance of things. It's pretty soft for a married Lothario to have an extra woman whom he can assuage with doubtful promises. But why be the kind of woman to take that kind of treatment?

We do not think that it adds to a woman's personal integrity [in the eyes of other men] if she is found playing around with one who obviously intends to maintain his marriage status.

Wouldn't it be far more satisfying to build up a life for yourself of which your youngster might be proud? The happiness of your own youngster and that of the man's children is a more important issue than yours.

Wrong to Make a Left Handed Child Change

He Is as Normal as Any Other Youngster.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

"It wasn't until I broke my arm that I realized how common broken bones were. The sight of my arm in a sling brought forth a surprising number of stories of broken fingers, arms, shoulders, and so on from my friends and acquaintances."

We often find that some experience we think our very own is a common occurrence. An article in this column explaining the seriousness of an enforced change of handedness resulted in letters that proved this true.

Today's article and the letter quoted are directed at teachers who may not be informed on this subject.

"My dear Mrs. Bevans: I've just finished reading your article in today's paper, and it interested me because I am a victim of left-handedness. I will explain what I mean when I say victim.

"I was a normal, healthy child in every way, except that I was left handed. But unfortunately when I went to school it was considered wrong to use the left hand, and, you may believe me, I suffered as only a child can suffer. The teachers always hit me with a ruler for using the left hand when I sewed and wrote. I grew to fear punishment and yet I couldn't write or sew with my right hand. As a result, I received bad marks in writing and sewing.

"At home my mother's criticisms made me nervous. Whenever I had to slice bread, for example, she would say: 'Please give me that knife. You may cut yourself. You look so awkward using the left hand.' I did cut myself a few times, but it was my mother's fault. I can and could do anything just as well as any one, but with the left hand.

"When I was about 7 or 8, my mother took me to a doctor and he said I had a touch of St. Vitus' dance. He asked what made me nervous and found the fear I had of teachers was the cause. My dad then told me to use whatever hand was natural to me, as I had inherited left-handedness from his brother, a highly intelligent man.

"I've always been praised for my work since I left school. I still use the left hand in everything but writing. I am considered good at sewing and writing, subjects for which I received poor grades in school.

"I've written this letter to you, Mrs. Bevans, to tell you how gratifying it is to read that this problem now is being approached in an intelligent manner."

[Copyright: 1936: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

We have a fully written leaflet, called "The Left-Handed Child in a Right-Handed World," which is obtainable on receipt of a large, stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request. Mrs. Bevans' column also appears in The Sunday Tribune.

Smart Model for School

SCHOOLGIRL'S FROCK.

In another week or so your little daughter will be returning to her studies. Her smartness must extend beyond high grades and include chic little models for her wardrobe! While her dresses must be pretty, they also must be practical and simple for mother to keep laundered and pressed. The frock sketched today is a princess model with several distinctive details of styling. The yoke creates an adorable wide shoulderline. The neckline has a pert little collar with a clever loop trimming. The sleeves, which may be either long or short, change their fabric just below the elbow, and cooperate with the yoke in choice of material and color. The sleeves are caught into bands which encircle either the upper arm or the wrist.

Because it is a princess frock, this little dress has the buttoned-down-the-front chic which is characteristic of the mode. The frock fits snugly at the waistline, and has plenty of plaits in the front for tailored chic and also for roominess. The back gains width by means of paneling.

The original of this model is created in plaid, wool finished cotton in navy and white, combined with plain blue for yoke and sleeve inserts. Bright red buttons accent the princess bodice. Grosgrain ribbon loops, matching the red of the buttons, enhance the neckline.

One also may fashion the dress all in one fabric, such as navy blue piqué. The collar may be of white piqué, by way of contrast. Velveteen, wool crêpe, wool jersey, and thin tweedy woolens are lovely fabrics for this dress for winter wear.

Style No. 2905 is designed for size 8, 10, 12, and 14 years. Size 8 requires 2 yards of 39 inch material, with ¾ yard of 39 inch contrasting.

Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine Gives Nautical Supper-Dance.

One of the gayest events of the season at Southampton was the nautical supper-dance given by Mrs. Patrick A. Valentine Friday night for the Charles Garfield Kings. Mr. and Mrs. King have been occupying a cottage this season at the Long Island resort, where Mrs. Valentine is a summer visitor of long standing.

The grounds of Mrs. Valentine's estate were lighted to suggest a harbor approach, with foghorns, revolving lights, and the replica of a lighthouse as props, and a bell buoy sounding at the driveway entrance to announce all comers. The guests, in nautical attire, entered the house by a covered gangplank to find themselves on shipboard. Mrs. Valentine as the "captain" received with her sister, Mrs. William Vernon Booth.

Much of the gayety among the "young marrieds" in Lake Forest is centering about Mrs. Rodman Lent Hooker, who is to spend another fortnight visiting the George A. Richardsons before returning to her home in California. Miss Katherine McLennan and her brother, Donald R. McLennan Jr., entertained Saturday at dinner for Mrs. Hooker at their home in Lake Forest.

Tomorrow evening Mrs. Robert S. Macdonald will give a dinner at the home of her parents, the Stanley Keiths. Thursday the John B. Morses, Mrs. Hooker's brother and sister-in-law, will entertain at the regular Thursday dinner dance at the Onwentsia.

Albert B. Dick Family Leaves Today for Cruise.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert B. Dick are going east today for a three weeks cruise along the New England coast. They have chartered the Freedom, the Sterling Mortons' yacht, and will embark at New London, Conn., sailing from there to Camden, Me.

The Dicks' son and daughter, Albert B. Dick III. and Miss Helen Dick, are going with them, and two of their friends, Miss Helen Mary Bryan and Jerry Greer, will complete the party. After the cruise Miss Dick will go directly to Miss Hall's school in Pittsfield, Mass., which she is entering this year, and young Mr. Dick will return to Hotchkiss.

Mrs. Nicholas Longworth is spending a few days at the Blackstone on her way home to Washington from the west.

Mrs. Walter S. Brewster is returning this week from a trip east. Her son and daughter-in-law, the Edward L. Brewsters, whom she saw in Cambridge, Mass., are coming out for a visit late in September before Mr. Brewster begins his professional career. He is receiving a degree in marine architecture this month at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Charles W. Spooner Jr. Engaged to Brooklyn Girl.

From the east comes the announcement of the engagement of Miss Vera Warbasse to Charles Willett Spooner Jr., son of Charles W. Spooner of Glencoe. Dr. and Mrs. James P. Warbasse of 384 Washington avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., made the announcement of their daughter's engagement yesterday at their summer home in Woods Hole, Mass., where the wedding will take place next June.

Miss Warbasse was graduated last year from Connecticut college and has been studying at the College of Physicians and Surgeons in New York for a doctor's degree. Mr. Spooner is a graduate of the school of engineering at Cornell university, where he was a member of Phi Gamma Delta, and he has been appointed instructor in mechanical engineering at the University of Michigan.

Miss Mary Wood will go east soon to be a bridesmaid on Sept. 12 in Morristown, N. J., at the wedding of Miss Barbara Baker to Richard Englis Baiter. Miss Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart Baker of Short Hills, N. J., and Miss Wood were classmates at Farmington. Mr. Baiter, son of Mrs. Charles W. Baiter of Madison, N. J., is a graduate of Princeton.

Mrs. John T. McCutcheon and her children have returned to Lake Forest after a visit in Huron Mountain, Mich. They are occupying Mrs. McCutcheon's mother's home this summer while Mrs. Howard Van Doren Shaw is in Europe. Mr. and Mrs. John Lord King [Theodora Shaw] have been occupying a cabin on Mrs. Shaw's property this summer. Living there has made it convenient for Mr. King to superintend the construction of a house he has designed as a summer home for Mr. and Mrs. McCutcheon, also on the property, which will be completed next summer. John McCutcheon Jr. will go east next month for his second year at Harvard, and Shaw McCutcheon will leave then for Milton academy.

Dr. Frank P. Thompson is sailing in the Normandie today on his way to Africa, where he will spend several months hunting big game. Dr. Thompson is a member of the Adventurers' club, and in the past has hunted with John T. McCutcheon in the jungles.

A large number of supporters of the opera company are expected at a tea Mrs. Lewis Cohen is giving this afternoon in her spacious home overlooking the lake in Highland Park. Mrs. Cohen is entertaining the north shore opera committee. Mrs. Jacob Baur will give a talk, and Vivian della Chiesa will sing.

Attic Windows.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Kentucky is the state which presented "Attic Windows" to all quilt lovers. By the clever use of striped material set together horizontally and vertically in combination with an old fashioned print material, a clever southern woman created one of the most fascinating blocks imaginable. "Attic Windows" may be used as an all-over quilt design, or set together with plain blocks in an alternate arrangement. It is the type of pattern which lends itself to the utilization of pieces from the scrap bag.

How You Look to Yourself Is What Counts

There's Lilt to Dressing as If on Parade.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Here's a good, stirring thought for girls who are inclined to slip up on grooming details:

"Every morning I say to myself before my mirror," a girl told us, "'Today I am going to meet people and among them may be just that one who falls for my style.'"

She added, "Naturally, I have to do many things the night before. Put curlers in the stray ends. Polish up the manicure a bit. Tone up the skin. Bathe thoroughly and let the morning shower do its bright waking up job in the morning."

You see, many young women and older ones set out for business, or shopping, or house hunting, or somewhere else, with the appearance of having said to their mirrors, "O, I won't meet anybody today anyway!" You know that appearance, Hair out of curl, dress a bit spotty, gloves that should have been washed several days ago or sent to the cleaners, shoes in need of shine or cleaning, and so on.

You may say, of course, "O, heck, I met my fate long ago. Why should I worry about whom I meet today!" Well, you might just meet yourself in a mirror on the way along. And you know that forsaken feeling that comes over a woman confronted with a poor image of herself.

Or, to put it another way, catch a glimpse of you smiling back agreeably at yourself and your whole day is better. This isn't fatuous, Pollyanna stuff, believe us, for there is more in knowing that you're putting up a good front on these ordinary occasions than in all the compliments you get when you are fixed up especially well for the occasional date.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

This is positively our last reference to political emblems, but we think you should know that there is a sunflower perfume on the market. A Chicago perfume house created it—and packaged it appropriately in slender green bottles with yellow leaves collaring the stopper.

They admit, quite honestly, that sunflowers actually don't have much if any fragrance—but they cooked up one that they think is appropriate.

It's a simple fragrance, quite fresh and cool. A bottle of it—and it's not expensive—should make a hit as a gift to a Republican woman or as a bridge prize.

Another idea for the bridge hostess is an inexpensive gift box of five fragrances. The package designer turned to those quintuplets again. There are five little bottles standing in a row, each silk skirted, and with stoppers that represent the bright faces of the five black haired, red cheeked Dionne daughters.

Miss Gardenia, Miss Rose, Miss Violet, Miss Chypre, and Miss Sweet Pea are the floral quints. It's an unusual little package and a novel gift idea.

Culbertson's "Gold Book of Bidding and Play"

Herewith is presented another portion of Mr. Culbertson's latest work on contract, the "Gold Book of Bidding and Play," which is being reproduced in this column in daily instalments.

CHAPTER III.

Honor Tricks.

Many honor combinations in side suits that are perfectly good winners at a partnership's own bids cease to exist when running the gantlet of the enemy's trump suit.

The third lead of any side suit is quite likely to be trumped, so that a sequence like A K Q J 10 2, defensively speaking, is worth only a "plus" more than A K 5 4 3 2. At your own bid the former suit will win six tricks and the latter but four or five. This imposes a double standard of values even with honors—an attack and defense standard. In attack, that is, at declarer's own or in support of partner's trump bids, the honors are counted at their full playing value. In defense, only the cream of honor sequences is skimmed.

A defensive honor trick or defensive winner is a card or combination of cards which may be expected to win a trick, even against the opponents' trump contract.

Not only ace-kings and ace-king-queens are counted defensively, but kings, queens, jacks, and even tens can be combined to form defensive combinations. The very first trick can eliminate four top cards, promoting a ten to the position of first rank, and giving some hopes even to a nine spot.

Bad Play Matches Bad Bidding.

To pick a good opening lead is usually not enough; it must be followed up. In today's hand, West made a fortunate opening selection but he failed to capitalize it.

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 spade	Pass	1 no trump	Pass
4 spades	Pass	Pass	Pass

Obviously South's bidding was atrocious, and, not unnaturally, landed the partnership in the wrong suit. If he had correctly bid three diamonds on the second round, North could have responded with three hearts, and in that way the correct contract of four hearts would have been reached.

West hit on the good opening lead of the ten of hearts, which was won in the closed hand with the ace. Declarer now led the low trump from his own hand and West was caught napping. He should have seen that there was a real possibility of his partner's six of hearts, on the first trick, being a singleton. If that were true, it was vital for West to get on lead quickly and return a heart for East to ruff. Obviously nothing could be lost by the play of an honor on the first spade lead. It was inconceivable that East could hold the blank ace, because that would place declarer with the Jack-10-9-8 seven times—a holding from which he certainly would not have led the three up to the four. When West carelessly played the seven spot on the first trump lead, East was forced to overtake, and now there was no way for East to get that precious heart ruff.

Obviously, had West properly taken the first trump lead and continued a heart, East's ruff would have accounted for the fourth and setting trick.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: Is it true that a takeout double always implies major suit support?

Answer: Not always, but usually.

FRANCE SALUTES AND CHEERS HEAD OF POLISH ARMY

Paris Heralds Arrival as Tightening Alliance.

PARIS, Aug. 30.—(AP)—A Polish military mission was received in France tonight amid acclaim by the press which heralded the event as an indication German rearmament had driven Poland back into the arms of France.

Gen. Edward Rydz-Smigly, inspector general of the Polish army, headed the visitors who were feted both at Belfort on the border and in Paris.

During his week's visit, Gen. Rydz-Smigly will be shown the cream of French troops in one of the most elaborate military tours arranged for a foreign dignitary since the world war.

Generals Meet Train.

The train bringing the Poles across the border was met at Belfort by commanding generals of the area. While army bands played Polish military tunes, Gen. Rydz-Smigly reviewed thousands of troops of the well trained frontier regiments.

At Paris, both Minister of National Defense Edouard Daladier and Foreign Minister Yvon Delbos met Gen. Rydz-Smigly and Gen. Stalachiewicz, head of the Polish general staf, and other Polish aids.

Military honors were accorded the visitors by a battalion of colonial infantry and a battalion of republican guardists. The entire station was decorated with French and Polish flags and bands played. Detectives stood in the crowd behind a double rank of armed mobile guardsmen who lined a red carpet from the train to the street.

Crowd Cheers General.

The black booted Gen. Rydz-Smigly was received with cheers from the crowd. He stood at salute on the station platform while bands played both the Polish and French national anthems.

The Polish general stepped into an automobile with Gen. Marie Gustave Gamelin, chief of the French army general staf, whose recent visit to Warsaw brought the Polish general to Paris. Then they were rushed to the new Polish embassy.

During the coming week President Albert Lebrun, Premier Leon Blum, and Minister Delbos will give dinners for the general, and afterward he will be taken to the Franco-German frontier zone to inspect France's prized Maginot defense line built at tremendous cost of concrete and steel. The tour will be climaxed with a big military review of frontier force at Nancy Sept. 3.

The Paris press has been preparing for the visit for a week. Most agreed Reichsfuehrer Hitler's lengthening of military service to increase the reich armed strength drew Poland closer to the French diplomatic orbit.

The newspaper Humanite welcomed the general "in the name of workers and communists of France."

50 HURT AS FRENCH NATIONALISTS FIGHT LEFTISTS AT RHEIMS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 31.—[Monday.]—Hundreds of members of Jacques Doriot's new "French Popular party" were besieged in their homes in Rheims early today by gangs of the Popular Front—the leftist coalition now ruling France.

The siege followed upon a pitched battle yesterday afternoon when members of the Popular Front raided a political meeting presided over by Doriot—a former communist leader who has turned nationalist. More than fifty persons were injured in the clash. Among the injured were twenty policemen and twenty-four leftists. Hundreds of policemen and mobile guards had been stationed at the meeting place to guard against trouble. Doriot's followers, who are nationalists and semi-Fascists, fought their assailants with clubs.

GERMANS VISION RUMANIA ENDING TIES WITH RUSSIA

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 30.—German diplomats tonight were rejoicing over what they term their first decisive victory over soviet Russia. They see it in the elimination of Nicholas Titulescu, Rumania's former foreign minister, from the newly appointed cabinet in Bucharest. His disappearance from the scene of political action after ten years as foreign minister may put an end to the rapprochement between Rumania and soviet Russia and the Germans hope it will initiate an era of German-Rumanian coöperation.

Rumania's friendship for Germany is of vital importance because Rumania has oil and vast supplies of foodstuffs which Germany lacks. Furthermore, the Germans were alarmed by the negotiations conducted among Russia, Rumania, and Czechoslovakia under Titulescu for building several railroad lines which the Germans claimed would open the road for Russian invasion of central Europe.

For months German diplomats and agents have been working busily trying to convince the Rumanians, who have been close allies of France, that their future could only be made safe through an alliance with Germany.

Hungary Collects Wasps to Fight Insects in Canada

BUDAPEST, Hungary, Aug. 30.—Millions of Hungarian wasps have been collected this summer for shipment to Canada. The wasps are expected to destroy insect pests endangering the Canadian forests. Last year several million were shipped.

THREAT OF NEW WAVE OF STRIKES ALARMS FRANCE

Blum Hurries Up New 40 Hour Week Law.

PARIS, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Militant labor raised tonight the threat of new "folded arms" strikes over France.

The picture of idle workers standing by silent machines and stilled work benches speeded the Leftist government of Premier Leon Blum in a race against time to make the recently enacted 40 hour week law effective before parliament meets again in November.

But on the other hand, employers again warned the government they were unable to stand the increased expenses caused by the enforcement of the sweeping social laws passed for the benefit of the workers.

Two of Four Laws Applied.

Two of four of those laws already have been applied. They are vacations with pay and increased wages. Two others were expected to be enforced before the end of the year. They are shorter hours and collective contracts between workers and employers.

Parisians received their first taste of what Premier Blum once called "the most advanced labor legislation in the world" when the paid vacations started.

For two weeks they went with suits unpressed and laundry unwashed while they waited for the washer women and cleaners to return to work which they dropped Aug. 15 for the vacations with pay.

Employers in many industries, such as automobile and textile, agreed to close for the same two week period to prevent their employés from spending their vacations working similar jobs in other factories.

Fear of Strikes Arise.

But when grumblings were heard, there arose the thought of the strikes in which around 1,500,000 Frenchmen participated while the Blum government passed labor legislation earlier this year. Industrialists termed the strikes "revolution," and even Blum said they were illegal—but they were effective. Labor got what it wanted in law.

The law increasing wages by 7 to 15 per cent was made effective by strikes or threats of strikes in many cases where employers sought to evade their legal responsibilities.

The ministry of labor said no agreement yet had been made between workers and employers on how the shorter hour law could best be applied in various industries. Its application so far, it was said, has been limited to a few individual work shops.

Steps have been taken to satisfy those industrialists who declared the expense of social laws was too much for them to carry and still do a profitable business.

Thousands of application blanks for government loans to "little" merchants burdened by the laws were distributed tonight to post offices and banks throughout France.

The only requirement to satisfy the government for an employer facing new expense under the laws is proof that his business is sound. Loans are limited to 12 per cent of the total pay roll from July 1, 1935, to July 30, 1936. They can be issued for three months and can be renewed twice for three month terms. Interest was set at the Bank of France rate, currently 3 per cent.

On the other hand, big business, unassisted now, has been warning the government it might be forced to shut down because of increased social law costs.

Consumers, too, have complained of the higher cost of living, and hundreds of complaints have been filed with police against merchants charged with boosting prices too high.

Chicago Man Is Drowned by Leap Into Mississippi

The body of a man identified as Emil Margraff, 57 years old, 624 West 64th street, Chicago, was recovered yesterday from the Mississippi river at St. Louis, according to a dispatch. The identification was made by Margraff's brother, Theodore, who said Emil was in St. Louis seeking a job. Police were told that Margraff jumped from Merchants' bridge and swam about a block and a half before disappearing.

INDIAN PROHIBITS BUFFALO HUNT AT TRIBAL FETE

Crow Celebration Opens at Reservation Today.

Crow Agency, Mont., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Shrill war whoops will open "the biggest Indian show on earth" tomorrow, but its ringmaster has crossed the buffalo hunting act off the program.

It's the 34th annual Crow tribal celebration, and the man who runs it is Robert Yellowtail, copper skinned superintendent of this southeastern Montana Indian reservation. What Yellowtail says—about hunting buffalo or anything else pertaining to the reservation—goes.

Nationally known for the wild life conservation program he put into operation on the reservation, Yellowtail isn't going to sacrifice any of the animals in the buffalo herd to add to the thrills of the strangely blended Coney island rodeo state fair attraction that is beginning a week's run.

Indians Come from Afar.

The tribal celebration has brought Indians here from almost every reservation between Canada and Oklahoma to join the festivities of the several thousand Crows. With them came their squaws and papooses, and with some came favorite horses and guns for use in intertribal competition.

They traveled here by auto, train, motorcycle and on horseback. A few "oil" Indians came by airplane or in chauffeur driven cars.

All the Indians will take part in war dances at sunrise, barbecues with elk stakes, rodeo sports, horse racing and colorful tribal ceremonies.

Stocks Reservation.

Every one has a "key to the reservation" for the week, but Supt. Yellowtail has given a firm "no" to sportsmen who came hoping to shoot a buffalo.

Yellowtail, in his near-Oxonian accent, tells them of his work in stocking the reservation with the buffalo, and with deer, elk, and thousands of mountain trout.

He gets the game from the national parks and the fish from state hatcheries. The parks have to deplete their buffalo herds annually because there is only enough winter range for a limited number of bison. There are approximately 400 buffalo on the reservation now.

Yellowtail's brothers do not lead a "blanket life" on the reservation. They are, for the most part, educated Indians. They farm irrigated tracts, raise cattle and herd sheep. A few breed horses. Some are artists.

COOLING BREEZES REDUCE POLLEN IN AIR TO 35

Chill breezes from the north and northwest yesterday cut the ragweed pollen count to 35 grains per cubic yard of air during the eight hours ending at 5 p. m. O. C. Durham, of the Abbott laboratories, who makes the daily count with the coöperation of the United States weather bureau, said the reduced rate was a boon to hay fever sufferers.

RILEY SMITH ELECTED CAPTAIN OF ALL-STAR ELEVEN

SQUAD AT PEAK FOR BATTLE WITH PRO CHAMPIONS

Berwanger Displays Speed in Workout.

BY WILFRID SMITH.

Riley Smith, All-American quarter back from the University of Alabama, was elected captain of the college All-Star football team yesterday as the squad wound up its practice for the game with the Detroit Lions, professional champions of the world, at Soldiers' field tomorrow night.

The election of the captain followed an hour and a half drill at Dyche stadium which put the final touches on the All-Stars' offensive. Smith was chosen by his 52 teammates over a field of several candidates, with Bill Shakespeare, Notre Dame's great half back, running second, and Gomer Jones, Ohio State's center, receiving the third largest number of votes.

Smith was chosen for the starting quarter back by the fans of the nation and his brilliant generalship in practice already had convinced coaches that his choice was the wisest fans could have made. Smith is 24 years old and comes from Greenwood, Miss. He played quarter back on the Alabama eleven for three seasons. He is 6 feet 1 inch tall and weighs 198 pounds.

Hold Thirty Practice Sessions.

Yesterday's workout marked the conclusion of an eighteen day training campaign with the exception of a brief limbering up today.

In eighteen days the All-Stars have participated in nearly thirty stadium practice sessions. In addition, this squad of fifty-three All-Americans has attended a score of lectures by the coaches. There is no doubt that the All-Stars are ready for their battle with the professional football champions of the world.

This concentrated effort, perhaps a more thorough preparatory course than either of the preceding university All-Star squads received, reached a peak performance yesterday. In ninety minutes four teams reviewed every phase of their battle plans. The boys raced through their plays, passes and runs; spent a half hour kicking and covering kicks, and finished with a review of defensive tactics designed to check the fleet Dutch Clark, ace of the Detroit back field.

Players Keyed for Game.

Approach of the game has keyed players. Hours of intensive effort, many of them in excessive temperatures, were forgotten in anticipation of the moment now nearly at hand. Yesterday's temperate weather also was an incentive to practice. This was reflected in the vigor of the drills. The players, without exception, are anxious to meet the champions of whom they have heard so much.

Approach of this All-Star clash with the Lions also finds mounting interest throughout the nation. The fans of the country named these players. They elected the starting lineup. They gave these boys their coaching staf, Bernie Bierman, Elmer Layden, Bo McMillin, and Lynn Waldorf. Now they will see how well they have chosen. The measure of that test will be the Detroit veterans, one of the finest teams ever developed in professional football.

10,000 Seats Remain.

Ten thousand reserved seats remain. These may be purchased at $2.20 and $1.10 today and tomorrow at the Tribune Public Service offices, 1 South Dearborn street and in the lobby of Tribune Tower. Ticket sale at Soldiers' field will open tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock.

If these remaining 10,000 tickets are sold, a vast throng of 80,000 will see the third annual Soldiers' field game sponsored by THE TRIBUNE and 182 associated newspapers representing forty states from coast to coast and from the gulf to Canada. Millions, unable to attend, will listen to reports of the battle on Chicago's lake front over the radio. W-G-N of the Mutual system, the National Broadcasting system, and station WTCN of Minneapolis have arranged to carry these play by play accounts. Introductory ceremonies to the game will start at 8:20 p. m.

Yesterday's practice provided opportunity for this declaration by the All-Star coaches: The Detroit Lions will have a weight advantage of nearly ten pounds a man. If the university men are to win they must block hard and accurately. A driving block, accurately executed, will knock any man off his feet, no matter his weight.

Watch This Pair, All-Stars!

Perhaps the coaches were thinking of Jack Johnson, 215 pounds, and George Christensen, 242 pounds, the veteran tackles of the Lions. This pair of stalwarts certainly will open the battle tomorrow night. They must be blocked by the All-Star ends if any dashing foray by Jay Berwanger, Tuffy Leemans, or Bill Shakespeare is to gain ground.

The All-Americans will start the game with Wayne Millner of Notre

Yankee Sluggers Rout White Sox Twice, 8 to 1 and 4 to 1

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 30.—The third place White Sox could do nothing today about slowing down the pennantward march of the Yankees. The budding champions took one leap toward the world series loot by knocking over the Chicagoans, 8 to 1, in the first half of a double-header before 52,565. Then they made another successful leap by triumphing in the second battle, 4 to 1, after Vernon Kennedy, the Sox mound notable, had given indications that he was headed for a no hit achievement.

Kennedy, hooked up in a duel with Monte Pearson and, searching for his 19th victory of the year, tore through six innings by yielding nothing more than a lone pass. Meanwhile the Sox, with two hits off Pearson, the total of their attack until the ninth, had provided Kennedy with a one run lead. But something happened to Kennedy in the seventh. Joe Di Maggio hit a triple in the wake of a pass. George Selkirk blasted a homer. Jake Powell let go with a double. They all scored and that was all the hitting done by the Yanks.

Old Ted Is Mauled.

What the Yanks did to Kennedy was less severe than what they had done to old Ted Lyons in the first game. As in the Kennedy case, Lyons succumbed to a mauling after a somewhat brilliant exhibition. Through seven innings the veteran stopped the enemy on two runs, one a homer by Bill Dickey. But while two runs might have been plenty because of the Sox's futile swinging against their long time nemesis, Irving Bump Hadley, the Yanks weren't satisfied. Their reputation for mauling had to be upheld. So they let go with both barrels in the eighth and scored six runs on seven successive hits off Lyons.

If the Yanks had had to go through on their original two runs off Lyons it would have been necessary to sharpen up the poison darts for Zeke Bonura. There were a couple of times during the struggle when Zeke aroused suspicions that he might be playing for the wrong team.

Bonura's Nap Is Costly.

He helped the Yanks to one of their two early runs by messing up an easy grounder which the official scorer decided should be a hit for Lou Gehrig. And Zeke offended additionally by ruining a possible Sox rally against Hadley. He let himself be caught off third base with one out when a single would have driven in the two needed to tie.

The hit column of the box score is sufficient proof that the Sox weren't in a hitting mood at any time during the afternoon. Against Hadley in the first game they were held to five hits until the ninth

Talking It Over

BY ARCH WARD.

[Copyright: 1936: By The Chicago Tribune.]

FANS planning to attend Chicago's third annual All-Star charity football game tomorrow night are urged to leave for Soldiers' field early. . . . Unlike many sports events which attract crowds of 80,000, most of the spectators come in automobiles. . . . As a result the trafic on Michigan avenue and in Grant park is terrific. . . . Thousands arrived after the kick-off in 1934 and 1935 because of the congestion outside the stadium. . . . Officials of the Chicago park district estimated that there were more automobiles parked around Soldiers' field at last year's All-Star game than there were the night of the Tunney-Dempsey fight. . . . Many spectators reported that last year it took at least thirty-five minutes to reach the field from State and Madison streets after 7:30 p. m. . . . Opening ceremonies take place tomorrow night at 8:20. . . . At that hour every light in the stadium will be turned out and the announcer will introduce, one by one, YOUR All-American team. . . . Two huge spotlights will be centered on the runway leading from the collegians' dressing room under the east stands. . . . Out will come Gomer Jones of Ohio State, who led all the centers of the country in the nation-wide poll conducted by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE and 182 other newspapers. . . . The band will play the Ohio State victory song while Jones runs out to the center of the gridiron. . . . What a moment for Mr. Jones. . . . There he will stand alone before 80,000 while radio reports of the ceremony are sent to unseen millions. . . . As Stan Kostka of Minnesota, 1935 All-Star full back, recently remarked: "It's a thrill that comes only once in a lifetime." . . .

* * *

One of the spotlights will remain on Jones while the other moves back to the runway to pick up Paul Tangora of Northwestern, who was the nation's choice for left guard. . . . The band will play "Go U Northwestern" while Tangora takes his position beside Jones. . . . This procedure will be repeated until the eleven starting players have been introduced. . . . Then come the coaches. . . . First, Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern. . . . Then Bo McMillin of Indiana, Elmer Layden of Notre Dame, and last, Bernie Bierman of Minnesota. . . . Somehow or other the ceremony never becomes old to me. . . . Each year I get a fresh thrill. . . . When a young man who for three years has been performing heroics for my alma mater runs out under the spotlight to the strains of my favorite college air a lump rises in my throat. . . . Maybe we're different, but we are willing to wager modestly that thousands of others experience the same emotion. . . . The Lions rush out in a group with all lights on and their starting lineup will be announced after they have taken the field. . . .

* * *

The All-Star game, profits of which are divided among the United, Catholic, and Jewish charities of Chicago, brings to you the greatest players college football can present. . . . Their opponents are the champions of the professional gridiron. . . . We believe it is the greatest football show on earth. . . . The opening ceremonies are no small part of the show. . . . That's why we hope you won't be late. . . .

Ten Years Ago Today—The St. Louis Cardinals regained the National league lead by defeating the Pittsburgh Pirates twice. . . . Jack Dempsey started training for his title fight with Gene Tunney at Atlantic City, N. J. Percy Jones and the Cubs defeated the Cincinnati Reds, 1 to 0. . . . J. N. Camden's Rothermel won the feature race at Lincoln Fields. . . . The White Sox and the Detroit Tigers split a double-header.

RAY PIXLEY IS KILLED IN AUTO RACE AT ROBY

Loses Control of Car as 20,000 Look On.

Ray Pixley of Los Angeles was fatally injured yesterday in the opening event of the automobile racing program at the new Roby speedway. Crushed when his car overturned while traveling 80 miles an hour, Pixley was carried from the track with a broken neck and died while being removed to St. Margaret's hospital in Hammond.

Pixley was competing in a ten mile race which was to qualify drivers for the feature 45 mile event. He was in sixth place when his car skidded on a turn. His tires dug into the dirt track and his car turned over twice, hurling the driver out and then falling upon him.

Other Drivers Periled.

The accident occurred on the eighth lap and nearly involved Jimmy Snyder of Chicago and George Connors of Los Angeles, who were following. Snyder glanced off Pixley's demolished car, but quickly righted his machine and finished. Connors, in avoiding Pixley's car, spun into the infield and escaped unhurt.

Pixley was 26 years old and had been racing six years, mostly on the Pacific coast. This year he came east for the first time and finished sixth in the 500 mile race at Indianapolis last Memorial day. It was his first appearance at Roby. A crowd of 20,000 witnessed the accident.

Follows MacKenzie Death.

Pixley was the second well known driver to be killed in the last eight days. Doc MacKenzie, 30, Eddington, Pa., was killed at Milwaukee last Sunday.

The race in which Pixley was killed was won by Billy Winn of Detroit, who thus qualified for the No. 1 pole position for the feature 45 mile event. With this advantage Winn beat the field of 13 to the first turn and held the lead all the way to nose out Chet Gardner of Long Beach, Cal., by a second. Wild Bill Cummings of Indianapolis was a close third.

Cummings in Game Try.

The 45 mile race was a three car affair after the five mile mark when Cummings shot past Tony Willman of Milwaukee and took third place. Time and again Cummings just missed getting past Gardner during the remainder of the race, but Gardner's machine had just enough speed to repulse Cummings on the straightaways. In the meantime Winn was managing to stay two or three car lengths ahead of Gardner. The time for the race was 38 minutes 13.87 seconds.

Of the field of 13 in the feature race nine finished. Snyder, a Chicago favorite, went out with motor trouble on the 26th lap.

Connors, a close friend of Pixley, withdrew from the program after the fatal accident. He holds the world record for a circular dirt track.

FIRST TEN MILE RACE—Won by Billy Winn; Chet Gardner, second; Tony Willman, third; Wild Bill Cummings, fourth. Time, 7:29.30.

SECOND TEN MILE RACE—Won by Ken Fowler; Frank Beeder, second; Jimmy Snyder, third; Ted Horn, fourth. Time, 7:22.50.

THIRD TEN MILE RACE—Won by Frank Brisko; Frank McGurck, second; Chuck Tabor, third; John Sawyer, fourth. Time, 7:27.10.

FIVE MILE MATCH RACE—Won by Wild Bill Cummings; Billy Winn, second. Time, 3:47.32.

TEN MILE CONSOLATION RACE—Won by Ted Johnson; George Barringer, second; Joe Thorn, third. Time, 7:38.42.

Israel Horowitz Wins Chess Federation Title

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Israel Horowitz of Brooklyn, N. Y., won the American chess federation championship today with a score of 8-3. Arthur W. Dake, Portland, Ore., was tied with Arnold Denker, New York, with 7½ to 3½.

ETHAN GETS THERE, BUT TOO LATE!

Heldman Wins State Singles in Five Sets

Julius Heldman, 18 years old, of Los Angeles, who recently won the national junior singles title, defeated William Murphy of Chicago for the Illinois state men's singles championship, 6-1, 6-4, 2-6, 5-7, 7-5, yesterday at the River Forest Tennis club.

Katherine Wolf of Elkhart, Ind., won the women's singles title for the fourth time. She defeated Marta Burnett, Miami, Fla., who won the girls' singles crown Saturday, 6-3, 6-2.

Gorenstein Beats Sawyer.

Fifteen year old Sherwood Gorenstein of Milwaukee carried off the boy's singles when he bested Calvin Sawyer of Chicago, 6-4, 6-3. Sawyer, however, had a measure of consolation, for teamed with Bob Aldrich of Galesburg, Ill., the team won the boy's doubles honors from Dick Wade and Bob Derham of Chicago, 6-4, 6-4.

Miss Wolf and Margaret Stiel of Oak Park defeated Bernice Ayer and Miss Barnett for the women's doubles title, 6-3, 6-4, and the Kamrath brothers, Karl and Bob, the former a resident of Chicago and the latter of Austin, Tex., took the men's doubles trophy by defeating Howard Stephens and John Foreman of Glencoe, Ill., 6-2, 6-2, 6-3.

Heldman Loses in Doubles.

The junior doubles went to Morey Lewis of Gambier, O., and Jack Chichester of Chicago, who defeated Heldman and Hamilton Johnson of Chicago, 6-2, 1-6, 6-2.

Heldman and Don McNeill, Gambier, O., were the finalists in the junior singles but, due to four days of rain during the week which jammed the schedule, it was impossible to play the match yesterday.

Boy, 18, Wins Title in Snipe Racing Regatta

Oshkosh, Wis., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Philip A. Benson Jr., 18, of Seacliff, N. Y., won the world's championship in the snipe class International Racing association's regatta here today. Benson captured the Commodore H. E. Isaacs trophy by finishing second in the opening race on Lake Winnebago this morning, and then winning two straight. His point score was 1,573. George Q. McGown Jr., Fort Worth, Tex., took second with 1,547 points. Third place went to A. P. Deacon of Western Long Island Sound, N. Y., who finished third twice and seventh once.

NEW YORKERS TAKE FIRST, 6-1; WIN SECOND, 8-6

Ott Hits Homer in Ninth of Final.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

That symphony of contentment and complacency at which the Cubs have been fiddling most of the summer ended yesterday afternoon with two discordant and deafening booms. The New York Giants licked the Cubs, 6 to 1, in the first game without working up a sweat. And they thumped 'em again in the second game, 8 to 6, this time coming from behind with one out in the ninth on Mel Ott's homer, which was good for three runs.

A crowd of 45,401 paying guests and 2,000 nonpaying customers saw the proud Cubs go reeling and spinning back into third place, a full five games behind the Giants, a team they led by 11½ games six weeks ago. Those among the capacity-plus crowd who were pulling for the Cubs to seize the day's opportunity to advance within a game of the Giants, had a sad time throughout the first game, for Carl Hubbell was great, as usual, and Bill Lee was not so hot. In the second game these Chicago partisans had eight happy innings, what with Phil Cavarretta, just back from a term of splinter gathering on the Cub bench, knocking homers his first two times up. But the second game in the end was more painful than the first. The shock of such an ending with victory so nigh sent many a good customer away muttering to himself.

Giants Keep Hustling.

No good fan could take anything away from the Giants for treating the Cub heroes so rudely. They supplemented their skill with a lot of hustling. They outplayed the Cubs in every department of the game. Without any desire to be simply sporting, it must be frankly admitted that the Giants showed class and the Cubs, except in a few places, such as when Cavarretta was swinging his home run bat against Hal Schumacher, showed nothing that entitles them to a shot at the heavy sugar which accrues from world series participation.

The date has not yet arrived which marks the anniversary of the opening of the Cubs' pennant drive of 1935. But things are looking mighty tough, neighbors, taking things by and large. Things like Hubbell's pitching and Ott's and Terry's and Moore's hitting. And then there's the September schedule which now makes the Giants figure to finish about eight or ten games ahead of our lads who should have made hay while the sun was shining instead of fiddling while the Giants were just starting to set the National league on fire.

Tenth Straight for Hubbell.

The first game gave Hubbell his tenth straight victory and his twentieth of the season. It is the fourth straight season he has turned in 20 or more victories. He hasn't lost a game since he was defeated here on July 13, when he dropped a 1 to 0 decision on an unearned run after he had given way to a pinch batter after seven innings in which he had allowed only two hits. Hubbell yielded four hits in eight innings and then eased up to give the Cubs three hits and an unearned run in the ninth. Prior to the ninth not a Cub got to third.

Schumacher was a failure in the second game for one reason only. That was the aforesaid long rested home run bat of Cavarretta. He made suckers out of Bill Herman, Frank Demaree, and some of the other reputed powerhouse hitters. Dick Coffman, third Giant pitcher who held the Chicagoans to one single in the last two innings, was the winning pitcher in the second game.

Larry French, who went all the way to lose, allowed 15 hits and was far from the form that previously had given him 16 victories. His worst harassers numerically were Ott, who made three singles besides the homer that busted up things, and Joe Moore, who warmed up with a homer his last time up in the first game, then followed with four straight singles in the second. The first run made off Larry was a homer by Hank Leiber.

FIRST GAME

The Giants shoved off in the second inning when with one out Hack failed to handle Ripple's hot grounder and it went for a double. Jackson then lifted a fly into the left field overflow, an automatic double, which scored Ripple. Jackson reached third on a passed ball and scored on Mancuso's single to right. Bartell forced Mancuso and Hubbell forced Bartell.

With two out in the Chicago third, Lee beat out a single to deep short to become the first Cub arrival at first base. Chicago spirits lifted a bit when Allen walked on four pitches. Then English slapped Hubbell's first pitch right back into his glove. A toss to Terry and that big rally was over.

Giants Put Third Across.

The Giants added their third run in the sixth. Ott doubled into the

JOCKY JAMES IS A FULL FLEDGED RIDER TOMORROW

Washington Park Star Loses Apprenticeship.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The little asterisk which has appeared alongside the name of Basil James for a year now will be erased at Washington Park late this afternoon and the new job of making the star jockies of the land move over and give him a place on their bench will be on its way.

Like every other youngster who is learning to ride, James has had five pounds the best of it in all races except handicaps, in which he has appeared with more experienced riders.

The asterisk—the race track people call the mark a bug—denotes those five pounds and accompanies every new boy's name for a whole year from the day he wins his first race. It specifies the lad is an apprentice rider.

Unlike most of his brother apprentices, James has run up a meteoric number of victories during this period, a fact that makes the removal of the asterisk in his case an event of vast and serious importance.

First Winner Year Ago.

Exactly one year ago tomorrow James rode his first horse to victory in a race run in Spokane, Wash. Almost from that day to this he has been in the limelight. He has amassed a record of more than 140 victories climaxed by a winning streak at Washington Park that has been the horse racing sensation of the year. In 24 racing days at Washington Park he has brought home 48 winners. On two of those occasions he has performed the feat of winning four races in a row.

The most races previously won by one rider at Washington Park in a single season was 43. Jocky Jack Westrope hung up that record in 1933 the year that he won the American title. James passed that mark last week and still has seven more riding days ahead of him at Washington Park.

Had One Serious Spill.

James is under contract to the Tranquility farm, owned by Harry H. Cross of Chicago. Last June he was severely injured in a spill at Hawthorne which kept him inactive for more than three weeks. That vacation may seriously impair his chances of being in a position to bid for the riding championship of the year. He apparently suffered no ill-effects of this accident for he displays plenty of nerve in the pinches when the going gets rough.

Most apprentices who ride their way into the limelight soon lose their quickly won fame when they lose their five pound weight advantage. Among those who during the last dozen years dropped completely out of the limelight were Ivan Parke the champ rider of the country in 1923 and 1924, A. Mortenson the champion of 1925, H. R. Riley who won the title in 1930 and H. Roble who finished at the top of the list in 1931.

Will He Overcome Hoodoo?

Will James go their route or will he carry on? That's one of the reasons why his riding exhibitions beginning tomorrow at Washington Park will be followed so closely. Professional horsemen claim they can answer the question for you in two weeks.

Experts have said that James possesses many of the riding qualities of Sonny Workman and Eddie Arcaro, sensational whip riders who are now in their heyday.

These are some of the reasons why many professional horsemen believe James will be just as skilful and successful as a full fledged jocky as he has been as an apprentice.

The next few weeks will tell and in the meantime the kid promises to take full advantage of his five pounds apprentice allowance this afternoon—the last time he will ever enjoy it.

MRS. FABYAN AND BUDGE TO PLAY IN NET FINALS

Brookline, Mass., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan and Don Budge, outstanding members of America's Wightman and Davis cup teams, today gained the final round of the national mixed doubles tourney with Alice Marble, Palm Springs, Cal., and Gene Mako of Los Angeles.

Mrs. Fabyan and Budge qualified for the last round by defeating Mrs. John Van Ryn, Philadelphia, and John McDiarmid of Fort Worth, Tex., 6-3, 6-2, but the Californian team moved in when the top seeded team, Helen Jacobs and Wilmer Allison, the national singles champions, defaulted.

Miss Jacobs and Mrs. Fabyan, the women's champions for the past two years, will strive for their third straight victory in that national tourney against Mrs. Van Ryn and Carolin Babcock of Las Angeles. Another pair of defending champions, Raymond Bidwell and Richard Bishop of Boston, will oppose W. J. Clothier, Philadelphia, and Dwight F. Davis, Washington, in the veteran's team final.

HUGH RAY, BIG 10 OFFICIAL, HURT AS AUTO SKIDS

Hugh L. Ray, Western conference football official, will be unable to officiate this season due to injuries sustained in a recent automobile accident near Rugby, N. D., it was learned yesterday. The former University of Illinois football player suffered a broken collar bone and injuries to his back, which sent him to the Good Samaritan hospital at Rugby. Mrs. Ray, who had accompanied her husband on the motor trip from Mexico to British Columbia, received minor cuts and bruises. The couple were en route to their home in Chicago when their car skidded off the road.

Fasnaugh and Vaughn Head Marigold Card

Carl Fasnaugh tonight will make his first start against topnotch competition in a ten round bout with Jimmy Vaughn of Cleveland at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street. The promising Toledo, O., lightweight is not much younger than the 22 year old Vaughn, but he lacks the experience possessed by the latter.

Vaughn, who was born Paul Jones Cvecka, has had about 75 contests during a six year campaign, his opponents including Frankie Klick, junior lightweight champion; Freddy Miller, former featherweight title holder; Cecil Payne, Wesley Ramey and Leonard Del Genio. He defeated Miller and Klick fought a draw with Payne.

Still the Toledo youngster demonstrated in his five winning efforts in previous appearances at the Marigold that he is ready for any opposition Vaughn will have to offer.

Eddie Carroll, named as a possible foe of the clever Chuck Woods in the near future, clashes with Scotty McLean, rugged Peoria, Ill., battler, in the six round semi-final. Pat Robertson, New York featherweight, and Nick Peters will appear in two of four other encounters, Robertson against Henry Huerta and the San Antonio, Tex., lightweight against Joey Wilson, Cleveland.

Max Marek, Chicago heavyweight, and Vincent Parrille, veteran South American fighter, have been matched for ten rounds at White City Friday. Al Nettlow, lightweight stablemate of Marek, will fight in a supplementary affair. . . . George Valles, Birmingham, Ala., 178 pounder, and Buddy Knox will be opponents in a ten round clash tonight at Dayton, O. Lenny Cohen, graduate of Chicago Golden Gloves tournaments, faces Johnny Edwards in a six round secondar yattraction. F. M.

C. KURTSINGER HELD; CLAIM CAR KILLED WOMAN

Yonkers, N. Y., Aug. 30.—[Special.]—Charles Kurtsinger, one of the outstanding jockies of recent years, was under arrest here today as a hit-and-run driver. A charge of leaving the scene of an accident was changed to homicide after the victim, Miss Anna Ray, 49 years old, of Yonkers, died in St. John's hospital.

Kurtsinger, who is 29 and who rode Twenty Grand to victory in the Kentucky Derby in 1931, was driving through Yonkers last night with his wife when, according to the police, he struck Miss Ray as she crossed a street.

When the driver did not stop the Yonkers police broadcast a description of the car and Kurtsinger was halted by the New York police in the Bronx. The jocky was on his way from Saratoga to his home in Forest Hills, Greens, and is scheduled to ride in a race at Aqueduct, tomorrow.

The New York police reported that when they stopped Kurtsinger, the fender of his auttomobile was bent. After he had been arraigned here on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident the jocky's lawyer said that he "did not see the woman. He did not know he struck anybody."

All-Stars Pick Riley Smith as Captain

Dame and Keith Topping of Stanford at ends. No finer wingmen can be found. Topping, who is in fine fettle despite his hospitalization for three days last week, plays a smashing defensive position. Millner, while not coached in that type of play, for he was also responsible for covering flat zone passes during his days at Notre Dame, likes the style. Both prefer the system of offensive blocking the All-Stars will use to any other.

"They Can Be Blocked."

"The Lions' tackles may be old hands at the business of football," Millner said yesterday after practice, "and they may have more weight than the average college tackle, but I believe they can be blocked. Coach Bierman's system, the unexpected and deceptive reverses and weak side plays give us ends a chance to operate.

"We've put in a lot of hours drilling," Millner continued. "But when I have to work like this, some one is going to suffer. Coach Layden ran us to death before the Ohio State game last fall, but that was just what we needed. We had the stuff when we needed it. We'll have it tomorrow night."

Blockers Make Gains Possible.

The man who carries the ball quite naturally receives the attention of the crowd. But these boys who yesterday carried the ball for the All-Stars know that the coöperation of the blockers makes their gains possible. Jay Berwanger, one of the greatest of Chicago's long list of notable players, is not at all demonstrative. He has conditioned himself for what he regards as the greatest game in which he has participated. He completed those preparations yesterday with a splendid exhibition of dashing, cutting, speed.

There was no actual blocking, of course. Chances can not be taken at this date. But the timing of the plays was excellent, and by his running Jay demonstrated conclusively that he will be an elusive target for the Lions' tacklers.

From These Will Come a Leader.

Bill Shakespeare, Tuffy Leemans, one of the unheralded greats until he reported two weeks ago; John Oravec of Willamette, once scarcely known outside of the northwest, and Bobby Wilson, famed half back from Southern Methodist, were stepping across the sod of the practice field with zest for the impending encounter. From this galaxy of stars will come the man who will lead the assault of the All-Stars.

Two of the most diligent workmen of the All-Star team, exceedingly quiet in manner, are Dick Crayne of Iowa and Dan Fortmann of Colgate. Crayne will relieve Sheldon Beise of Minnesota at full back. He also can handle the important right half back blocking assignments. Fortmann is one of the most accurate blocking guards on the squad despite his 19 years. He completed his collegiate career in less than four years with Phi Beta Kappa honors.

The Lions remain the favorite to win. Experience gained while playing together and winning a national title is the factor. But the Chicago Bears, professional representatives in the last two games, never scored a touchdown on the collegians. The first game was a scoreless tie. Last year the Bears won, 5 to 0, victory being gained primarily because of the accuracy of Jack Manders, who kicked the field goal which gave the Chicagoans the lead.

Lions Finish Workouts for All-Star Game

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Bloomfield Hills, Mich., Aug. 30.—The Detroit Lions, by nature affable and cheerful, grew grim and silent today as they completed their three weeks of intensive preparations for the All-Star football game in Chicago Tuesday night.

It was their last opportunity to perfect the stratagems they will employ Tuesday in defense of their prestige as champions of the world and standard bearers of professional football. The importance of their assignment weighed heavily on veterans and rookies alike as Coach Potsy Clark drove the squad through two hours of charging, kicking, and dummy scrimmage.

At the conclusion of the drill Coach Clark said he was satisfied with the progress made here at Cranbrook school, where for three weeks the squad has lived in seclusion, diligently laboring over condition and striving for the finesse so essential to the success of the Lions' intricate offensive.

"The men are all in shape, every one of them," Clark said. "They are beginning to realize the importance of this game. We have done everything in the way of preparation for what unquestionably is the toughest assignment we have ever faced. If we don't win, I will feel satisfied it wasn't for the lack of trying."

Shepherd Shines as Punter.

The conditioning period ended on an optimistic note when Bill Shepherd, who for 57 minutes bore the brunt of the All-Stars' attack against the Bears last year, continued his sensational kicking of last night's workout at the University of Detroit stadium. Shepherd, heretofore regarded lightly as a punter, particularly as compared with Frank Christensen, the Lions' huge half back, consistently outkicked Christensen in the last two workouts, getting off a succession of the longest punts of the training period.

His performance takes much of the pressure off Christensen, who has worked overtime much of the last two seasons because his kicking has been indispensable to the Lions. Shepherd, who previously relied solely on the tremendous power in his sturdy legs, has suddenly developed the knack of placing the ball and is getting away perfect spirals, which carry his kicks 65 and 70 yards.

Tension Grips Squad.

The tension that has gripped the squad in the last twenty-four hours was reflected in today's dummy scrimmage, where not one man missed an assignment either on offense or defense. Clark continued to insist that he had no idea who would start Tuesday's game, but the eleven men who kicked off to the New York Giants in the championship contest last year again drilled as a unit, although Clark made frequent changes, working with a half dozen combinations.

It became more evident with today's practice that Reino [Weasel] Nori, the 155 pound speedster from De Kalb Teachers, who was overlooked in the balloting for an All-Star team, would be given an opportunity to play before the largest crowd of his career Tuesday night. Dutch Clark, the No. 1 man of the Lions, who retired and was persuaded by Coach Clark to return for one more year so that he could appear in the All-Star game, has not reached the condition he had hoped he would reach when he agreed to come.

Presnell to Direct Team.

Clark can go at top speed for a short time, but may not be able to play a long stretch. Glenn Presnell, veteran quarter back, will do most of the work in this important position, with Clark and Nori as the relief. Nori's punt handling ability and his speed may be a valuable asset to the Lions, particularly if they must protect a lead in the late stages of the contest.

The entire squad of thirty-six men will make the trip to Chicago. The squad will spend the night here, motor leisurely to Detroit after breakfast, and board a Wabash train at 12:06. Immediately upon arrival in Chicago the players will be hurried to their hotel for dinner, then returned to Soldiers' field for a workout under the lights. The men who will make the trip are:

ENDS—Ed Kelwicki, John Schneller, Butch Morse, Harry Ebding, Bill Waller, Bill McKalip, Lorne Bullpitt.

GUARDS—Ox Emerson, Sam Knox, Tom Hupke, Regis Monahan, Sig Wagner, and Sigmond Andrusking.

CENTERS—Clare Randolph, Elmer Ward, Delbert Ritchhart, Charles Hanneman.

QUARTER BACKS—Dutch Clark, Glenn Presnell, Reino Nori.

HALF BACKS—Ernie Caddel, Frank Christensen, Wilbur White, Buddy Parker, Dick Lutz, Ike Peterson, Spike Wilson.

FULL BACKS—Ace Gutowsky, Bill Shepherd, Dan Barnhart.

Owner G. A. Richards will accompany the squad to Chicago.

PLENTY OF FREE PARKING SPACE FOR BIG GAME

Trafic Rules Laid Down by Park Officials.

Chicago park district trafic engineers and police have worked out plans for efficient handling of the crowd of 80,000 expected at tomorrow's game between the college All-Stars and the Detroit Lions at Soldiers' field. Trafic Engineer Otto K. Jelinek and Park Police Chief Michael Hayes last night announced the preparations they have made to supervise the movement of this throng by automobiles, taxicabs, buses, and street cars.

Those who drive to the game in their own cars will find a huge amount of space available for free parking, with tipping of attendants forbidden.

Park to Furnish Guards.

There will be one area directly south of Soldiers' field between 16th street and 22d street, another directly east of the field, still another in the neighborhood of the Field museum, and facilities for an overflow on Northerly Island. The Chicago park district will have guards at these points to assist in parking the cars.

The Jackson boulevard motor coach, No. 26, will go direct to the field. Persons coming from the north may get this bus at the southwest corner of Jackson boulevard and Michigan avenue. Those from the south may take it at the southeast corner of Seventh street and Michigan avenue.

Those who prefer to make the trip on the elevated lines may get off at Roosevelt road. They are entitled to free transfers either to eastbound street cars or to motor coaches. The motor coaches will operate a shuttle service between the Roosevelt road elevated station and the football field.

Extra Train on I. C.

The Chicago Surface Lines will carry spectators practically to the gates of Soldiers' field on either the Roosevelt road or Cermak road street cars, which terminate in Burnham park.

Spectators who use the Illinois Central trains may get off at either 18th street or Roosevelt road. Arrangements have been made to have extra trains waiting at the Roosevelt road station after the game.

Taxicabs will be permitted to park at the north curb of 16th street from the parking entrance west to Columbus drive, then north on the east curb of Columbus drive to 14th street.

The Chicago Motor Coach company will park 109 buses in 14th street between the parking area entrance and Columbus drive.

The police are prepared to detour through trafic at 23d street in case of congestion. Monroe street will be closed to eastbound trafic after the game.

Cards Beat South Bend Eleven, 70-0

Michigan City, Ind., Aug. 30.—[Special.]—The Chicago Cardinals ran up a 70 to 0 score over the Kamm Brewers, semi-pro eleven from South Bend, in an exhibition game today.

Dave Cook, Pug Vaughan, and Doug Russell turned in sparkling offensive play for the Cardinals who held a 42 to 0 lead at the end of the first half. Cook excelled at line plunging while Vaughan threw several long passes for touch downs. Russell appeared only in the second half of the game and made many long runs and completed a number of passes.

South Bend never pushed the ball into Cardinal territory, getting only one first down and that on a penalty. Pete Mehringer, Bree Cuppolteti, Tiny Hansman and Bert Pearson were outstanding for the Cardinals on defense, breaking up South Bend scoring attempts time and again.

Davis, Sausell, Vaughan, McBride, Cook, and Goodwin divided the job of scoring touchdowns. Kellogg kicked five points after touchdown, Cook four and Goodwin added another point on a pass.

CARDINALS BEAT DODGERS, 6 TO 3; LOSE SECOND, 3-2

2d Game Goes 13 Innings; St. Louis Loses Ground.

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 30.—(AP)—St. Louis divided a double-header with Brooklyn today and lost ground to the New York Giants in the National league pennant race.

After Dizzy Dean allowed only seven hits as the Cards won the first, 6 to 3, a misjudged fly by Chick Fullis in the thirteenth inning of the second allowed George Watkins' drive to go for three bases and drive in Buddy Hassett with the needed run to give the Dodgers a 3 to 2 victory.

New York, winning two from Chicago, now is four games in front of the Cards who are only a game ahead of the third place Cubs.

Indians Lose 2 to Red Sox, 3-2 and 5-1

Boston, Mass., Aug. 30.—(AP)—The Red Sox gave Bob Feller, Cleveland's 17 year old rookie strikeout phenomenon, a lusty cuffing today while sweeping a double-header with the Indians before a crowd of 21,000.

Wes Ferrell chalked up his 17th victory of the season when the Red Sox took the first game, 3 to 2, and Rube Walberg, the veteran southpaw, held the Indians to three hits while his mates were accounting for the second, 5 to 1.

Feller, who lasted but five innings, was nicked for six hits and four runs. He fanned five and walked three.

ROBIN HOOD IS NAMED BEST DOG AT NORTHBROOK

Champion Robin Hood of Marional, a 3¼ year old English setter owned by the Marional farms, Dayton, O., last night was named the best dog of 567 which competed in the fifth annual show of the Northbrook Kennel club. G. V. Glebe, Bryn Athyn, Pa., selected the setter over five other finalists at the Curtiss-Reynolds airport. Approximately 5,000 persons attended the show to watch 49 different breeds judged.

The winning dog has had a sensational show career, having been named the best dog in eight shows before yesterday's and capturing many awards as the best of its breed and best dog in its group.

Duff, a Dalmatian owned and entered by Gov. Henry Horner, was selected as the best dog of its breed.

Warneke Will Hurl Against Giants Today

Lon Warneke will pitch for the Cubs in this afternoon's Cub-Giant engagement at Wrigley field. Gabbo Gabler probably will be invited to pitch for the Giants.

At 11:50 o'clock yesterday the thousands around the portals of Wrigley field were advised that all boxes, general admission, and bleacher tickets had been sold. The locked out crowd was orderly until almost 1 o'clock. Then a group tried to batter down the gate at Waveland and Sheffield avenues.

The ropes which held back the overflow crowd on the field were strung 43 feet from the wall in left, 35 feet from the scoreboard in center, and 25 feet from the screen in right field.

The weather was perfect, plenty of sunshine, warm enough for summer raiment, but cool enough for complete comfort.

Gabby Hartnett had a passed ball in each game. No old settler could recall when that had happened before.

The Cubs scouting staf, Jack Doyle and Pants Rowland, attended yesterday's game in a body and got an idea of what the Cubs need to finish in the first division this year. Thus far they have anticipated the several crying needs by buying a center fielder from Eau Claire, Wis.

There were several sparkling fielding plays. The best for the Cubs was Phil Cavarretta's handling of a bad throw by Jurges in the sixth inning of the second game. The best for New York was Dick Bartell's catch of Herman's liner in the first game.

The Giants have played 26 games in August, 24 of which they won. The Cubs' record this month is 15 won and 17 lost.

House of David Wins Two from Mills, 4-2, 6-2

The House of David nine licked Bill Harley's Mills team in both ends of a double-header yesterday, winning the opener, 4 to 2, and the second game, 6 to 2. Six thousand fans attended the games which were played at Mills stadium.

The House of David aggregation exhibited two high class pitchers in Henry, who held the Mills to four hits in the first game, and Dacus, who gave up only five hits in the second game. Phil Collins pitched ably enough in the curtain raiser, but was the victim of some shoddy fielding on the part of his mates. In the second game the bearded men, who will again play the Mills team next Sunday and Monday, hammered Jim Vaughn for twelve hits.

Laundale and Cardinals Battle to 10 to 10 Tie

The Lawndale Boosters and Cardinals battled to a 10 to 10 tie yesterday at Humboldt park in a Chicago Amateur Baseball federation game. The game was called on account of darkness at the end of 12 innings. In the Calumet Park district the Braves won from the Raab Tailors, 3 to 1, for the championship, and the Greenebaums defeated the Altgeld Park Boosters, 13 to 0, for the Waveland Park district championship.

Giants Beat Cubs Twice, 6 to 1 and 8 to 6 crowd in right and scored on Ripple's single to center. Jackson sacrificed, but Mancuso flied to Allen and Bartell fouled to Hartnett.

The Giants made their fourth run in the eighth. Terry and Ott singled, but Terry was forced at third on Ripple's attempted sacrifice. Jackson beat out an infield bouncer filling the bases. Galan came in fast to get Mancuso's pop fly, but did not have the arm to prevent Ott from scoring after the catch. Jurges threw out Bartell.

Bryant Takes Mound.

Stainback flied out for Lee in the home eighth which brought forth Bryant to pitch the ninth. Hubbell walked and Moore lined a homer into the right field bleacher, scoring behind Hubbell. It was Moore's fifth homer of the year. Jurges threw out Whitehead. Hack and Bryant collaborated in a flashy maneuver to retire Terry. Ott then popped to Jurges.

The Cubs ducked a shut out in the ninth in this manner:

After English had fanned, Herman beat out a single to deep short. Demaree singled to right putting Herman on second and, when the ball got away from Ott for an error, Herman went to third, becoming the first Cub to get that far. Hack singled to center, scoring Herman. Galan lined to Jackson and Hartnett flied to Terry.

SECOND GAME

The Cubs grabbed a two run lead before the Giants got anybody out. Allen reached first on Bartell's fumble at the start of the Cub offensive, then Cavarretta, on Schumacher's first pitch, drove his No. 6 homer into the right field bleachers, trotting home behind Allen.

The first two Giant batsmen in the second inning, Leiber and Ott, tied the score. Leiber whanged his No. 8 homer into the right field bleachers after which Ott singled to center and reached second on a passed ball. Mancuso's grounder rolled right through Herman, Ott scoring the tying run on the error.

Cavarretta Gets Second Homer.

Cavarretta again broke a tie by socking Schumacher's first pitch in the third, for his second homer. This one sailed over the bleachers in right center into Sheffield avenue. Herman and Demaree again supplied easy outs and Hack again singled. Galan tapped to Whitehead.

The Cubs got a run home and had runners on third and first before any one was out in the fourth, but faded without further progress. Hartnett opened with a single to right and Jurges walked. French failed in two attempts to sacrifice then singled to left, Hartnett scoring and Jurges reaching third. Allen fanned. Cavarretta ran the count to three balls and two strikes, then grounded to Terry. Jurges tried to score on the effort, but was out at the plate, Terry to Mancuso.

The Cubs added their fifth run in the fifth. Hack walked, took third on Galan's single to center, and scored on Hartnett's fly to Leiber. Galan was out trying to steal second.

Giants Add One in Sixth.

The Giants acquired their third run in the sixth on singles by Ott and Jackson and a force play. A single by Bartell had two runners on base when Davis batted for Schumacher and flied to Allen.

Gumbert took over the pitching at the start of the home sixth and the Cubs made an unearned run after two were out. Allen reached first on Whitehead's fumble and went to third on Cavarretta's single to right. Herman lined a single to left, Allen scoring and Cavarretta reaching third. Demaree forced Herman.

The New Yorkers scored two runs in the seventh and had the tying run on second when the inning ended. Moore opened with his fourth single. Whitehead fied to Galan, but Terry doubled into the center field overflow, Moore stopping at third. Leiber fanned for the second out, but Ott bounced a single off Cavarretta's shoulder, Moore and Terry scoring. Ott stole second, but Jackson flied to Galan.

Whitehead opened the ninth with a pop to Herman. Terry then caromed a single off French's torso and stopped at second on Leiber's single to center. Ott, with three singles to his credit, decided to step up the caliber of his socks. So he drove the ball high into the right field bleachers and paraded home behind Terry and Leiber.

St. Hyacinth Wins C. Y. O. Baseball Title

For the third time in five years, St. Hyacinth's nine yesterday won the baseball championship of the Catholic Youth organization by defeating St. Stanislaus B. & M. in the title game at Normal park. The score was 2 to 1.

In the preliminary game to determine third place, Good Shepherd beat St. Adrian, 4 to 2, thereby reversing last year's result.

The St. Stanislaus-St. Hyacinth contest yesterday provided a story book hero in Wally Walkowicz, St. Hyacinth pitcher, whose home run in the ninth inning with the score tied at 1 all broke the deadlock and gave his team permanent possession of the handsome Cardinal Mundelein trophy. In addition to winning his own ball game and taking batting honors with a homer and a single, Walkowicz held St. Stanislaus to three singles. Score:

Yankees Win 2 from Sox, 8-1 and 4-1

when they scored a worthless run. They were even gentler than that during the Kennedy-Pearson match. They didn't make their third hit off the ex-Indian until the ninth. Luke Appling was the only one of them who didn't have to be ashamed of what happened in either battle. He produced a single and a double in one game and a single in the other.

FIRST GAME

In the first couple of innings of the opening engagement the Yankees blundered enough to give the Sox some scoring chances, but the latter didn't appear interested. A bad throw by Heffner let Rosenthal reach second with two out in the first inning. Bonura fanned for the third out. A real opportunity arose in the second inning. Appling led off with a hit and continued to second on Selkirk's fumble. Hayes rolled out to Heffner, Appling taking third. Luke tried to dash home on Dykes' tap to Rolfe and was nailed. Sewell then fouled to Dickey.

Lyons didn't have much to worry about until the fourth when Dickey stepped up and knocked a tall fly over the short right field fence for his 21st homer. The Yanks came along with another run in the fifth, Bonura giving them the needed assistance. Hadley opened with a single and was bunted along by Heffner. Rolfe grounded out to Bonura, Hadley taking third. Hadley remained where he was while DiMaggio was producing an infield hit. Gehrig then sent an ordinary hopper at Bonura and was presented with a hit when Zeke fumbled. Hadley scored on the mishap.

The Benevolent Zeke.

Bonura proved of further assistance to the Yankees in the sixth, but at the same time was a pain in the neck to his mates. Zeke singled with one out and went galloping to third on Appling's double past Gehrig. Selkirk threw to the plate and the ball bounced off Dickey's glove into the hands of Hadley, who was backing up the play. Zeke was so interested in this happening that he forgot that he wasn't standing on third base. Zeke finally awakened but too late. Hadley's toss to Rolfe finished him and also a promising rally. The fadeout was completed with Hayes' fly to Di Maggio.

Yanks Pounce on Lyons.

The cannonading that gave Lyons a case of shell shock in the eighth began with Selkirk's double after Dickey had popped out. Powell singled and so did Lazzeri, Selkirk and Powell scoring. Hadley singled for the third time. Heffner singled and Lazzeri scored. Rolfe slashed a double into right center, Hadley counting. The last hit was Di Maggio's single which moved Heffner and Rolfe across the plate.

Although the Sox scored only one in the ninth it was by far their best inning of the game. Appling walked, Hayes singled, Dykes flied to right and Sewell singled, Appling scoring.

SECOND GAME

The second battle started off at such a dizzy pace that the spectators didn't have time to realize that base runners had suddenly become temporary rarities. During the first four innings only one Chicagoan got away from the plate. This was Kreevich, who walked with one out, in the opening inning. He tried to steal on Rosenthal's third strike and was doubled.

The next base runner, not only domestic but visiting as well, was Appling and it didn't take him long to pick up a ride around to the plate. Luke singled to center for the first hit, stole second, and continued to third when nobody covered second on Glenn's perfect throw. The Yankee infield drew in for a possible play at the plate, but Hayes punched a single past Heffner and Appling scored. Hayes stole second and went to third on a wild pitch, but Dykes prolonged a bad day at bat by fanning and Sewell flied to Di Maggio.

Rolfe's Walk Starts Fuss.

Twelve Yankees faced Kennedy before he opened the gate to first base. This privilege was extended to Gehrig in the shape of a pass to start the fifth. The next three batters were easy. The sixth also was simple for the Sox mound ace. Then trouble popped. Rolfe walked to open the seventh. Di Maggio dispatched a triple over Rosenthal's head. Di Maggio stayed at third while Dykes was throwing out Gehrig, but Selkirk went after the first pitch and pummeled it into the right field bleachers for his 18th homer. Powell doubled to left, stole third and scored when Sewell dropped Dykes' throw to the plate on Lazzeri's roller. A needed double play came next.

Walker batted for Stratton to start the ninth and he singled to right field for Chicago's third hit. Kreevich walked after Radcliff had grounded to Gehrig. Rosenthal was thrown out by Rolfe and the day's amusement ended with Bonura striking out.

Dietrich, Broaca Will Pitch Today in Final of Series

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 30.—The White Sox will close their season's business at the Yankee stadium with a single game tomorrow. If it rains the game will be rescheduled for Tuesday, now an open date. Probable pitchers are Johnny Broaca and Bill Dietrich, both of them wearers of spectacles.

Frankie Crosetti, the Yanks' star shortstop, is out of action with an injury, but it will not upset Joe McCarthy's world series plans. Crosetti is expected to be back in action in a week. He was spiked on the wrist yesterday by the rough riding Jerry Walker of the Tigers.

Ted Lyons had to retire four men in the first inning of the opening game. A slip by Luke Sewell caused this. He let a third strike get away on Rolfe, who trotted to base with one out. Di Maggio flied to center and Gehrig fanned.

Today's attendance put the Yankees well over the million mark for their games at home.

GREENTREE POLO TEAM SWAMPS AURORA, 17 TO 8

Texas and Hurricanes Enter Semi-Final.

New York, Aug. 30.—(AP)—Greentree, winner of the national open polo championship last year, made an impressive start in defense of the title today by defeating the 1935 runner-up, Aurora, 17 to 8, on International field at the Meadow Brook club today.

A crowd of close to 10,000 saw the titleholders, led by Tommy Hitchcock, roll up an 11 to 3 lead in the first half and coast through to an easy victory.

Greentree was joined in the semi-final round by the Texas quartet and the Hurricanes as the tournament got under way on three Long Island fields. Texas staged a brilliant second half rally to overcome Roslyn, 10 to 9, at the Sands Point club, while the Hurricanes routed Old Westbury, which included three spares from the Argentina International squad, 11 to 6, on Bostwick field at Westbury.

Greentree to Meet Texas.

In the semi-finals, scheduled for Wednesday, Greentree will play Texas while the Hurricanes will encounter the 32 goal Templeton outfit, highest handicapped team in the tourney. The final is to be played Saturday with the winner qualifying to meet Argentina in the series for the cup of the Americas.

Instead of the close battle that was expected, Greentree had little trouble with Aurora. Aurora was handicapped by the loss of its leader, Seymour Knox, who did not play because of the death of his mother. Skiddy von Stade Jr., young Harvard player, took his place.

Pete Bostwick Stars.

George H. [Pete] Bostwick, one of the best mounted as well as the smallest of polo players, led Greentree's drive with a great show of sharpshooting. Aided by the long, accurate passes of Hitchcock and Gerald Balding, he scored nine goals. John Hay [Jock] Whitney played a good defensive game at back.

Tommy Bridges outpitched Horace Lisenbee to take the second game and Eldon Auker was the victim in the first game.

BONDS ADVANCE, LED BY RAILWAY AND U. S. ISSUES

Federal Financing Plan Is Center of Interest.

New York, Aug. 30.—(AP)—New high prices for United States government bonds and a marked increase in demand for railroad issues kept the listed market pointed generally higher last week.

Interest in the two leading groups was directly associated by investment analysis with current developments. The New York investment community has been guessing for some time what kind of a program the treasury department would work out for the Sept. 15 financing, and as the date drew nearer those who thought it would consist of refunding operations exclusively seemed to be in the majority.

Expect Refunding Operations.

The large cash balances of the treasury at the present time, the tapering off in demands for cash for veterans' bonus bonds, and increased revenues from all principal sources formed the basis for concluding that no "new money" would be involved in the quarterly financing. It was generally believed the department would refund the maturing obligations with new securities, possibly shading the interest rate, in view of the strong demand for government bonds. This view, undisturbed by Secretary Morgenthau when he announced the details of the program would be made public on Sept. 8, was said to have resulted in quick cancellation of selling orders by both dealers and institutional investors who frequently adjust their portfolios.

Railroad Bonds in Demand.

The strong demand for railroad bonds made its appearance early in the week, when preliminary forecasts indicated July net operating incomes of the carriers would reveal gratifying gains. As the individual roads reported, the more optimistic predictions were confirmed and even exceeded in some instances, and a broad rally in all types of rail liens followed.

The general run of corporate bonds followed the trend without difficulty. Convertible issues tied to stocks followed the lead of equities into higher ground and a modest investment demand kept others on a steady course.

Foreign bonds were quiet. Developments in Europe brought little fluctuation in the more active dollar bonds of the countries involved in controversial political matters. South and Central American issues were picked up by those who follow economic affairs in the southern countries.

WAGE EARNERS CHIEF VICTIMS OF U. S. POLICIES

N. Y. Bank Says Employers Lack Confidence.

"Those who are unemployed would have much better chances of regaining their jobs, and those who are employed would be much surer of keeping their jobs and of maintaining or increasing their wages, if the state of public finance were such as to inspire more confidence on the part of those who supply capital and those who employ labor," the Guaranty Survey says today.

The Guaranty Trust company's monthly financial review in the current issue draws this conclusion from a study of "the average man's stake in balancing the budget." The situation is not generally understood, says the survey, and until the millions of persons with low or moderate incomes became informed and aroused the twin evils of crushing taxation and of monetary disorder impend.

Warns of Federal Deficits.

"It is probably safe to say that very few citizens, in reading, for example of an aggregate federal deficit of about $23,000,000 for the seven fiscal years 1931-'37, feel a sense of personal concern for the security of their jobs, the buying power of their incomes, and the integrity of their savings," states the survey. Taking a typical family of four with an annual income of $2,500, the survey says such a family pays about $200 in traceable indirect taxes every year, and considerably more if hidden taxes are taken into account.

"Probably about $40 of the $200 paid in traceable taxes each year by the typical family with a $2,500 income goes for debt payment alone, and this amount is increasing year by year," it states.

"From the immediate pecuniary point of view, then, the concern of the average citizen in the public budget lies in the fact that every unbalanced budget increases debt and that every increase in debt raises the cost of government, the great bulk of which is, and must inevitably continue to be, borne by the millions of individuals in the low and moderate income groups."

Cites Dangers of Inflation.

As an alternative to the long, dreary decades of paying for the puffed-up governmental spending of this decade, "inflation would injure the man of small means in two principal ways," says the survey. "It would reduce the value of his savings and lower the buying power of his income. Savings bank deposits and life insurance premium payments, which are the typical forms of savings for people with small incomes, are invested in securities of the most conservative type, which offer virtually no opportunity for price appreciation at a time when the cost of living is undergoing an inflationary rise."

The survey outlined a threefold stake of the average man in the state of the public budget. First, his taxes, already large, will swell as governmental spending exceeds revenues. Second, his stability as an employed worker at reasonable wages will grow progressively less. Third, the threat of ultimate inflation remains.

Of the third consideration, the survey comments:

"Even if the man of small income were devoid of property, he could not escape the destructive effects of inflation. Wage earners would find their pay increasing much more slowly than the cost of living, with the same effect of their purchasing power and their standard of living as if their wages were being progressively reduced."

WHEAT LOWER; FOREIGN BUYERS HOLDING ALOOF

Benefit by Selling of Canadian Grain.

Foreign buyers of wheat have been temporarily successful in withholding purchases during the period of competitive selling by Danubian countries and Canada. They have benefited by heavy hedging sales against the movement of Canadian wheat and the lack of sufficient speculative buying power to absorb these sales.

World prices, consequently, showed declines last week of three to four cents a bushel, with United States markets turning in the largest losses because they carry the largest total of speculative holdings and experienced the heaviest volume of liquidation as a result. The hedging situation was aggravated by an unusually early movement of Canadian wheat, facilitated by favorable weather for harvesting and threshing operations.

Marketings Heavy in Canada.

Country marketings in the Canadian provinces in the first 27 days of August amounted to nearly 40 million bushels. This movement probably will continue to be heavy as threshing becomes general in the northern districts.

Some experts believe country marketings for the first two months of the crop year may aggregate 50 per cent of the entire year's total. If this is true, hedging pressure will be extremely light in the remaining ten months of the season and the removal of hedges against export sales will be an important market factor throughout the fall and early winter.

It is believed the Canadian crop will amount to 230 million bushels for western Canada, which would be 40 million bushels under the revised figure for last year, to which must be added a carryover of 128 million bushels, or a total supply of 358 millions.

Canadian Supplies Larger.

Deducting the 110 million bushels necessary for home consumption and making no allowance for increased feeding of wheat because of a shortage in coarse grains, this would leave approximately 10 million bushels less for export than existed this year with no carryover. Because of this situation crop experts are anxiously watching southern hemisphere crop conditions. Argentina is expected to have an exportable surplus of only 120 million bushels this year.

Canadian conditions exerted such an influence last week that domestic wheat problems have been somewhat ignored. Primary receipts of wheat at Chicago during the week fell sharply from a year ago.

Cash Premiums Decrease.

Cash premiums over futures decreased materially last week because of a slow demand for flour. Largest users were said to be well supplied, and the general consuming public is maintaining a hand-to-mouth buying attitude.

Drouth in the corn belt states was definitly broken during the week. Declines in futures were general as speculators lightened their holdings to realize profits. While Argentine corn, now offered at the seaboard and for future arrival, has been selling substantially below domestic prices for some time and hedging against these purchases has been an additional weight on the market, it required a firm offer of Argentine corn for shipment to Chicago during October at 98 cents a bushel, duty and transportation costs paid, to impress holders of American corn that the southern hemisphere stock was actually in competition with the crop in the middle west.

Demand for Corn Shrinks.

That this competition has been felt in the east is indicated by a decline in demand for corn from the Chicago market for several days. However, as a result of small receipts in Chicago and immediate absorption of offerings by commercial interests, cash premiums have been well maintained.

The range of futures prices of principal grains on the Chicago Board of Trade last week with seasonal high and low marks follows:

Broker, Blind 40 Years, Gives Up Old Firm

Buffalo, N. Y., Aug. 30.—(AP)—Albert J. Wright, noted Buffalo broker, art connoisseur, author, and traveler, stood before the employés of A. J. Wright & Co. last night and told them that on Monday the business of the 71 year old brokerage house would be absorbed by Abbott, Proctor & Paine, a New York firm.

One hundred and fifty employés from New York, Pennsylvania, and Canada offices attended.

At home, before the meeting, Wright discussed for the first time for publication the total blindness with which he was stricken 40 years ago.

Result of Baseball Accident.

"I have rarely spoken of it," he said. "I have, perhaps, been sensitive about it. At any rate, I have never talked about my blindness or allowed others to. It was a personal battle. It was a baseball accident when I was an undergraduate in college. It bothered me for four or five months. Then I recovered, completely, it seemed. Ten years later my sight started to go. Nothing could stop it.

"I kept right on, however. I wouldn't let anything stop me. I wanted to continue my father's business and did."

Many of Wright's customers did not know for years that the broker was totally blind. He trained himself to lose the outward characteristics of a blind man. His mind became an index of facts and figures. He knew at the opening and closing of the grain and stock markets just how his customers' accounts stood and issued orders accordingly. It was said Wright never erred in figures.

Had to Dare.

Nelson Murray, a friend, once expressed the admiration felt in financial circles for the blind broker.

"I understand how you do it, Albert," Murray told him, "but I don't see how you dare."

"That seems to tell the story," Wright said in verifying the quotation, "but I had to dare."

Wright was married July 14, 1931, to Miss Tatiana Moslova, member of a distinguished English-Russian family. Shortly afterward he wrote and published "The Red Demon," a piece of fiction involving a plot against the gold standard and a love story.

Wright retains his memberships on the New York Stock exchange and the Chicago Board of Trade.

"I plan to be less active in business, but I will still be at my office each day and I have a lot of other things to do," he said.

STANDARD GAS SHOWS GAIN IN NET EARNINGS

The Standard Gas and Electric company and subsidiaries last night reported consolidated net income of $3,518,321 for the twelve months ended June 30, compared with $2,454,143 in the twelve months ended Dec. 31, 1935.

These earnings do not include those of the Deep Rock Oil corporation, debtor under section 77B of the amended bankruptcy act, and the Beaver Valley Traction company, in receivership, as well as the subsidiaries of these companies.

Consolidated operating revenues for the twelve months ended June 30 amounted to $92,864,950, compared with $89,610,511 in the twelve months ended last Dec. 31. Net income for the parent company in the twelve months ended June 30 amounted to $2,011,277, compared with $2,117,049 for the twelve months ended Dec. 31, 1935.

The company announced that accumulated dividends on the $7 cumulative prior preference stock amounted to $6,317,168 on June 30, besides $1,470,000 on the $6 prior preference, and $10,099,227 on the preferred, a total of $17,886,395.

BIG ATTENDANCE IS EXPECTED AT POWER MEETING

More than 30,000 persons are expected to attend the convention and power exhibit of the National Association of Power Engineers, which opens at the Stevens hotel today. This is the first time since 1883 that the association has met in Chicago for the annual convention.

The opening day's activities will include registration of delegates and visitors, and the formal opening of the power exhibit by J. E. Schutte of the Crane company, chairman of the exhibitors' advisory board. The response will be made by Richard A. Free of Chicago, president of the association.

United Air Lines Expects to Set Passenger Record

United Air Lines announced yesterday that it will carry in excess of 200,000 passengers this year for the first time in its history. The company reported that it now is flying at the rate of 1,750,000 miles a month.

LANDON STAND ON SURPLUS TAX BOOSTS STOCKS

Gains by Business Are Stimulant.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 30.—Week-end price figures show the share market facing aggressively forward. The recovery movement which got under way last Thursday following Gov. Landon's promise in his Buffalo speech to move, if elected, for the immediate repeal of the New Deal's tax on corporation surpluses has so far restored about two-thirds of the losses recorded in the two weeks' reaction which preceded it. The advance also has served to boost the daily "averages" to a level about 8 points above the lowest reached when the drouth became alarming in July.

Brokerage house commentators say they see no reason why the advance should not carry further. The market is being stimulated with a wealth of statistical information to its liking. The mounting pile of dividend resumptions and extras grew appreciably last week. A "prosperity survey" estimated that the year's corporate disbursements to stockholders would reach a total of 4 billion dollars.

Rail Shares Gain.

Railroad stocks had the benefit of statements received by the Association of American Railroads, indicating that July operating revenues would exceed those of the same month of last year by 27.4 per cent. New York Central celebrated the good news by recovering nearly 4 points of its recent losses, while Union Pacific regained nearly 4 points on renewed demand.

Figures released by the department of agriculture showed that farm income for the first seven months of this year topped that of any similar period since 1930, and Case Threshing Machine, the leader of the farm share group, promptly suited action to inspiration by rising nearly 8 points above its final price of the previous week, while Sears-Roebuck in the allied mail order group snapped back for a net gain on the week of 4½ points. Steel shares moved to the front rank of the recovery and rose briskly as a result of sustained buying, U. S. Steel making up more than 4 points of its losses and Bethlehem rebounding six points. Dun & Bradstreet's week-end trade report depicted retail distribution assuming a more vigorous gait, with wholesale volume only slightly below the best levels of the year in spite of the slackening influences of the advanced summer vacation season.

War Scare Dissolves.

There was another little "war scare" early in the week, set off by a report that Dictator Stalin had notified his soviet army to be prepared for an immediate call to arms, but the selling flurry which followed the alarm subsided when an official denial of the report came through. The Spanish situation was serious enough, but its effect on the market was not particularly apparent.

Traders for some time have shown a disposition to key their operations more to developments at home than abroad. The drouth and its probable effects on fall and winter business remained as much in the foreground as ever, but its influence, too, was no more pronounced than it has been. Automobile shares moved up with the rest of the list in spite of the slackening pace of the motor industry due to preparations for new models. Chrysler closed yesterday at 114½ as against 110¾ the preceding Saturday, while General Motors moved up to 66⅛ from 65¼ a week ago.

Measured by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S averages, the twenty-five railroad stocks of the market list moved up 2.16 on the week to regain 82 per cent of the losses of the two preceding weeks and to close yesterday within 0.73 point of the high mark for the year. INSURANCE CASH OUTFLOW ABROAD EXCEEDS INFLOW

Washington, D. C., Aug. 30.—[Special.]—In an analysis dealing with the part played by the insurance companies in the balance of international payments, covering the seventeen years from 1919 to 1935, inclusive, the department of commerce today estimated that approximately $93,800,000 net was transferred from the United States to foreign countries on insurance account during that period.

For 1935 the survey showed that the transactions of foreign insurance companies in this country and of American insurance companies abroad had caused net outflow of funds of $15,500,000 from the United States. Total outflow for that year was estimated at $31,700,000, as compared with receipts of $16,200,000. The adverse balance in 1934 was $19,100,000 and in 1933, $17,600,000.

For the seventeen year period it was estimated that foreign companies operating in this country enjoyed a premium income of $6,737,000,000, as compared with a premium income of $1,803,000,000 by American companies operating abroad.

In 1935 premium income of American companies abroad was $108,000,000, or $1,000,000 more than in 1934, while the income of the foreign companies operating here, estimated at $368,000,000, was less by $3,000,000 than in 1934.

Use of Silver Coin Restored by Mexicans

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The Mexican government decided tonight to increase the silver content of its money because of the declining world price of silver.

A presidential decree restored to circulation silver coins demonetized in April, 1935, when the United States' huge silver purchases pushed the world price so high the coins brought more as bullion than their face value.

Changes in the monetary laws had given the Bank of Mexico authority to issue notes of various denominations, redeemable at the bank in silver coins.

Cartwheels to Appear Again.

One peso notes, introduced in 1935, will be withdrawn under the new decree and Mexicans must again carry "cartwheels," or big silver pesos. Five peso notes now in circulation will be replaced by five peso silver certificates, redeemable, as will be note issues of the Bank of Mexico, in silver coin or bar silver at 12 grams per peso.

The silver pesos and fractional silver currency of the old .720 [of weight] silver content will be taken out of the vaults of the bank where they have constituted reserves against notes, and put back into the public's hands.

Coins of the new .420 content, as well as bronze 20 and 10 centavo coins issued in 1935, bronze 5 centavo pieces placed in circulation in 1914 and nickel 5 centavo coins of 1905 must be surrendered within six months.

Will Use Alloy Coins.

The fractional currency of smaller denominations will be replaced by silver and copper-nickel alloy pieces, much smaller, lighter, and more convenient.

Mexico demonitized its silver coins and issued one peso notes for the first time last year when the skyrocketing price of silver passed 72 cents [U. S.] an ounce and made it profitable to export coin as bullion.

In emergency measures exportation of silver currency was forbidden—halting, it was reported, shipments already on the way to the border—and the coins ordered surrendered to the Bank of Mexico as backing for paper, issue of which was limited to twice the commercial value of monetary reserves.

The exercises will be held simultaneously in 220 chapters throughout the United States, with local programs arranged to tune in for the address to be broadcast at the time stated.

CHICAGO STEEL MILLS OPERATING AT RATE ABOVE U. S. AVERAGE

Estimates of steel operations in the Chicago area for last week pointed to a rate about 3 points higher than the national average, the Chicago Association of Commerce reported yesterday. The largest independent companies were said to be running in excess of 90 per cent of capacity, while the area as a whole was believed to be operating 75 per cent.

Other divisions of business went ahead at an autumn stride, the association found. Vacation trade in retail stores changed into the fall demand with merchants doing a brisk business with students and parents preparing for school in September.

August fur sales, now in their concluding phase, are establishing gains of 30 to 50 per cent over a year ago in dollar value, with prices advanced over last season somewhat more moderately.

Millinery and ready-to-wear at wholesale continued active, and heavy winter goods such as blankets and winter coats achieved current expansion in volume.

ASSOCIATED GAS AND ELECTRIC '35 PROFIT $308,813

New York, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The pamphlet report of Associated Gas and Electric company covering 1935 shows gross operating revenues of $106,904,942 compared with $103,350,105 for the previous year.

The company said that for the 12 month period ended June 30, gross rose to $110,109,828, against $104,677,586 in the preceding 12 months.

After operating expenses, maintenance, taxes, retirements, renewals and replacements of fixed capital, the report showed operating income of $32,423,707 for the year ended Dec. 31, compared with $32,757,758 a year earlier. There was a balance of $308,813 for 1935 after fixed interest, compared with a loss of $179,902 in 1934.

The company owns and controls operating utility companies in widespread sections of the country.

Visions U. S. as Landlord in Many Homes

Uncle Sam will be landlord in more than 500,000 American homes within the next five years if the administration continues its paternalistic attitude toward national housing and its unsound methods of financing, L. A. McLean, president of the Mortgage Bankers' Association of America, warns in a statement sent last night to members of the organization.

"More and better housing of almost every type is an acute need today," says McLean's statement. "Soon it will become even more evident. Much slum clearance must be done. Probably 1,500,000 single family homes are actually needed today. Most of them will be built by private enterprise, as in the past, because they can be financed cheaper that way.

Urges Private Initiative.

"Looking at the housing picture from the largest perspective, it ought to be recognized by every one that both large scale housing projects and more single family homes can be had if they come as a result of local initiative rather than broad scale planning from Washington."

McLean asserts the public is now beginning to see another side of the government's concern for the American home owner.

"Until about six months ago the administration's efforts in his behalf had impressed the nation as kindly paternalism," he says. "Now perfectly natural and sound economic influences are forcing the government into another rôle, namely, that of the mortgage holder who will foreclose to protect his investment."

HOLC Forecloses on Homes.

The statement indicates that the Home Owners' Loan corporation authorized foreclosure or sale of 34,803 homes up to June 30 this year, on the 1,021,817 loans, averaging slightly more than $3,000, made in the three years of its existence.

"These foreclosures began in earnest only in the last six months of 1935, when they averaged about 650 a month, and they jumped sharply in the first six months of this year," the statement added. "There was an average gain in HOLC forclosures and authorized foreclosures for the first half of this year of 45 per cent, a rate of increase which if maintained for five years would put more than a half million American homes under the ownership of the federal government.

"Based upon HOLC reports for the first half of this year, it can easily be seen that a chaotic condition could develop if Federal Housing administration authorities insist upon being as 'hard boiled' as it appears HOLC officials have been forced to become. FHA's practice of lending 80 per cent of appraised valuations is a practice which has never been found sound by private mortgage lenders."

STEEL OUTPUT AT BEST LEVEL FOR SIX YEARS

Production Rises to 73% of Capacity.

Steel works operations last week reached a new six year high, advancing 1 point to 73 per cent of plant capacity, the magazine Steel said yesterday. Increasing new specifications and heavy miscellaneous demand were attributed as the factors in the advance despite a decline of 19,772 units in automobile production.

Operations increased in four districts, including Pittsburgh and Youngstown, while all other steel centers held at the rates prevailing during the previous week, the publication said.

There was a more settled tone in the scrap markets of several districts last week. Steel's index of scrap prices made a 28 cent increase to $15.41, the highest level since the middle of October, 1929. In some steel quarters it is believed further price advances are likely.

Pig Iron Demand Strong.

Recent demand for pig iron has been strong and coke operations have been holding at their high level. Backlogs of some producers have not been reduced materially, Steel reported, and tin plate mills are still six to eight weeks behind on deliveries. Heavy demand for material to be fabricated into cans has been a steadying factor, while producers' can requirements have been enlivened by a record salmon and fruit pack on the west coast, according to the journal.

A number of sheet producers also have had difficulty in cutting down their backlogs, especially those in the Pittsburgh district, where delivery promises on cold reduced sheets range from six to eight weeks.

Electrical Sheets Advance.

Specifications for electrical sheets have been driven in by the recent announcement of a $2 price advance, Steel stated.

The increase in scrap prices last week resulted in an advance of 9 cents in the iron and steel composite compiled by Steel. It is now at $34.03. The finished steel index is unchanged at $53.40.

In the Pittsburgh district the rate was up 2 points to 74 per cent; Wheeling, 3 points to 98 per cent; Youngstown, 5 points to 79 per cent, and New England, 7 points to 85 per cent. No declines were registered. Other districts were unchanged.

THERMOID GIVES PLAN TO REVAMP CAPITAL SETUP

Moves to Clear Arrears on Preferred Stock.

New York, Aug. 30.—(AP)—The Thermoid company of Trenton, N. J., producer of brake lining and products of asbestos and rubber, announced today a plan of recapitalization designed to clear up arrears in dividends and sinking fund obligations on preferred stock and to make possible payment of dividends.

Summary of Plan.

A summary of the proposed plan, sent to stockholders by F. E. Schluter, president, noted the following provisions:

Present 7 per cent cumulative convertible preferred stock is to give way to a new convertible preferred stock, each share of present preferred to receive 1⅛ shares of new convertible preferred. The new preferred will be convertible into three shares of common and will carry cumulative dividends at the rate of $3 a year beginning Sept. 15.

In addition to being convertible into three shares of common the new preferred will be entitled to a special dividend of three shares of common stock. This will provide four shares of common stock for each present share of preferred to make up for back dividends.

Improvement in Earnings.

The announcement said the plan was developed in view of improvement in earnings in the last two years "and as a preliminary step looking to the successful refunding of the $2,518,500 of five year 6 per cent notes maturing Feb. 1, 1937."

The plan will be considered by stockholders at a special meeting on Sept. 25.

Brazil Expected to Slow Up Cotton Production

Middle West Corporation.

Investors' Guide: Please tell me about the new Middle West company. —G. B.

The Middle West corporation was organized in November, 1935, as successor to Middle West Utilities company, keystone of the once mighty and far-flung "Insull Empire." It acquired all assets remaining in the old company, which had been in receivership since April, 1932.

The future of the company appears to depend on two principal factors: [1] The result of pending reorganizations of subsidiaries in receivership or operated by a trustee in bankruptcy. [2] Ability of other subsidiaries to pay preferred dividends—some of which are in arrears—and show respectable earnings on common stock, which constitutes the bulk of Middle West's holdings. Reorganizations are expected to reduce the parent company's stock equity in a number of instances.

National Electric Power company, intermediate holding company controling all eastern properties of the old Middle West system, went into receivership in 1932 and was lost.

Among its subsidiaries are Central and South West Utilities, Central Illinois Public Service, Kansas Electric Power, Kentucky Utilities, Middle West of Canada, Northwest Utilities, United Public Service, Mississippi Valley Utilities, and Commonwealth Light and Power, several of them intermediate holding concerns.

Middle West's receivership occurred when it was unable to finance $27,500,000 of bank loans [for which best assets were put up as collateral] and $10,000,000 of 5 per cent notes due in 1932 [$40,000,000 of notes were outstanding].

In reorganization, the company's sole outstanding capitalization is 3,310,757 shares of common stock. The secured creditors received 1,710,000 shares distributed as follows: Bankers Trust of New York, 568,022; Continental Illinois, 475,046; First National of Chicago, 472,057; Central Republic Trust company, 173,995; General Electric company, 20,880. Halsey, Stuart & Co. retained subsidiary stock [largely Central & Southwest] collateral and did not participate in the reorganization.

Noteholders received 1,290,000 shares, or 32 shares and scrip for 6-100th of a share for each $1,000 note. One share of stock and a warrant to purchase another share [for $8 in 1936, $9 in 1937, and $10 in 1938] went to holders of each four shares of old preferred or 100 shares of old common. The 310,757 shares alloted represent a 9.4 per cent interest in the new company, not including stock reserved against the warrants.

On Aug. 18, 1936, Chicago coporation and A. G. Becker & Co. purchased the Continental bank's holdings for $12 a share.

RISING BUSINESS TREND FORECAST BY BANKING FIRM

Expect Best Fall and Winter Trade Since 1929.

Continued improvement of business on a broad front, supported by expanding building activity and the purchase of new equipment by both railroads and utilities was the prediction made yesterday by Edward B. Smith & Co., one of the nation's leading investment banking houses.

The firm's survey of commercial and financial conditions indicates that the fall Christmas season has every promise of being the best since 1929, the report says.

"There is a complete absence of the fear psychology of earlier years and a well entrenched belief in the public's mind that, whoever is elected, recovery will go on," according to the banking house's statement. "The pattern will depend upon the successful candidate, but the trend toward liberalism and reform will prevail in either case.

Finds Momentum Steady.

"American business has made an excellent showing during the eight months of this year, and the momentum generated seems sufficient to carry it substantially further before suffering more than a minor relapse," the firm says.

Improvement in real estate values and the rising rent curve are pointed to as a promise of expanding building activity. A broadening revival in the other heavy industries is slowly reducing unemployment, and shortages of skilled labor are beginning to be reported, the report says.

Money and credit conditions are said to be favorable, with money rates continuing easy despite the midmonth advance in reserve requirements and the consequent fall in the excess reserves of federal reserve member banks. Such reserves are still more than ample to finance an enormous credit expansion when business acquires the requisite confidence to enter upon long range capital expenditure programs, the banking house points out.

Europe Not Ready for War.

"While the European situation will doubtless provoke anxiety from time to time as crises develop, it seems fairly clear from developments of the last year that rearmament has not been completed and that the major nations are not ready for war," says the statement.

While the individual and corporate tax burdens are heavy and may prove moderately limiting to new enterprise, the innate ambition of American business leaders is likely to dominate corporate expansion policies as in the past as psychological adjustment proceeds, the banking firm asserts.

PENNSYLVANIA TESTS TWO CAR PULLMAN UNIT

The Broadway Limited hauled out of Chicago yesterday the latest Pennsylvania railroad venture into lightweight streamlined passenger equipment. It consisted of an articulated two car unit attachable to standard trains. The unit last week was tested on the New York Central's Twentieth Century Limited and later it is to go on other trains.

The first car, named Advance, is what is known as a "duplex." It contains 16 rooms, 14 of them equally divided between single rooms on the floor level and others reached by three steps. The second car, Progress, contains, besides a lounge, a compartment and three double bedrooms.
